Dr. Bettag Gets $20,000 State Job

Post Deals With TB Inspection

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Otto L. Bettag, outgoing Illinois welfare director, has been legally appointed to a post in the new welfare department which pays him $5,000 more a year than he received as director.

Robert E. Perz, due to be replaced shortly as state personnel director, disclosed Saturday he has certified Bettag as chief of the department's division of chest services — a post dealing with tuberculosis inspection.

"This was a legal procedure," Perz told a reporter, "and I had no alternative."

Bettag's was the only name submitted for certification to the $20,000-a-year post. Although normally at least three candidates compete for each civil service post, in this case Bettag was the only applicant who met various specifications — among them, membership in two professional societies.

Disclosure of Bettag's intention to seek the job stirred protests from the new Democratic administration. Gov. Otto Kerner remarked Friday, "I don't like it."

Miss Maude Myers, designated by Kerner to replace Perz, told reporters she is "pretty positive" Bettag would not remain in the position.

Although positions under the state personnel code are considered stable, career appointments not subject to summary discharge except for cause, Bettag could be removed during a six-month probationary period, personnel authorities said.

Bettag, who served for eight years as head of the welfare department under former Gov. William G. Stratton, has threatened, if removed, to fight the action in the courts.

Pro-Red Unit Attacks Ta Vieng

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A pro-Communist unit of undetermined size is attacking Ta Vieng, one of the staging areas for the government's promised attack on rebel held Xieng Khouang Province, advices from the front said Saturday.

There was an unconfirmed report that Ta Vieng had fallen to the Reds, who seized two villages in a sweep southward from Xieng Khouang. But most of the other information indicated Ta Vieng still held.

Responsible Western military experts said it is impossible to determine just now whether the attack is the start of a major Communist push from strategic Xieng Khouang or simply a series of isolated clashes.

See K's Desire For Summit Talks As Peace Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's desire for a summit conference with John F. Kennedy this year has come to be regarded here as a protection for world peace during the inauguration period.

It should discourage Khrushchev from making any dangerous international moves which he might otherwise be tempted to make at a time of change in the White House command.

From President Eisenhower down, officials of the outgoing administration have been concerned about the dangers inherent in the transfer of power from one president to another. Presumably the same concern has operated in the Kennedy camp.

Members of both administrations have cooperated to minimize the dangers. Full information on world crisis spots has been given to incoming Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the prospective defense secretary, Robert S. McNamara.

Rusk, McNamara and others have held many conferences with the men they will succeed — though without taking responsibility for the decisions which have been made or may yet have to be made in the closing days of the Eisenhower administration.

From a command point of view the next two weeks will be the most vulnerable for the United States in at least eight years and possibly much longer. In 1953, when Eisenhower succeeded President Harry S. Truman, the Soviets were exercising considerable caution in the cold war. The Korean conflict, though still under way, was focused on negotiations for a truce.

Today there are several trouble spots where the Soviets or the Chinese Communists or a satellite with big power backing might be tempted to make some quick military or diplomatic move in the hope of securing substantial Communist gain before the United States would make a counter move.

Other trouble spots where Khrushchev could try a quicky, dangerous maneuver include Laos, Cuba, the Congo, and Berlin.

Eisenhower has passed the word to all necessary officials that in matters involving U.S. security he will act decisively up to the final second he is in office.

Officials who have been involved in the transition report that on the problems which can be anticipated—Laos is an example—Rusk and Kennedy have been given such complete information that they should be able to act decisively if faced with a sudden Communist challenge.

The best informed authorities in the State Department, however, believe that the Communist high command will not risk a dangerous play now.

Allott Says He'll Vote Against Robert Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gordon Allott, R - Colo., announced Saturday he plans to vote against Senate confirmation of Robert F. Kennedy as attorney general.

Allott was the first senator from either party to declare an intention to oppose the nomination of President-elect John F. Kennedy's brother. He said he believes Kennedy lacks the experience as a lawyer required for the job.

Without a dissenting vote the Senate Judiciary Committee agreed Friday to approve the nomination. All of the Kennedy Cabinet choices appear assured of Senate confirmation, although three of them still have not been questioned by Senate committees.

Robert Kennedy, 35, had some clashes with three Republican members of the now-expired Senate rackets committee, both before and after he resigned as its chief counsel.

Two of them, Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said in separate interviews they will vote for his confirmation. The third, Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said he has not yet made up his mind.

Before quitting the committee post last year, Kennedy said Republican members had forced the group into what he termed a dishonest investigation of Walter P. Reuther's United Auto Workers Union. In a summary of the hearings he described Goldwater, Mundt and Curtis as biased against Reuther.

Allott never served on the rackets committee and did not mention Kennedy's blowups with its GOP members in his statement.

Of Robert Kennedy, Allott had this to say: "As a lawyer, I do not feel that a man who has never really tried a case in court has the experience to be the chief legal officer of our nation."

Family Of Six Perish In Fire

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Before going to bed, Henry and Rose Palen washed some clothes in their new washer and tossed them into the automatic dryer in the kitchen.

Then they joined their four children in sleep.

Just before 4 a. m. Saturday, the kitchen was ablaze. All six members of the family died in the fire that swept through the apartment.

Julius Torok, fire chief in suburban Campbell, pinned the cause of the fire on the dryer and a faulty electrical extension cord which used a thin covering.

In addition to Palen, 42, a steelworker who owned the two-story house with four apartment units, and his wife, 39, the fire claimed these lives: Michael, 14, Debra 8, Jerry 5, and Carol Ann, 2.

QUESTION BOB KENNEDY — Robert Kennedy, brother of the President-elect, appears before the Senate Judiciary committee in Washington, D. C., to be questioned on his nomination to be attorney general in the new administration. At left is Sen. Benjamin Smith (D-Mass.), who has taken John Kennedy's seat in the Senate. (NEA Telephoto)

Inauguration Day

Capital Decked For Week Of Pageantry, Celebration

WASHINGTON (AP) — This capital city broke out red, white and blue bunting Saturday as it began dressing for the inauguration of John F. Kennedy as the nation's 35th president.

Whatever the domestic and world problems awaiting the new administration, the coming week will be a time of pageantry and celebration by the Democrats returning to power after eight years.

There will be solemnity, too—when Kennedy recites the oath at noon Friday in the shadow of a remodeled Capitol building, before the eyes of thousands massed in the plaza and millions watching via television.

Kennedy, who is soaking up a final dose of sunshine in Palm Beach, Fla., is working on an inaugural address his aides say he hopes will rank with some of the most enduring in this country's history.

Washington has seen many presidents inaugurated — there have been 43 such ceremonies—of varying formality—but its zest on these historic occasions never has waned. Some presidents have been inaugurated more than once, after re-election.

In the city's business district, stores, banks and other buildings were draped with the national colors. In many windows, pictures of the incoming president and vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson, were arrayed side by side.

Bleacher seats, priced from $3 to $25 apiece, were in place along the Pennsylvania Avenue parade route. They will be packed on Jan. 20, and countless thousands of other persons will line the curbs.

Finishing touches were being applied to an elaborate inaugural platform and spectator seats in front of the Capitol, and to a special stand at the White House where Kennedy will take the salute from the marchers.

The formal celebration starts Wednesday with receptions for "distinguished ladies" and for the Johnsons. On Thursday, state governors will have a reception of their own.

On the eve of the inauguration, the National Symphony Orchestra will give the inaugural concert, a tradition dating back to George Washington's time.

That same night, some of the biggest names in show business—gathered together by singer Frank Sinatra—will stage a gala at the National Guard Armory. Tickets cost $100 each, and the

Cubans Lose Enthusiasm For Castro's Invasion Scare

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's island wide invasion alert went into its third week Saturday with public enthusiasm visibly dwindling and a dash of skepticism in even the highest circles.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro extended the alert another two days — to Jan. 20 — in a television address Friday night. But even Castro switched his major attention from invasion warnings to a careful suggestion of a reconciliation with Washington after John F. Kennedy is inaugurated as president on the day the invasion alert expires.

Castro had been expected to claim that Cuba's new military might had frightened off the invaders he predicted were coming before President Eisenhower leaves office. But he did not make this boast, as he has in past invasion scares.

The bearded prime minister hinted he might use the naval base at Guantanamo, from which he has promised to oust the United States by legal means, as a lever to bargain for better relations with the United States under a new administration.

"We have no points of friction with the incoming government," Castro declared, "since all industries, all mines and all banks are ours (nationalized).

"The only problem is Guantanamo and we are in no hurry about that base. It's their headache, because after breaking relations (with Cuba) the position of the United States before world opinion is untenable as regards the base."

About 30,000 persons turned out to hear Castro at the "victory rally." This was a small crowd, considering the week spent by the government trying to whip up enthusiasm for the mass meeting in front of the presidential palace.

Two questions now are heard more and more frequently around Havana:

Do Fidel Castro and his colleagues really believe an invasion is coming and did they ever believe it?

If not, why the huge military buildup?

Sidewalk skepticism got a boost last weekend when Ernesto Guevara, left-wing president of the National Bank, criticized the general hysteria that resulted in shooting shadows in the night. (Cuban antiaircraft gunners shot down one of their own planes during the invasion alert.)

Seven Teen-Agers Die As Speeding Car Hits Another

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A speeding car skidded out of control early Saturday and smashed into another car, wiping out the lives of seven teen-agers.

A truck driver who witnessed the violent accident said one of the cars had passed his vehicle "traveling at least 100 miles an hour."

"The car seemed to wiggle a little," said the truck driver, Norman Lepp of Calgary, Alta. "The driver just couldn't hold it when he tried to swing back. The other driver didn't have a chance. It all happened so fast. There was just one big explosion and then darkness."

The crash occurred in the suburb of Roseville on a four-lane highway.

Of the six boys and a girl who died, four were high school students in St. Paul and had been at a birthday surprise party for a girl.

They were Thomas Irish, 17, driver of the speeding car, which he had borrowed for the evening from his mother; Larry W. Dexter, 18, Ronald Crawford, 17, and Michael Olsem, 18.

Police said the Irish car smashed into another driven by Michael T. Swifka, 19, St. Paul. He was described by a friend as a brilliant youth with a 155 I.Q. who planned to enter the university of Minnesota next fall. His passengers were Guy Marshall, 19, and Cynthia P. Comstock, 18, daughter of a university professor, both of St. Paul.

Marshall, the only crash survivor, died about 2½ hours afterward in a St. Paul hospital.

Death Of Coed Blamed On Fall

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Deputy Coroner George W. Howe said after an autopsy Saturday that Jacquelin Joan Farrell, 22, University of Colorado student, probably tripped over a rock while hiking and was killed in the fall.

Her body was found Friday in foothills near here. She had been missing since Jan. 4.

An autopsy showed the young woman suffered a ruptured liver, fractures of the pelvis, right elbow, left wrist and right shoulder blade. Death was attributed to internal bleeding.

Miss Farrell was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E.J. Farrell of Joliet, Ill.

Howe said he had discussed three bottles of pills found in Miss Farrell's purse with the doctor who prescribed them and was informed that the number missing would not have caused death.

Miss Farrell's body was found by Bob Swift of San Francisco, a graduate student at the university.

Ike Bars Gold Hoarding Abroad

Americans To Dispose Holdings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, in a new demonstration of official concern over the nation's gold problem, Saturday barred Americans from hoarding gold abroad.

U.S. citizens and firms no longer will be permitted to buy foreign gold either directly or indirectly. Those who already own such gold will have until June 1 to dispose of their holdings.

The surprise move was expected to help the government's effort to stem the heavy flow of gold from the United States. However, officials declined to be specific about the possible effect because there are no statistics on the amount of foreign gold owned by Americans.

Ever since 1933, Americans have been prohibited from owning gold in the United States. Until Saturday, they had been able to own gold abroad so long as they didn't bring it into the country.

Treasury officials said Eisenhower's move was designed to "tidy up" the gold regulations and block this loophole. Eisenhower acted by signing an executive order.

Officials said the question of gold hoarding abroad has become significant because of the publicity about the gold situation and increased promotional efforts here by sellers of foreign gold.

The White House announcement said, "It is not believed that a large amount of gold is held abroad." But Treasury officials noted reports of increased gold speculation by Americans in recent weeks.

Move To Prevent New Violence At Georgia U.

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Federal, state and local officials joined Saturday in moves to prevent new violence when two Negroes return to the University of Georgia.

The two students, suspended after rock-throwing demonstrators were routed by tear gas Wednesday night, were ordered readmitted by a federal judge by Monday.

State patrol officers from other sections of Georgia were quartered in motels near the university campus.

City police and the county prosecutor issued warnings against law violators. FBI agents and a state legislative committee continued inquiries into the campus disorder and the Clarke County grand jury will start hearings Monday into what Prosecutor Marshall Pollock described as Wednesday night's mob action.

Pollock said both students and non-students who violate the law will be prosecuted.

Kennedy Names Educator Stahr Army Secretary

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Elvis J. Stahr Jr., president of West Virginia University, was named secretary of the Army Saturday. The designation by President-elect John F. Kennedy completes the high-level organization of the incoming administration's Defense Department.

The announcement came as Kennedy lunched with Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, who brought him Defense Department information on the mysterious firing of a missile or space vehicle Friday reportedly fired by the Soviet Union.

Johnson came to Palm Beach after an early morning briefing at the satellite and missile station at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said Johnson was brought up to date on information available on the still unexplained object spotted by radar heading for the Pacific. None of the information can be made public, Salinger said.

Kennedy also designated two former Democratic governors, who lost election contests last year, for $20,000-a-year posts in his administration.

George Docking of Kansas was named director of the Export-Import Bank and Herschel Loveless of Iowa a member of the Federal Negotiation Board.

Robert J. Burkhardt Jr., 44, Titusville, N.J., was named assistant postmaster general for facilities.

Burkhardt, a native of Chicago and an engineer by profession, is a former executive secretary to Gov. Robert B. Meyner and has been director of the New Jersey Democratic State Central Committee. He was executive director of the National Voters Registration Committee set up by Kennedy supporters to get unregistered eligibles qualified to vote.

Kennedy was informed by telephone of President Eisenhower's order barring Americans from holding gold abroad, another step to stem the drain of gold reserves.

Salinger said Douglas Dillon, secretary of the Treasury-designate, told Kennedy of the move.

Red Bloc Fails To Gain Censure Of Belgium In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union and three Asian-African nations failed Saturday to gain Security Council censure of Belgium for alleged intervention in the Congo.

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, immediately told the council he considered the issue should be brought before the 99-nation General Assembly. But he did not say whether he would request such action before the assembly resumes its regular session in March.

Only the Soviet Union, Liberia, Ceylon and the United Arab Republic voted for a resolution that would have found Belgium guilty of violating its trusteeship over Ruanda-Urundi.

The resolution submitted by the three Asian-African nations sought such action on the grounds that Belgium permitted Congo forces of Col. Joseph Mobutu to use the territory as a base for a raid Jan. 1 on soldiers in Kivu Province who support deposed Premier Pavrice Lumumba.

All other members of the 11-nation council abstained — the United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China, Chile, Ecuador and Turkey. Seven affirmative votes were required.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold spoke briefly just before the vote. He had been accused by the Soviet Union of racial bias in carrying out U.N. operations in the Congo, and with helping the Belgians take action against the Lumumba forces.

Hammarskjold declared that the charges were raised by the Soviet Union for the purpose of trying to show distruct between Congo officials and U.N. personnel.

Silence Profound As Pianist Gives Concert In London

LONDON (AP) — A Hungarian pianist gave a concert Saturday night on a piano which didn't make any noise. The audience in stately Wigmore Hall, where great musicians sometimes perform, received his efforts with silence nearly as profound.

The renowned acoustics of the old hall were equal to the occasion. There were no echoes or overtones—only a few coughs.

Tomas Blod, who says he lives in Venice, Italy, gave London its first major presentation of the dolce piano, meaning a piano which doesn't make a sound. Gray-haired, bespectacled Blod performed under difficulties, because he had to use a borrowed piano.

His own instrument, he said, had been misplaced by British Railways between Folkestone on the south coast and London. He said he is pretty mad about it. British Railways was mystified, and couldn't figure out how any of its employes, however adept, could lose a concert piano on such a short stretch of track. But it was still lost at concert time, and Wigmore Hall stepped into the emergency by providing a piano with the hammers tied down.

Blod was presented, by a patron and some British admirers, as "the surrealist of music," a sort of a Salvador Dali of rhythm.

In English which comes to him with difficulty he explained that the idea was to watch him, and to feel. He played what he said were some well-known classics. A pretty girl leaning over him turned the sheets of music at the appropriate time, presumably when he got to the bottom of a page.

He played with vigorous gestures, his head bobbing cadences, and sympathetic "listeners" aid they got the feel that something was being communicated to them. They did not always agree as to whether they were being moved by Mozart or Bach.

For one piece, Blod had accompaniment. He was assisted by a violincello and an oboe, but the oboe player didn't blow, and the violincello player didn't let his box touch the strings. Silence remained profound.

Blod, possibly because of language difficulties, had trouble explaining his art to the press. But he passed out some recordings, a splendid presentation of quietude.

British sponsors were reluctant to identify themselves. The audience varied between 63 and 92.

Back in Venice, Italy, there was some surprise that Blod should have given a London recital. A leading Venetian music authority said he had never heard of Blod.

Mystery Shrouds Missile-Like Soviet Object

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet mystery rocket in the Pacific —if it is that—is still a mystery as far as the United States is concerned.

Here's the story so far: Friday night an Air Force radar station at Shemya Island, Alaska, reported detecting a missile-like object streaking out of the U.S.S.R. southeastward over the Pacific Ocean.

The station said it couldn't tell whether it was a long-range missile or an attempt at some Soviet space feat.

Hours later the Pentagon said there had been no further reports.

Viktor Bazikin, director of the Moscow Planetarium, snorted that the whole thing was "pure invention." No other Russians were talking.

At Palm Beach, Fla., President-elect John F. Kennedy got a briefing on it Saturday from Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, who in turn had been briefed by officials during a tour of Cape Canaveral earlier in the day.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger gave no details on what Johnson told Kennedy, and Salinger gave the impression he hadn't been filled in himself.

At Ft. Monmouth, N. J., a spokesman for the Astro Observation Center said, "We've been monitoring all night and haven't picked up a thing. If there is something up there, it can't be transmitting or else someone would have heard it by now."

One indication that the Russians might be testing a long-range missile in the Pacific, as they have done before, was that three Soviet observation ships were sighted earlier this week heading for the usual Soviet target area.

Church Basement At Carrollton Remodeled

CARROLLTON— Dr. Howard E. Short, of St. Louis, editor and publisher of religious papers and books will be the guest speaker at the dedication of the basement addition to the local Christian church to be held Feb. 19 at 2 p.m. at the church. Dr. Short will be assisted by Morris Pullin, the general secretary and Thomas Morton his associate secretary in charge of the state office of the Disciples of Christ Christian church of Illinois.

The dedication will climax an eight month effort on the part of the local congregation. Much of the work has been donated and a small financial drive was conducted some weeks ago. The new addition includes rest rooms, a kitchen, dining room and class rooms.

TB Fund Drive Near Goal

The Greene County Tuberculosis Association has received to date $2,469 which is within $300 of the goal. Many Christmas seal letters have not been answered as yet and it is expected that when all donations have been received the goal will have been reached.

Society Makes Eleven Quilts At Arenzville

ARENZVILLE—Fourteen members and one guest attended the January meeting of the Ladies Aid of St. Peter's Lutheran church on Thursday, Jan. 5, at the parish hall. During the day the ladies quilted an entire quilt and bound it, breaking previous records.

Devotions for the afternoon were in charge of Mrs. Harry Dufelmeier, who read scripture from John 13, verses 31-38, and also led in prayer. The group joined in singing "Love Divine All Love Excelling." The devotions were closed with the hymn "Now Thank We All Our God."

The annual report showed 11 quilts had been finished during the year. The members decided to cut dressings for Schmitt Memorial hospital, and to entertain at the Nursing Home during the coming year.

Mrs. Oliver Meyer was elected as secretary, and Mrs. Francis Staake is the retiring secretary. Present officers serving a two year term include Mrs. Russell Nordsiek, president; Mrs. Harry Dufelmeier, vice president; Mrs. Edward Hackman, treasurer.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Hackman and Mrs. George Bischoff.

Altar Society At Joys

The St. Fidelis Altar Society met at the home of Mrs. Robert Joy on Thursday evening. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Charles McLain. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Edward Dober, and roll call was answered by 12 members.

The president announced the appointment of the following parish chairmen: Mrs. Donald Busen, Spiritual Development; Mrs. William Jones, Christian Family Life; Mrs. Robert Clark, Universal Understanding; Mrs. J. A. Shannon, Social Action and Welfare; Mrs. James Zillion, Catholic Education; Mrs. Edward Dober, Council Expansion.

After discussing various parish projects and activities, the president closed the meeting with prayer. An interesting program of songs and poems was presented, and contests were won by Mrs. Fran Hobrock. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Mrs. Louise Evans, Mrs. Robert Schumacher and children of Moline were weekend guests of Mrs. M. L. Hierman. Sunday guests at the Hierman home were Mrs. Helen Leib and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Leib of Winchester.

Butler Praised By Carpentier On Retirement

Don Butler, chief clerk of the Index division of the Secretary of State's office, who is retiring Jan. 15 after 28 years with the office, was honored Thursday at a luncheon given by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, at Springfield. Butler is a former Jacksonville resident.

In paying tribute to Butler, Secretary Carpentier pointed out their association dates back to the first time Mr. Carpentier filed nominating petitions for State Senator from the old 33rd district in 1938.

In a letter to Butler, Secretary Carpentier said, "Ours has been a long and always pleasant association, covering the 14 years I served as a State Senator and the eight years I have served as Secretary of State. I am sorry we must terminate it."

"I cannot, however, view this merely as a personal loss," Mr. Carpentier said. "It is Illinois' loss, too. Over the 28 years you have served the State of Illinois, you have many times earned the recognition accorded you as the outstanding authority on our State's election laws, and you have carried out the duties of chief clerk of the Index Division with a competence and distinction which have brought us many compliments."

"It is this kind of devotion to duty on the part of public employees which keeps our governmental system functioning properly," Secretary Carpentier said.

Butler and his wife will soon move to San Leandro, Calif.

RETIRES FROM BANK

William C. Brune, center, completed his banking career Saturday which dates back to 1913 when he started with the Dunlap Russell Company. Mr. Brune has been associated with the Farmers State Bank and Trust Company for the past 18 years and retired as of Saturday noon.

President Arthur French, left, and Vice President G. William Schildman, on right, offer their congratulations to Mr. Brune and present him with an easy chair on behalf of the bank.

Mr. Brune resides with his wife at 839 North Church and has no special plans for retirement. He has worked from a beginning banking career where all entries and operations were carried on by hand to a period of modern electronic banking, installed at the Farmers State Bank and Trust Company a few years ago.

Many Students From Jacksonville Area In State Music Events

The state's most talented junior and senior high school musicians — 2,435 youngsters from over 300 communities — will gather at the University of Illinois Feb. 2 - 4 for the annual Illinois All-State Music Activity.

Names of those selected were announced Saturday by Prof. Paul Painter, director of music extension in the U. of I. Division of University Extension. A large number of students from the Jacksonville area are included in the list.

Largest single unit in the 1961 Illinois All-State Music Activity will be the Senior High School Chorus of 1,192 members, biggest chorus of high school voices ever assembled in Illinois.

Others will be the Senior Band, 259 members; Junior Band, 203; Senior Orchestra, 180; Junior Orchestra, 149; and Junior Chorus, 452.

Even with these sizeable rosters, some youngsters had to be disappointed. A total of 3,708 applied for the 2,435 places.

The Illinois All-State Music Activity is scheduled in the vacation lull between fall and spring semesters at the University. In this way, visiting youngsters and their chaperones can live, while on campus, in the University's student residence halls.

Intensive rehearsals led by distinguished U. of I. teachers and guest conductors will be climaxed by two public concerts in Huff Gym. Junior groups will play their final concert on Friday evening, Feb. 3, while the Senior organizations will perform Saturday afternoon, Feb. 4.

Dr. Mangan Speaks To Student Nurses

On Wednesday, Jan. 11, the Student Organization of the Psychiatric Nursing Affiliation Program, Jacksonville State Hospital, held its last regular meeting for this term. Following the business session the chairman, Miss Myrna Brent, turned the meeting over to Miss Linda Loughmiller, chairman of the program committee.

Miss Loughmiller presented Dr. Kenneth Mangan, of the Illinois School for the Deaf, whose topic for the meeting was the Education of the Hard of Hearing Child. Following a brief introductory statement by Dr. Mangan, Miss Agnes Carson, teacher in the Preschool department, gave an excellent demonstration of the teaching of the pre-school deaf child. Miss Carson was assisted by William Shouse, supervising teacher, and two pre-school pupils from her department.

Dr. Mangan then discussed extensively all aspects of the education of the deaf. He pointed out the importance of starting the education at the earliest possible age and emphasized the part that nurses, and particularly Public Health nurses might play in assisting parents to identify deafness in the pre-school child.

The present group of students on affiliation are completing the 12 weeks course and will return to their home schools at the end of the week.

Two Shows By Franklin And Waverly Lions

WAVERLY—The Lions clubs of Waverly and Franklin will join forces and combine talent next week to present a minstrel show. The first performance will be given at Franklin high school on Thursday night, Jan. 19th, and the following night the troupe will move to Waverly for a performance in the grade school gym.

Cast members from Franklin include: Byron Smith, who will serve as interlocutor, plus Bill Rees, Leroy Sweet, John Gordon and Jim Zachary. Cast members from the Waverly club are Robert Dwinnells, Byron Haynes and Nelson Green. A replacement has not yet been named for Calvin Allee, who was originally listed as a Waverly cast member but will not be able to appear due to illness.

A number of specialty numbers will be mixed between end men antics, with both communities supplying the specialty talent.

Lions club members will conduct an advance ticket sale early next week. The tickets bought in advance will be honored at either showing.

Club Officers Serve Dinner To Sportsmen

MEREDOSIA—The retiring officers of the Meredosia Sportsmen's Club served a fried chicken supper to about 50 members at the club house north of town Thursday evening.

Among those who did the cooking and serving of the delicious meal were Lloyd Lathrop, Edward Irving, Kenneth Grammer, John Nortrup, Maurice Kunzeman and Joe Schneider.

A film, "The Chicago Cardinals of 1959," was shown, depicting high lights in the team's professional football games during the year. It was made by Falstaff Brewing Company.

Personals

GTS Hostess Tells Club Of Mackinac Bridge

The president, Mrs. Chester Thomason, was the Jan. 11th hostess to members of the G.T.S. club which marked the first meeting in 1961. There were 16 members and the following guests present, Mrs. Don Houston, Mrs. John Becker, Mrs. Clarence Ranson, Mrs. Louis Hitchcock, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. Martin Burmeister and daughter and Mrs. Gean Rogers and son.

Roll was answered by naming a "bridge." During the business session the president announced the next meeting as Jan. 25th with Mrs. Rachel Long and Mrs. Louis Werries at the latter's home for an all day sewing session. Members will make cancer dressings for the Morgan County Cancer Society, Mrs. Fred Carter in charge. All are asked to be on time to start work at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Thomason presented the program, History of the Mackinac Bridge. Two years ago this past summer Mr. and Mrs. Thomason and their daughter, Martha, visited the location and learned of the building of the famed bridge linking the island vacation spot to the mainland of the State of Michigan. Slides were shown to illustrate the interesting program.

During the social hour guests enjoyed a dessert course of tapioca delight, party cookies, nutmeats, mints, candies and coffee with Mrs. Harry Killam pouring. The attractive centerpiece at the serving table was made by the hostess and consisted of a replica of a bridge over water with accompanying flowers and foliage.

South Of Border Jefferson PTA Program Theme

The P.T.A. of Jefferson school met on Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 7:30 p.m. with the president, Mrs. Darwin Ronat, presiding. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Robert Beard who also read the correspondence and the treasurer's report. The treasurer, Miss Margaret Hopper, was in the hospital at the time. Mr. Buck gave some announcements.

Sixth grade pupils of Mr. O'Brien's room set the stage for the program by a group of South of the Border songs. Included in the program were "In The Plaza," "Gay Caballero," "Trail to Mexico," and "Cielito Lindo." Piano accompaniment by Mrs. Mildred Vasey, music coordinator.

The speaker, Mrs. Alvahlee S. McCarthy, spoke on "Ways of South America." Mrs. McCarthy first spoke of some likenesses between the two continents then some differences. By using colored slides taken on a tour the past summer illustrations of all these points were shown.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Presidential Campaign Of Abraham Lincoln

By C. P. McCLELLAND

In 1858 Abraham Lincoln lost the senatorial contest to Stephen A. Douglas but his speeches in the debate quoted in many newspapers in the other Middle states and in the East, were an important factor in giving him the kind of prominence necessary for his nomination for the Presidency in 1860. At first Lincoln poohpoohed the idea that he had a chance for the nomination saying to the editor of the Rock Island Register, "I must in all candor say, I do not think I am fit for the Presidency." He thought Seward and Chase were much better known and really deserved the nomination.

But Lincoln's loyal and devoted friends got busy promoting his interests, securing Chicago as a neutral site for the National Convention and, in the end, joining forces with the enemies of Seward and Chase, managing to achieve the nomination on the third ballot. The nomination speech consisted of 36 words. The campaign was lively, although Lincoln did not make a single speech.

The opposing candidates were: Douglas, Democrat; Breckinbridge, Southern or Independent Democrat; and Bell, Constitutional Union.

While Lincoln received more popular votes than any one of the opposing candidates, together they polled a million more votes than he. Fifteen states gave him no electoral votes. In 10 states he did not receive a single popular vote. In Illinois, Douglas and Bell got 49% of the popular vote; in Indiana 48% in Pennsylvania 47%; in New York 46%.

Dr. McClelland emphasized the fact that from the beginning of the Civil War the people in the North were deeply divided and engaged in bitter controversy. Most Republicans felt committed to the War, although many thought it unnecessary and wrong. But when the Union forces were unable to put down the rebellion in short order and, on the contrary, lost battle after battle, and general after general was replaced without the expected success, not only criticism but open opposition to the war developed among Democrats, as a matter of course, but also among many Republicans. Even the Abolitionists said, "Let the Southern States go their way. They don't belong in the Union."

The Congressional elections in 1862 went heavily against the Republicans. Copperheads were numerous and active in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio. They were really seditionists and terrorized many communities, and even murdered recruiting officers.

On June 17, 1863 in Springfield, Lincoln's home town, an enormous mass meeting cheered angry oratory and passed peace resolutions. About this time a group of leading Republicans met in New York to see what could be done to get Lincoln to withdraw as a candidate in the coming election.

In the spring of 1864 the outlook for the Union cause was dark. The war was still dragging on. While Grant was making some headway his losses were terrible. During the month of May alone they were 60,000 compared with Lee's 25,000, and Grant was no nearer Richmond than McClellan had been in 1862. And the Republican Convention was only a week or two away.

The nomination was secured for Lincoln, although a rather strong minority of the party broke away and nominated John C. Fremont. The Democratic nominee was George B. McClellan, with a plank in his platform calling for immediate cessation of hostilities and a negotiated peace. Everywhere the clamor for peace continued with increasing volume. Lincoln was pessimistec about his chances. Serious doubts were entertained by the leaders of his party, who actually started a movement to force Lincoln to withdraw, even though he had been nominated.

Dr. McClelland told the story of the mission of Colonel James F. Jaquess, the first President of MacMurray College, to Jefferson Davis in Richmond, authorized by Lincoln who had known Jaquess intimately for 15 years. Jaquess secured a statement from Davis saying that the Confederacy would never surrender the independence of each sovereign state and would fight on until they had lost everything and their land completely devastated.

Jefferson Davis' uncompromising position was given wide publicity in the North during the campaign. It showed how useless were the cries of the Peace Party. It convinced thousands of the hopelessness of ending the war in any other way than by crushing the rebellion by force of arms.

By order of the president, Jaquess was given an extended leave of absence from the Army. He made many speeches for Lincoln from Maine to Michigan. In September Fremont withdrew as a candidate. McClellan repudiated the peace plank in the Democratic platform, and Lincoln was triumphantly elected in November, although as in the campaign of 1860, he made not one campaign speech. Although the popular vote was close, he received 90.99% of the electoral votes; McClellan 9.01%. Of course eleven Confederate States did not vote.

Mrs. Carl William Mullen

Joyce Ankrom Bride At Parents Home On Jan. 7th

In a ceremony performed at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ankrom, Jacksonville route four, Miss Joyce Ankrom, exchanged nuptial vows Saturday afternoon, January seventh, with Carl William Mullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Mullen of Rock Island.

The Reverend Edward Remer performed the double ring ceremony before a large picture window in the Ankrom home draped in dusty rose and banked with ferns, tapers burning in branched candelabra and pink carnations and white glads. Tapers were lighted by the bride's sister Helen.

Miss Janet Foster of Alexander attended the bride and Charles Ankrom, brother of the bride, served as best man.

The bride wore a formal wedding gown of sheer white organza over taffeta, the full skirt falling entrain and the bodice appliqued with Alencon lace. The bride's waist-length veil fell from a pearl headdress and she carried a hand bouquet of pink and white carnations showered with satin ribbons.

Miss Foster wore a pink wool sheath with matching veiled headdress and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bride's mother wore pastel blue wool jersey with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother was in a jacketed black and white wool sheath with pink accessories. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

Reception At Home

A reception was held at the residence following the ceremony attended by members of the immediate families and a few close friends. Assisting with serving were Miss Helen Ankrom and Mrs. Gary Jackson, sisters of the bride and Miss Carol Fortado.

The newlyweds are making their home at 721 Twenty-second street, Rock Island, Ill. where the bridegroom is employed by National Tea Company. Both young people graduated from Franklin High School.

If you are mailing a fragile piece of china or ceramics, wrap the item in latex foam sheeting before packing. It absorbs shock more than any other material.

Greene TB Association Is Near Goal In Fund Drive

WHITE HALL — The Greene County Tuberculosis Assn. has announced that only the sum of $300 remains to put the annual drive for funds over the top. Many of the Christmas Seal letters have not been answered and it is hoped that a sufficient number will be in the near future, to complete the goal. To date $2,469 has been received. Students and teachers in the county schools have contributed to the fund through their schools.

This fund went to work at once when arrangements were made for the state mobile X-ray unit to be in Carrollton on Jan. 11th for free chest X-rays to school personnal. A skin testing program was held for those under 30 years of age in the office of County Supt. of Schools Thelma Wilkinson, prior to the visit of the X-ray unit.

South Point, Ohio, is so named because it is the most southerly point in the state.

With The Girl Scouts

Big news this week for all adults in Girl Scouting is the annual meeting of Illinois Prairie Council of Girl Scouts to be held Thursday, January 19, at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William Gross, 1231 Mound avenue.

This is the most important meeting of the year in Scouting with the annual election of officers and reports of committee chairmen. All registered adults in Scouting are members of the Council: Board members, board committee members, troop organizers, leaders, troop committee mothers, cookie chairmen and program consultants.

Girls of all Intermediate troops in Jacksonville will furnish cookies for the tea which precedes the annual meeting. Each troop will furnish two dozen cookies, the cookies should be brought to the Scout office on Thursday morning, Jan. 19.

Members of the Board of Directors of the Council will meet also in connection with the annual meeting. Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, retiring president, will preside.

Two Board committees will meet on Monday, Jan. 16. Training committee members will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Scout office and the Membership-nominating committee will meet at the office at 7:00 p.m. The Finance committee will meet at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 17, at Hamilton's cafe.

The meeting of Scott County Neighborhood, to be held in Winchester at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 18, will complete the week's schedule of meetings.

Greene County

Greene County Neighborhood met Tuesday, Jan. 10, at the Legion Hall in Roodhouse with 15 leaders present, one from Greenfield, 8 from Carrollton and six from Roodhouse. "Heritage Hikes" were discussed and it was decided that two persons from each community will plan a heritage hike for each community, this hike to be published in the April Schooner. A heritage hike for Morgan County leaders will be held February 22.

It was also decided that women be appointed in each community to search out career women who have been Girl Scouts, this data to be published during Girl Scout week.

The date of the cookie sale was announced, April 6-April 15, and there was discussion of camp plans. Carrollton will hold day camp on June 6, 7, and with the possibility of an overnight camp on June 7th. White Hall, Greenfield and Roodhouse will go together for camp and a planning session will be held in White Hall at the Legion Hall on Friday, Jan. 20, at 10 a.m.

Plans are being made to launch a Senior troop in Carrollton for about 20 girls who have indicated an interest.

As a final part of the program of the neighborhood meeting there was a presentation of international friendship. Mrs. Robert Pitsch gave a report on the origin of Girl Scout world pins, an explanation of Thinking Day for Girl Scouts and the Juliette Low world friendship fund. The leaders were given a test to be used for their own enlightenment and that of the troop on "How Good a Friend Are You." There was an exhibit of international friendship resource materials which precipated a short discussion on how to go about studying a country in troop meetings.

During the social hour leaders of Roodhouse troops served refreshments of cup cakes and coffee.

Cass County Neighborhood meet Thursday morning, Jan. 12, at the home of Mrs. Walter Lohman in Ashland with three leaders from Virginia and five from Ashland present. A similar program to be Green county meeting was followed. Mrs. Lohman served refreshments following the program.

The Public Relations committee met Friday morning, Jan. 13, at the Scout office to complete plans for the annual report of the Council. All members were present with the exception of Mrs. George McNamara, the chairman.

Troop News

Troop No. 2 of the Illinois School for the Deaf has been re-activated this year and now has 15 girls enrolled. Mrs. Kathryn Manger and Mrs. Ruth Bradley, teacher at the school, are troop leaders with Miss Joanne Whiting, also a teacher, and Miss Kathee Mangan assisting. The troop meets each Monday at the school. One of their recent service projects was the making of nut cups for the Girl Scout Founder's Day banquet. More about their other activities will be published later.

Intermediate Troop No. 46 of Lincoln school has been very busy under the direction of the leader, Mrs. John Newcomb. On the day before the governor's inauguration they visited the state capital, the senate and house chambers. TV cameras were set up in readiness for the next day to add to the interest of the tour. They also visited the Lincoln home while in Springfield. Mrs. Ralph Crozier accompanied the group, dividing a second carload. A nosebag lunch was served at the leader's home before the trip was made.

Girls in the troop are now working on the magic carpet badge. Senior Scouts Janet Row and Beverly Hess are assisting in the work and the troop is operating with suggestions of Miss Esther Connor, children's librarian. Miss Dorothy Fenton, librarian, is conducting a course for the troop. They also have their own troop library with Linda Price elected librarian and a card system for cataloguing favorite books which the girls bring. They are going to build cases for the books with the help of some Boy Scouts. Two Scouts, Jack Newcomb and Joe Hapke, recently gave the troop a lesson in knot tying, demonstrating the clove hitch, sheepshank and others.

This troop follows closely parliamentary procedure in its meetings and officers are elected every six months to give as many girls in the troops as possible a chance to serve. Officers just completing a term of office are: Dindy Newcomb, president; Barbara Lippert, vice president and uniform inspector (1c fine imposed at each meeting for not being in uniform); Linda Birdsell, secretary and Sue Poole, treasurer.

New officers for the next six months are: Sharon Scott, president; Jane DeSollar, vice president and uniform inspector; Mary Myers, secretary; Karen Reid, treasurer.

Mrs. Glen Reid is assistant troop leader and will serve as troop cookie chairman this spring.

We are a United Fund agency.

Mike Biggs Is Soroptimist Club Speaker

The Soroptimist Club of Jacksonville held its regular meeting at the Dunlap Hotel, Monday evening, Dec. 9.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Lucille Lair. She called on the chairman of the civic affairs committee, Bernadine Bush who introduced the speaker, Micheal Biggs, I.O.O.F. delegate to the 11th U.N. Pilgrimage in June, 1960.

The speaker, along with delegates from Utah, California and Wisconsin, of 34 young people attended the pilgrimage. In all 800 people had this same opportunity last year. He showed colored pictures of various points of interest which they visited. At the U.N. he visited the Communist Hungary, and Russian Embassies, and the Belgium Embassy. At the Belgium Embassy they received a very courteous reception and were told and explained the different phases of the work—but in the Hungarian and Russian Embassies it was entirely different. They were very evasive and not at all courteous—in fact they would not answer some of their questions.

However the U.N. is doing much good through its efforts in promoting peace by fighting disease, poverty and ignorance.

Civil War Battle To Be 'Fought Again' At Lexington, Missouri

LEXINGTON, Mo. — A thrilling chapter from Missouri history will be brought under the spotlight here on the afternoon of May 18, when Wentworth Military Academy cadets will re-fight the Civil War Battle of Lexington.

The engagement, also known as the "Battle of the Hempbales," will be fought under the auspices of the National Civil War Commission of Missouri, the Missouri State Park Board, Wentworth Military Academy, and the Lexington Chamber of Commerce.

This will be one of the big opening guns literally of the five-year commemoration of the Civil War.

1,000 Combatants

It is planned to have 1,000 combatants in the battle that day. Participants will include Wentworth cadets, Army and National Guard units, and other ROTC personnel. The First Infantry Division, now stationed at Fort Riley, Kans., has designated a liaison officer to work closely with the planning committee.

Key men in laying the ground work for the project include Col. Lester B. Wikoff, Wentworth's superintendent, who will exercise over-all direction; Joseph Jaeger Jr., Missouri State Park Board director; Dr. Bert E. Maybee, Kansas City, chairman of the Missouri Civil War Centennial Commission; and Lt. Col. H. E. Link, Wentworth's professor of military science, who will be in charge of staging the re-enactment.

The battle was actually fought September 18,19, and 20, 1861, but will be re-enacted in May to allow cadets ample time for orientation and briefing, and preliminary exercises, so that the project can be staged with historical accuracy.

Preceding the battle will be a Civil War atmosphere parade in downtown Lexington, and a luncheon for distinguished guests at the Municipal Auditorium here. A reception for the distinguished visitors will also be held following the battle.

Battle phases that will be dramatized include the assault on the historic Anderson House which was used as a hospital during the siege; simulated firing of the cannon ball into the Lafayette County courthouse, as was done in 1861; the final Confederate assault with the aid of hempbales; capture of the Irish Brigade's flag; and the surrender of Col. James Mulligan to Confederate General Sterling Price.

Site In Natural State

The engagement will take place on Lexington's Civil War Battlefield, now a Missouri State Park. The site is one of the few in the country that has been almost undisturbed since the Blue and Gray clashed in 1861.

Wentworth officials who are working on this project will not be going into the venture without experience. The cadets re-fought the battle in 1955 as a phase of the school's 75th anniversary celebration, at which time exhaustive research was made on the historic clash.

A crowd of 20,000 is anticipated for Wentworth's re-enactment next spring and Lexingtonians are making special plans for feeding and housing the visitors, and for alleviating traffic and parking problems expected that day.

The battle is being undertaken in cooperation with the National Civil War Centennial Commission, established by an act of Congress to increase awareness of and pride in our historical and cultural heritage, the men and events which shaped our nation's growth and which laid the foundation for the American way of life which has survived several threats, including the two World Wars.

Family Night At New Berlin Church Jan. 15

NEW BERLIN — The congregation of St. John's Lutheran church is holding a family night on Sunday, Jan. 15, beginning with a potluck supper at 6:30 in the church basement.

The 75 Club of the church is in charge of the arrangements and the program. A program will be given with the ladies of the club on stage representing the women of the Bible, with Raymond Long reading the narration.

Group singing will follow, and pastor Rev. Jording will show colored slides.

The American Legion Post 743 of New Berlin will meet at the Legion Home on Monday evening, for an 8 o'clock meeting.

The New Berlin Commerce Club met on Wednesday for a noon luncheon meeting in the Mallard Room of the Early Bird Cafe in New Berlin. Richard Danenberger, president, presided at the meeting and introduced Walt Wagner, executive manager of the Springfield A.C.I. Mr. Wagner explained the functions and merits of the A.C.I. to the group.

Club Benefit

At the January meeting of the Men's Community Club, plans were laid for the coming pancake-sausage supper which is annually sponsored by the group, and will be held Saturday, Jan. 28 in the fairgrounds building. Committee members appointed for the event are Floyd Vincent, Ray Maginn, Walter Breeding and Al Trimble.

Other committees appointed by president Donald Smith, are community sale members William Reed, Raleigh Crawford, James B. Hitt and Robert Marr. For the Basketball banquet, committee members are James Hitt, Walter Riess and John A. Marr.

Robert Pfeffer was the lucky winner of the door prize of the evening.

FORT MYER, Va. (AHTNC)—Army Sgt. Howard L. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Allen, Pearl, Ill., is scheduled to participate in the inaugural parade for President-elect John F. Kennedy in Washington, D.C., Jan. 20, as one of the Presidential military escorts.

Sergeant Allen is assigned to the 1st Battle Group, 3d Infantry, (The Old Guard), from Fort McNair, Washington, D.C., a specially selected unit which serves regularly as The President's personal honor guard. The group also performs ceremonial activities at high-level functions and provides guards at the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Allen, a squad leader in the infantry's Company A, entered the Army in 1952 and was last stationed in Germany.

The 29-year-old soldier is a 1948 graduate of Pearl High School. His wife, Naomi, lives in Washington, D.C.

Review Of 'A Streetcar Named Desire'

By Clyde J. Steckel

Tennessee Williams' award winning play, "A Streetcar Named Desire," was sensitively and competently produced this weekend at Jones Chapel, on the Illinois College campus. Darrell Reagan, Instructor in Speech and Director of Dramatics, and the Hilltoppers, the student drama organization, are to be commended for producing a serious and difficult play.

"A Streetcar Named Desire" is a serious play because, beneath the veneer of what may seem to be Williams' excessive preoccupation with human miseries and perversions such as adultery, homosexuality, suicide and mental breakdown, the playwright is saying something about our human situation, and he is saying it in deadly earnest.

In Blanche DuBois, Williams is presenting the inner decay and eventual disintegration of a young woman who desperately tries to maintain the brittle virtues and sensibilities of the Old South, perhaps also of the old Victorianism of our recent Anglo-Saxon past, in the face of the raw, angry expressions of violent feeling personified in her brother-in-law, Stanley Kowalski. But the conflict is not simply between Blanche and Stanley; it is also within Blanche, for she cannot deny her own desires, however much she longs for the old respectability.

Williams makes no special plea for the old way, but he has profound sympathy for and sensitivity to Blanche's pathetic efforts to cling to it. Nor does Williams find the new way, with its apparent violence and vulgarity, wholly devoid of spontaneous tenderness, as can be seen in his depiction of the intense love between Stanley and Stella. Williams really understands and has sympathy for both the old and new way, but he foresees no accommodation between them, only the disintegration of the old way under the assaults of the new way. This is the tragic conflict at the heart of the play.

This is a difficult play, especially for a young cast and company, because it requires a sustained emotional intensity as well as a sensitive treatment of intimacy and desire. On the whole this performance admirably met both requirements. Pat Orendorff, as Blanche, gave a moving performance, especially in scenes where Blanche describes her past miseries and dreams of her idealized hopes. In these scenes Pat wove a fragile, tender spell which thoroughly captured the audience, only to have this spell rudely shattered with the entry of another speech or character. Less successful were her attempts to maintain the undercurrent of anxiety necessary to understand Blanche's particular kind of seductiveness. Dale Bellovich, as Stanley, was appropriately loud, forceful, and at the same time able to communicate the tenderness called for by the role.

Donna Moore, as Stella, in the scenes of most intense conflict, seemed unable to convey sufficient emotional power, but at other points, especially in Scene IV, where she describes her love for Stanley, was positively brilliant in her portrayal. Frank Moriconi, as Mitch, ably portrayed the embarrassment born of his attraction to Blanche and his desire to come up to her expectations.

Marsha Chenoweth, Jim Harry, and Bob Volk were convincing as the Kowalski's neighbors and poker-playing friends, and Bob Long, Ann Baumgartner, Darlene Hughes, Bob Lamont, and Martha Thomason ably appeared in brief supporting roles.

Mr. Reagan's acumen as director was especially evident in his casting, in which he found people whose natural inflections and gestures were suited to their roles. This, perhaps as much as any other single factor, made possible a believable performance by a young cast. Also meriting special commendation are set designer Ed Puck and his crew of technicians and workers. This was one of the best sets we have had in many a Hilltopper production. The house arrangements also contributed to a satisfactory appreciation of the performance, with progressively raised rows of seats toward the rear of the auditorium.

Many At Harvey Davies' Anniversary Celebration

A large number of relatives and friends were received at the Marvin Sorrills residence, north of the city, Sunday afternoon, Jan. 8th, in honor of her parents,' Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Davies, golden wedding anniversary.

The Davies' and Sorrills' were assisted in receiving guests by Mr. and Mrs. Carl K. Hoots, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Davies and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baxter.

Mrs. Davies' sister, Miss Fannie Boyd, received guests in the dining room. The serving table held a beautifully decorated four tiered cake topped with a golden "50" and encircled at the base with leathercraft and yellow chrysanthemums. An attractive arrangement of yellow glads and baby mums, with slim golden tapers in oriental brass holders, completed the centerpiece for the serving table appointed in silver and crystal on lace over yellow. Guests enjoyed cake with coffee, nutmeats and mints.

Presiding at the serving table from 2 to 5 in the afternoon were Mrs. James Robinson, Mrs. Vivian Parlier, Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, Mrs. Adeline Rawlings, Mrs. Rollyn Trotter and Mrs. James Baxter.

Others assisting were Mrs. Sam Butler, Miss Martha Lorton, Mrs. Kenneth Hoots and Mrs. Grover Hoots. Granddaughters of the honored couple, Mrs. James Ray Johnson, Mrs. Dale Phillips and Miss Judy Davies, and Miss Bonita Baptist, registered guests.

Grandsons, Darrell Ray Sorrills, William Lee Davies and Grover Hoots were in charge of gifts. Later in the evening a buffet lunch was served to the immediate family and a few close friends. At this time the bride of 50 years ago cut and served the Anniversary cake. The couple received many lovely and useful gifts. Guests were present from many surrounding towns.

Juniors Swell Fund To Boys Town Of Illinois

The January dinner meeting of the Jacksonville Junior Woman's club was held on the 12th at the Dunlap Hotel. Mrs. Russell Pennell, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Larry Beeley and Mr. Davis from the Singer Sewing Machine Company in Jacksonville who gave a sewing demonstration as a prelude to the Vogue Sewing Contest to be held February 21.

Mrs. Carl Goeke, American Home and citizenship chairman, accepted a dollar from each member for Lincoln Lodge, a home for dependent boys, a part of Boys Town of Illinois located near Pere Marquette State Park and Grafton, Ill. School teachers, house parents, and a superintendent are employed to insure an education, home-like atmosphere, spiritual help and guided recreation.

Lincoln Lodge, an eight bedroom cottage where 14 boys between the ages of eight and 17 live together as a family, was built and furnished by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs who are under contract to furnish $3,000 annually toward utilities and insurance, and further to maintain and repair all equipment, furniture, and furnishings. It is the porogative of the individual clubs to donate articles, money, and time for the care of the boys and running of the home.

43 Dozen Cookies

The Jacksonville Juniors delivered 43 dozen cookies in August that the boys enjoy after school or in the evening viewing television. In December a large box of clothing and toilet articles was sent to the Lodge. Recently extra medical expenses were incurred. Two boys had accidents resulting with broken bones and several boys needed eye glass lenses changed. The dollars contributed will help defray these expenses.

Other Federated clubs throughout the state have similar projects on a rotated basis.

Mrs. Loren Burrus, President of the Morgan County Federation, was a welcome guest and spoke briefly to the club.

Mrs. Larry Flynn read minutes of the previous meeting, Mrs. Howard Hembrough correspondence and Mrs. Dean Robinson gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Carl Schanbacher announced the Mother's March on Polio will be held on Tuesday, January 31. The girls will meet at the Salem Lutheran school at 6:00 for assignments.

Benefit Jan. 19.

Mrs. Roy Cooper and Mrs. Robert Hembrough, co-chairman of the project to raise funds for scholarships for teachers of exceptional children, reported plans completed for the card party to be held at the YMCA on January 19. There will be a style show courtesy of the Emporium at 7:30 p.m. A $17.98 dress of the recipients choice will be offered as a door prize. There will be numerous other prizes and refreshments will be served. Tickets are 75c and may be purchased from any club member or at the door.

The invocation was offered by Mrs. John Vahle and the pledge to the flag led by Mrs. Kenneth Lindsey. During the evening three guests were introduced, Sharon Surratt, Joyce Ryan, and Bronna Yates. The centerpiece was awarded to Mrs. Roy Cooper.

Asbury Unit Has Potluck Before Meeting

Mrs. Everett Reynolds and Mrs. Donald McNeely entertained the Asbury Home Bureau Unit at potluck luncheon Thursday, Jan. 12th. The afternoon meeting was conducted by the chairman.

Mrs. Harold Sooy gave the secretary's report and 20 members answered roll with a recipe. After the song of the month Mrs. Jack Spradlin was welcomed as a new member. The selected subject, Common Medical Emergencies, was presented by Miss Elizabeth Hembrough who emphasized the emergency care of patients suffering heart attacks and unconsciousness.

The major lesson, Guiding the Childs Appetite, was given by the Home Adviser, Miss Hazel Graves, who showed how little things make big differences in children and their eating habits. Mrs. C. J. Lonergan will give the radio program Jan. 17 over WLDS.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Jack Spradlin, Mary Elizabert Spradlin and Mike Bourn. Some program suggestions were considered for the next year's program committee and a list of handicraft ideas were made. The next meeting will be at 11 a.m. Feb. 9 at the home of Mrs. Harold Black.

Judge Wright Tells DAR Women Of "Day In Court"

Judge John Wright spoke at the regular meeting of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held at the Chapter Home, Thursday, Jan 12. Mrs. Carl Moulton, Vice Regent, presented the speaker. Judge Wright opened his remarks saying he would speak informally about the "Business of the County Court," or as the Federation of Women's Clubs called it, "A Day in Court," as a project of that organization.

The Judge named the kinds of business handled in the County Court and gave explanations of the different kinds of business, with estates being one of these. (Over 500 cases are handled yearly in the County Court.)

The juvenile cases are among the most difficult, the judge said. A very spirited question and answer period followed, with most everyone present joining in the discussion.

The meeting started at 1:30 p.m. with dessert being served in the dining room. The table was appointed with lighted pink candles and white glazed tree branches. Pink and white napkins added to the predominating color. Generous sized pumpkin tarts, with whipped cream topping, nut meats, coffee or tea was served. Mrs. Paul Black and Mrs. Carl Moulton poured.

Hostesses were Mrs. Fletcher Hopper, Mrs. Fred Randall, Mrs. Ira Fanning, Mrs. T. F. Walsh and Mrs. W. B. Hendrickson.

The Regent, Mrs. Charles T. Bowen, opened the meeting with prayer led by Mrs. Reuel Crum, the National Anthem with Mrs. Moulton at the piano, and the pledge. The report of the secretary, Mrs. J. E. Dinwiddie, was read. Mrs. Lawrence Mallicoat, treasurer, announced 108 members in good standing. The registrar, Mrs. Guy Martin, announced Mrs. Gordon Hankins accepted by the National D.A.R. as a member of the Chapter.

February Program

Mrs. Paul Black reported all thirteen schools have responded to the "Good Citizen Award" selection and plans complete for the presentation of the awards at the next meeting of the Chapter.

The thirteen girls and their mothers are invited to a luncheon and program Thursday, Feb. 9, at 1:00 p.m. at the Chapter Home. Mrs. Roy Hopper, chairman of the luncheon, announced plans, stating ment will be furnished by the committee and requested members to bring other foods and table service. Mrs. Bowen stated that she would provide a ride for anyone if they would contact her.

Mrs. Lloyd Lorton gave the National Defense report and requested all members to write Paul Findley regarding the "Un-American Activities Committee' problem.

Delegates to the Continental Congress in Washington, D.C. and the State Conference in Chicago, were elected. Mrs. Roy Hopper was elected to go in the Regent's place. Mrs. Donald Ransdell was elected delegate. Alternates named include Mrs. Carl Moulton, Mrs. R. I. Willard, Miss Olive Burnett and Mrs. Ruel Crum. Delegates to the state conference are: Regent Mrs. Charles T. Bowen; elected delegate Mrs. R. C. Calhoun; Mrs. Carl Moulton, vice Regent, elected alternate for the Regent. Other alternates elected were Mrs. R. I. Willard and Mrs. Lloyd Lorton.

Mrs. Bowen announced the executive board would meet at the Chapter Home on Thursday, Jan. 26, and requests all members to attend for some important business. The meeting adjourned.

Annual Parish Meeting Held At Trinity Church

Trinity Episcopal Church held its annual parish meeting on Sunday, January 8, following a "Feast of Lights" service presented by the Canterbury Association. Walter Bellatti, Senior Warden, presided over the business meeting, at which five new members of the Vestry were elected. Henry A. Aldridge, Jr., James E. Arr itage, Richard Bond, and Dr. Richmond H. Simmons were elected to three-year terms and Walter Hendrickson was elected to a one-y ar term. Retiring from the Vestry after completing three-year terms are Walter Bellatti, Charles F. Frank, Arthur Samoore, and L. G. Taylor.

Other reports were made by Richard Bond for the Church School, by Miss Susan Weller for the Episcopal Young Churchmen, by Robert Bellatti for the Guild of Acolytes, by Miss Sandra Ritchie for the Canterbury Association, and by Mrs. C. H. Joy for the Altar Guild. Mrs. G. W. Horton reported for St. Margaret's Guild, Mrs. J. E. Armitage for Trinity Guild, Miss Elizabeth Capps and Miss Anne Bellatti for Trinity Fellowship, and Miss Helen Dial for the newly organized Episcopal Churchwomen. Mrs. W. R. Bellatti, speaking for the Choir, presented awards to Joyce Downie, Patsy Mudgett, Janice Ruth, and Janet Weller for one year's service; to Elsie Hipkins and Arthur Samoore for five years' service; and to Elizabeth Aldridge for ten years' service.

Mr. Arthur Samoore, Junior Warden, gave a summary of material accomplishments during the past year; he then announced plans for the rehabilitation of the church sanctuary and a five-year program looking toward the erection of a new Parish Hall. Recalling some of the events of his long service on the Vestry, Mr. Walter Bellatti expressed his gratitude for the support he had received from the parish. Closing the meeting, the Rev. R. M. Harris cited those who had performed special services during the year past and expressed his deep satisfaction upon being once again the Rector of Trinity Parish.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—A fairly good local demand maintained butcher hog prices within a steady range last week although the supply was the largest in a month.

On three days the top price held at $18.25 and reached its peak of $18.50 on Friday. It was paid very sparingly, however, with only 33 head of 210 lb weighis bringing the price.

Demand for slaughter steers slackened rather sharply after Monday and prices slipped as much as $1 a hundredweight for the week. Buyers said the weakness apparently was closely related to the slow movement of carcass beef even at prices 50 cents to $1 lower on the Chicago wholesale market.

The cattle supply both here and at the 12 major markets increased about 35 per cent over the previous holiday week.

Offerings on the sheep market were up 58 per cent for the week and after opening 50 cents a hundredweight higher on Monday slaughter lamb prices turned easier and closed as much as 50 cents lower.

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) —Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week:

Cubans Lose Enthusiasm For Invasion Scare

In a television appearance, Guevara said: "In my opinion, the newspaper headlines are a little exaggerated."

The country's economic chief did not rule out the possibility of a landing by so-called mercenaries, but he warned that "the euphoria of war" must not interfere with production.

Some Cubans took Guevara's words as practically a public admission that the government is chasing phantoms. They wondered openly whether Guevara's speech would lead to a conflict with the thin-skinned prime minister, who a week before had put his stamp of approval on charges in the press that an invasion led by U.S. Marines was imminent.

However, well informed sources say much of the government's chatter about an invasion is based on secret reports from agents of Castro's intelligence service throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Although no secret has been made of the counterrevolutionary preparations in Florida, an air of mystery has shrouded military activities in Guatemala. This has evoked repeated charges by the Cuban press and government that anti-Castro personnel are being trained there for an invasion of Cuba. The Guatemalan government insists they are being trained only for defense.

Persons once close to Castro say he is sincerely convinced that the United States will take military action against his revolution. Felipe Pazos, former head of Cuban National Bank who broke with Castro last year, said during a private conversation in Puerto Rico recently that Castro has believed since October 1959 that U.S. Marines would invade Cuba.

The government-controlled press recently has subtly changed its line on the nature of the threat it sees from the United States. Instead of predicting wholesale intervention, it shifted back to the old line that the United States would provoke an incident in Cuba and then use it as a pretext to intervene with troops.

Skeptics point out that the huge concentration of firepower Jan. 2 in the civic plaza at anniversary celebrations of Castro's revolution was a curious way to prepare to repel an invasion. They regard the display of guns pointing out from Havana's Malecon seafront drive—the most unlikely landing point in all of Cuba—as grandstanding.

Those who believe the invasion scare was invented by the government point out that it served as a means to whip up enthusiasm for the anniversary celebration as well as to prepare the groundwork for Castro's move restricting the U.S. Embassy.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market this week pushed its turn-of-the-year rally into the third straight week and did so on the heaviest trading in more than two years.

Not a single session was below four million shares and the weekly volume of 22,227,180 shares was the biggest since the week ended Oct. 18, 1958, when the total was 24,402,570. Last week's turnover was 14,362,674 in a four-day trading week.

The performance gave a glittering start to 1961 stock trading. Of the nine market sessions this far, only the first was on the downside. One session was mixed, with the Associated Press average unchanged.

The AP 60-stock average this week advanced 4.48 to 227.90, putting it above the August recovery high of 226.60. It was the biggest gain since the week ended last Nov. 5 when the average rose 5.20.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 12.01 at 633.65, but this was still below that indicator's August high of 641.56.

Every one of this week's sessions was a turbulent affair. Profit taking on the yearend rally met surprising reinvestment demand. Some analysts anticipated a consolidation movement this week, and possibly a slight decline on average as previous gains were "digested." Instead, Wall Street snapped up offerings and, in effect, asked for more.

All of the sessions were irregular, most of them pretty close to evenly balanced between gains and losses at some time during the day. But, inevitably, just before the close, would come a surge of buying, accompanied by a late ticker tape, and the average would be up again.

The most active issue this week on the American Stock Exchange was Nuclear Corp. of America, up ¾ at 4¾ on 232,200 shares.

The bond market's jumbled pattern during the first week of 1961 was duplicated this week.

Market specialists found reasons for the divergent movements. They said the continued lack of new corporate issues bolstered that list. Worry over the international situation and what debt management policies the new national administration may adopt were the factors they gave for the setback in government bonds.

Volume of corporate trading on the New York exchange expanded to the highest total in over a year. The total was $35,273,000 par value compared with $21,340,000 the previous week. The last busier week was Dec. 1-4, 1959, when volume amounted to over $37 million. The daily average jumped to $7,054,620 from $5,335,000.

Dismissed during the past few days were Mrs. Daisy McGlasson, Walter Surbeck, Bob Crain and Mrs. Sadie Dean.

Rumor Kerner May Name Negro To Cabinet Post

CHICAGO (AP)—Theodore A. Jones, Chicago insurance executive, confirmed Saturday that he has been approached concerning his availability for the post of director of public works and buildings under Gov. Otto Kerner.

In New York, where he is attending a conference of Negroes prominent in business and government, Jones told a newsman: "I have had some inquiry if I would be available and I have said that I am, but there has been no firm tender made to me."

If appointed Jones would be the second Negro in Illinois history to hold a cabinet position. The first, Joseph Bibb, was director of public safety under former Gov. William G. Stratton.

The department of Public Works and Buildings, which supervises the State Highway Division, employs more personnel and spends more money than any other executive department.

Jones, 48, is vice president of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Co. In 1958 and 1959 he was president of the Chicago branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

There was no immediate comment from Kerner.

St. Louis Area Teamsters Take Strike Vote Today

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Teamsters Union Local 600, which has 7,700 members who handle local and interstate truck traffic through St. Louis, will meet Sunday to take a strike vote.

The union president, Charles W. Grogan, said Saturday negotiators are near agreement on wages for a contract to replace one that expired Jan. 31.

"However," Grogan said, "we are deadlocked over proposals made by industry involving working conditions, which would cost our members many jobs and overtime pay."

Grogan challenged the employers to attend the meeting and explain to union members "why the industry is demanding changes in working conditions."

The challenge was accepted by Guy Roper. He is president of Husmann and Roper Freight Lines and chairman of the labor committee of the St. Louis Motor Carriers Association.

Roper said the industry has offered to meet union demands on wages and fringe benefits which will cost St. Louis trucking firms $14.60 weekly spread over three years.

CAPITAL DECKED FOR INAUGURATION

Democrats hope to use the proceeds of this and other events to cut into their deficit of about $3 million.

After the inauguration ceremony Friday, the traditional parade — comprising delegations from most of the states, units of all the armed services, bands, floats, etc. — will move from the Capitol to the White House. It will take nearly three hours.

The celebration will close Friday night with three invitation-only inaugural balls at the armory and two hotels. It'll cost $25 to attend one of these balls, even with an invitation, and they are shaping up as sell-outs.

Behind all this, the incoming and outgoing administrations quietly have been arranging the transfers of power.

Most of Kennedy's Cabinet choices already have had a hearing before Senate committees, and are assured of confirmation—possibly the day after Kennedy's inauguration.

For weeks now, Eisenhower administration officials have been handing in their resignations.

Eisenhower is spending his last weekend as president at Camp David, the government-owned retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

But he hasn't stopped working. On Monday, Eisenhower will send Congress his proposal for a budget to run the government in the fiscal year starting July 1. Kennedy is expected to make some considerable changes in that budget.

On Wednesday — two days before he rides to the Capitol with Kennedy and turns over his responsibilities — Eisenhower will send Congress a message on the economic state of the nation.

The youthful Kennedy and Eisenhower, 70, will meet at the White House only one day before the changeover. They last met on Dec. 6.

Ag-Chemical Meeting To Be Held At Winchester Jan. 19

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — Interested farmers and persons in the Winchester area are invited to attend an Ag-Chemical meeting being held this Thursday, Jan. 19, at the Legion Hall in Winchester. The evening will commence with a free meal at 6:30 p.m. to be served by the employees of the Scott County Service Company who are sponsoring the meet.

Dale Hewitt, Scott County Farm Adviser, will discuss the weed control plots in the county during 1960 following which safe, economical control measures for weeds and insects will be outlined by R. Earl Grossman of Bloomington. Mr. Grossman is the farm chemical product manager for the Illinois Farm Supply Company and a graduate entomologist specializing in farm chemicals. He will also tell of the recent advances in the use of chemicals, illustrating his talk with color slides.

Junior Women

The January meeting of the Winchester Junior Woman's Club will be held on Thursday, Jan. 19, of this week commencing with a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the Fletcher Cafe. Hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. James Riggs and Mrs. George Peak.

C. L. McLaughlin, member of the board of education for Unit No. 1 in Scott County, will be the guest speaker.

All paid members are on the standing reservation list but those desiring reservations for a guest or a cancellation for themselves are to call either hostess no later than 9:00 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 18.

Tournament

The thirty-ninth annual Winchester Invitational Tournament plans have been completed and the games will get underway on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17, of this week. The Winchester Wildcats, coached by Jack Renfro, will be the host team for this tournament, the oldest invitational tournament in the state. Teams participating include Bluffs, Carrollton, East Pike, Franklin, Greenfield, Griggsville, Roodhouse, White Hall, and the host team, Winchester.

Tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis at an admission charge of 75c for adults and 40c for students.

Game schedules and pairings are as follows: Tuesday, 6:00 p.m., East Pike vs. Franklin; 7:15 p.m., Winchester vs. Carrollton; 8:30 p.m., Greenfield vs. Roodhouse. Wednesday, 7:00 p.m., Bluffs vs. White Hall; 8:30, Griggsville vs. winner of game one. Thursday, 7:00 p.m., winner of game two vs. winner of game three; 8:30 p.m., winner of game four vs. winner of game five. Friday, 7:00 p.m., game for third place and at 8:30 the championship game.

Trophies will be awarded to the first four place winners, to the best cheerleaders and for team sportsmanship.

Altar Society

The ladies of the Altar Society of St. Mark's Church in Winchester held their first meeting of the new year at the home of Mrs. James Ego this past Thursday evening with Fr. James O'Hara in charge of the business session.

A discussion was held by Father O'Hara concerning the need for volunteer workers at the Coffee Shop at Our Saviour's Hospital in Jacksonville. Members were asked to volunteer their services for the afternoon of the first Thursday of each month through June of 1961. Those volunteering were as follows:

February 2 — Mrs. Emmerson Grey, Mrs. Jack Smith and Mrs. Howard Lockman; March 2—Mrs. Richard Lashmet, Mrs. Dana O'Donnell, Mrs. Jerome Pranger, Mrs. Emmerson Grey; April 6 — Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Emmerson Grey.

May 4 — Mrs. Bernard Moore, Mrs. Harry Gidney, Mrs. Robert Dolen, Mrs. Dana O'Donnell; June 1—Mrs. Addison Scott, Mrs. Emmerson Grey, Mrs. Urban Sauer, Mrs. Audrey Lashmet. The new volunteers will work with the Our Saviour's Auxiliary members from Winchester who have been doing such volunteer work for several years.

Father O'Hara announced that Confraternity Sunday at St. Mark's will be observed on January 29 with all adult members of the discussion groups meeting in the church basement on that evening for a potluck dinner.

It was voted to give a donation to the 1961 March of Dimes Drive. Jack Smith was appointed to serve as treasurer for the society for this year by Father O'Hara.

Miss Nell Ring, president, announced the following committee chairmen to have charge of the annual St. Patrick's Ham Dinner: Ticket committee — Mrs. Robert Ferenback; kitchen—Mrs. Bernard Moore; dining room — Mrs. Carl Little and Mrs. Emmerson Grey, co-chairmen; coffeemaker—James Moore.

To Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Helliwell of this city left yesterday from St. Louis at 11:45 by jet plane for a vacation in Hawaii. They arrived at their destination at 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

While there they plan to visit at the home of Mr. Helliwell's niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stevens, who were former Winchester residents.

Circle Meets

The Elizabeth Circle of the CWF of the Winchester Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. Eddie King this past week with Mrs. James Kirkpatrick as assistant hostess.

Mrs. James Riggs presented the program entitled "Together in Mission" assisted by Mrs. Duane Clark, Mrs. Richard Shive, Mrs. David Dunham, and Mrs. Weldon Fearneyhough. Devotions were in charge of the assistant hostess, Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Richard Shive, chairman, announcement was made of the January solicitation being taken in place of the annual turkey dinner. Members are to make their donations to the service chairman, Mrs. Richard Taylor, or to Mrs. Shive, circle chairman.

Plans were completed for the group's serving the District Chi Rho meeting being held on Saturday, Jan. 14, at the church. There was further discussion concerning the general service project of the CWF which is the making of layettes for miscellaneous use. The members were asked to bring articles to the next meeting and they need not be new but may be good used items.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the evening.

Annual Bank Meeting

The First State Bank's annual stockholders meeting was held this past Thursday with the following directors being named: Clarence Adams, I. H. Bowman, James I. Coultas, Mrs. C. R. W. Frost, Norbert L. Hutchens, Paul H. Lehman and Mancel T. Wilson.

At the organization meeting held in the afternoon, Clarence Adams was elected president; Norbert L. Hutchens, vice president; Paul H. Lehman, executive vice president; James R. Sturgeon, cashier; and Mrs. Lyndel Dieterle and Albert W. Herring, assistant cashiers. Other bank employees serving the public are Mrs. Lillian Meier, auditor; Mrs. Grace Brown, teller; and Maurice Glossop, James Doss, and Mrs. Robert E. Coultas, bookkeepers.

Jerseyville Will Be Host To Elks January 22-23

JERSEYVILLE — The annual meeting of the Southwest District of Illinois Elks Association will be held at the lodge building in Jerseyville Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 22 and 23. The host lodge will be Jerseyville Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks No. 394.

The registration for the two day meeting will begin at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Jan. 22, and there will be smorgasbord in the clubrooms from 6 to 7:30 that evening. Later there will be dancing to the music of Harry Lewis and his orchestra.

The registration Sunday morning will begin at 10 o'clock and the District meeting will be at 3 p.m. James Allen of the Jerseyville lodge is the district deputy. A social hour is planned for the women while the men are in session. At 6 o'clock a dinner will be served at the Holy Ghost Hall, and Les Mortland and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing in the Lodge building at 8 o'clock.

The officers of the Jerseyville lodge are as follows: Robert Madson, Exalted Ruler; Virgil Pistorius, Leading Knight; Dale Staples, Loyal Knight; James Allen, secretary; Fred Herold, treasurer; David Heitzig, Tiler; Joseph Susnig, Esquire; Harry Gray, chaplain, and Alfred Beiermann. The trustees are Harold Schneider, Louis Gorman and Ernest Pohlman.

IKE ACCEPTS FOUR MORE RESIGNATIONS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Saturday accepted the resignations of four more of his executives, including Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming.

The others are Edward Foss Wilson, assistant secretary of welfare; Karl G. Harr Jr., a White House assistant; and Perry W. Morton, an assistant attorney general.

All the resignations are effective Friday when Eisenhower leaves office.

Eisenhower, in an exchange of letters made public by the White House, bestowed warm praise on Flemming for his leadership of the government's newest Cabinet department.

ADVERTISE—IT PAYS

Most gold buying by Americans is done in the bullion markets of Toronto and London. Those who have bought gold abroad generally have been speculating on a possible devaluation of the dollar. The dollar would be devalued if the United States raised its official price of gold—$35 an ounce. Gold speculators then could cash in.

Although President Eisenhower and President-elect John F. Kennedy have promised to maintain the $35 price, talk of possible devaluation has increased in the past six months because of the steady drop in the U. S. gold supply.

Since the start of 1960, foreigners have bought about $2 billion of U. S. gold and the supply is down to a 21-year-low of $17.6 billion. Since about $12 billion of American gold is tied up as backing for paper money, the margin available to fill foreign orders has been shrinking markedly.

The narrowing margin has prompted some to question whether the supply might not run out and force drastic action by the United States.

Move To Prevent New Violence At Georgia U.

The university announced a get-tough policy designed to prevent further disorders.

Joseph A. Williams, dean of students, warned that, "Students attending and taking part in riots and demonstrations will be suspended and expelled."

The memorandum to all students was issued during a lull between a riot on the campus Wednesday night, touched off by the admittance of the Negroes, and their expected return Monday morning.

Williams also noted that city ordinances provide for the arrest and prosecution of persons holding parades and mass demonstrations without permission.

And he said members of fraternities and sororities would jeopardize their chapter charters by participating in demonstrations. He said local advisers and national headquarters are being asked to work with students to enforce law and order.

Ike Will Receive $20,000 A Year Retirement Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is sure of receiving at least $20,000 a year from the federal government when he leaves the White House, whether as a former president or a reinstated five-star general of the Army.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, the losers in the 1960 presidential and vice-presidential races, are eligible for regular civil service pensions, but are too young to start collecting.

The amounts Nixon and Lodge receive some years hence will depend on the amount of their contributions to retirement funds.

Eisenhower, only office-holder covered by special law, will be entitled to $25,000 a year plus $50,000 in tax-exempt expenses for office space and aides, if he elects to take the retired pay for former presidents.

But he is reported to have told friends he would like to have his five-star Army rank restored. He resigned that rank when he ran for president in 1952.

A bill is being prepared to restore Eisenhower's Army status and to give him the option of accepting the presidential retired pay or the lower Army retirement income of $20,543 a year plus a small staff and other expenses.

Congressional leaders say there is no intention of proposing that Eisenhower be allowed both presidential and Army pay.

Eisenhower is reported against any legislation that would give him two pensions.

Hospital Notes

Miss Carolyn Kesterson returned home Monday following an emergency appendectomy performed last Wednesday evening at Passavant Hospital.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stansbury of Roodhouse is a surgical patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, Alton.

Mrs. G. L. Prather returned to her home in Greene County Friday from Passavant Hospital, Jacksonville.

Mrs. Merle R. Mackey has returned to Roodhouse after being a patient at Passavant Hospital, Jacksonville.

Mrs. Eddy Speaks To Fellowship On Mission Fields

The Women's Fellowship of Central Christian church held its regular monthly meeting on Jan. 11, at 7:30 p.m. The president, Mrs. Lyle Davis, presided. Preceding the meeting, quiet music was played by Mrs. Marvin Ray.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Gladys Rust. Scripture was taken from I John. "Missions in the Far East" was the topic used by Mrs. Sherwood Eddy for the evening's program.

Well informed on many countries of the Far East, Mrs. Eddy gave first hand experiences with missionaries of various denominations and others having Christian influence on their countries. She spoke of the countries of Japan, Korea, India and the city of Hong Kong. Her knowledge of these countries and the acquaintance of national figures, allowed her to relate fascinating happenings. She also voiced a plea for continued giving through the World Service Center in St. Louis as she had seen the good they do.

A contribution of $25 was voted toward the purchase of a campsite in Abingdon, Ill. for use by youth and adults of the Christian churches.

Announcement was made of the annual meeting of the United Council of Church Women at Centenary Methodist church on Jan. 20. Services for the World Day of Prayer will be held at three various times and places, as follows: Luncheon and noon service in the Christian church; 2:00 service in the Grace Methodist church and the 7:30 evening service in the First Presbyterian church.

The meeting was followed by a silver tea served by the Sharpe Group.

Seek Ex-Convict Charged With Kidnaping Girl

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies Saturday obtained a warrant charging an ex-convict with kidnaping a 6-year-old girl suffering from heart trouble.

FBI agents joined in a hunt for the man.

Richard Arlen Lindsey, 30, was identified by officers as a man seen around a Shafter farm labor camp just an hour before Rose Marie Riddle disappeared Thursday. Deputies said he has a prior California felony conviction.

The child reportedly was abducted by a man and a woman who offered her a dollar to do some household chores for them. The woman was unidentified.

The mother, Mrs. Everett Riddle, said Rose Marie has a congenital heart condition that might cause a fatal seizure if the child became frightened or excited.

The child's father is a $77-a-week laborer. Deputies said the family formerly lived in Eloy, Ariz.

Deputies said an adult and a child identified Lindsey from police photos.

Wolf And Fox Drive Jan. 21 At Greenfield

GREENFIELD — Commander Francis Kuhnline announces that the local American Legion Post will sponsor another wolf-fox drive Saturday January 21, leaving the Legion Home at 9:00 a.m. Only shotguns will be allowed and the Legion is not responsible should any accidents occur. Lunch will be served at noon by the Auxiliary.

Kennedy Names Educator Stahr Army Secretary

Joining Kennedy and Johnson at lunch were two Democratic members of Congress who are vacationing in this area, Reps. Frank W. Boykin of Alabama and L. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina.

The selection of Stahr to be civilian head of the Army ended one of the more difficult personnel problems of the new administration.

There had been a spate of reports, denied by Kennedy, that he was under congressional pressure to appoint Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia. Vandiver ultimately said he did not want the post.

Jacks Snap 8-Game Losing Streak With Win Over Robinson

Jacksonville High hit eight of 16 shots in the second quarter to take a comfortable lead and defeat Robinson Saturday night in the Bowl, 61-41. The win snapped an eight game losing string for the Crimsons and gave them a 3-10 mark for the season. The victory was also the first over a non-city aggregation in two years. Saturday night marked Jacksonville's 18th star at home, including last season and this season, and prior to the Robinson win the Crimsons had only Routt and Illinois Deaf on the short end of the final count.

The defeat was Robinson's 10th in 12 starts. Coach Herman Edwards' Maroons found themselves trailing 24 seconds after the opening tip on a fast break layup by guard Bill Sims to put Jacksonville ahead to stay.

Robinson pulled within five points in the opening minutes of the second quarter but that was its closest penetration. JHS led at the half by 15 points, 34-19.

The losers hit one of 11 attempts for the third frame while the Jacks connected on four of 16 shots to garner a 45-24 lead after three chapters.

Coach John Chapman's quintet also dominated the boards, 51-41. Ron Tomhave took game scoring laurels for the Jacks with 16 points and he totaled eight of Jacksonville's 11 tallies in the third canto. Denny Palmer led Robinson scorers with 10 points.

Pender Stops Downes In Seventh Round

BOSTON (AP)—Classy Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., Saturday night retained his share of the world middleweight championship by stopping game Terry Downes, the American-trained Briton, in the seventh round of a 15-rounder at the Boston Arena.

The 30-year-old champion had floored the 24-year-old challenger in the first round and had opened two nasty cuts on Terry's face in the fourth round.

Downes, although he fought strongly, bled profusely from the fourth round on.

Referee Bill Connolly halted the lively scrap at 57 seconds of the seventh round.

Downes was gashed over his left eye and on the bridge of the nose.

Referee Connolly said "Downes was cut badly and bleeding too much. I had to stop it."

The doctor, he said, had told him to stop it if Downes started to bleed badly in the round.

Doctor Francis Wixted had climbed into the ring to examine the Englishman after the fifth and sixth rounds.

Pender, making the second defense of his New York-Massachusetts-Europe recognized championship, set the crowd of about 6,500 into an uproar when he floored Downes with a right to the jaw in the first round.

Terry arose at five and shook his head while he was given the mandatory eight-count.

Both weighed 160.

Although the American gave the British champion a boxing lesson for most of the fight, Downes gave the champion a terrific scare in the fifth round.

The husky Briton stunned Pender with a right and a left to the jaw and then drove him to the ropes with a flurry of punches. But Pender snapped out of it and proceeded to give Terry a boxing lesson.

Clan Wrestlers Rout Elmhurst

The MacMurray College wrestlers easily notched up victory number four against two defeats Saturday, smothering Elmhurst College 33-3 on the opponents mat.

Coach Dwaine Marten's matmen picked up three pins, a decision, and three forfeits to take the match, while losing one decision. Bill Celander pinned J. Baxter after 45 seconds in the third period, Bob Williams pinned Thomen after 2:50 in the second period, and Heavyweight Gary Bass pinned Don Frandson after 2:55 of the first period.

Scott Engroff, Bill Kneebone, and Larry Dailey won on forfeits, while Bill Weber decisioned Elmhurst's J. Leamon. Curt Wingerter took the Highlanders' only defeat, a decision at the hands of tough Bob Reinecke.

The MacMurray grapplers travel to Decatur Tuesday to take on Millikin University, and then return to the Hardin Avenue fieldhouse Friday for a 4:30 match with Westminister College.

Chicago Writers To Give Out Seven Awards

CHICAGO (AP)—Seven awards will be presented by the Chicago Chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. at its 21st annual diamond dinner Sunday night.

Those being honored include:

Bill Mazeroski of Pittsburgh, whose home run won the world series; Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh, for achievement of the year; Gabe Paul, who rose from batboy to general manager of the Cincinnati Reds and now is in charge of putting National League ball in Houston, for long and meritorious service.

Ron Santo, Cubs third baseman, as Chicago's rookie of the year; Outfielder Minnie Minoso of the White Sox, as Chicago's player of the year; pitcher Don Cardwell of the Cubs, for his no-hitter against St. Louis on May 15; and outfielder Al Smith, White Sox for making the comeback of the year.

Balding, Leonard Shoot Identical Scores Saturday

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Al Balding of Toronto and Stan Leonard of Vancouver shot identical one-under-par 70s for total scores of 205 Saturday and took over the lead at the 54-hole point of the $20,000 San Diego Open Golf Tournament.

The Canadians broke a three-way deadlock that existed going into Saturday's play when the third co-leader, California's Eric Monti, fell back with a 73 and a tie at 208.

As play ended at the par 35-36—71 Mission Valley Country Club, Leonard and Balding held a one-stroke lead heading into the final 18 holes Sunday.

The finale promises to be rough. Tied at 206 were the renowned Arnold Palmer, who had a 69; Dow Finsterwald, 68; young Frank Boynton, 69, and bespectacled Jim Ferree, whose 66 was the lowest round of the day.

In a three-way deadlock at 207 were South Africa's Gary Player, who shot a 71; Bobby Nichols, of Midland, Tex., 69; and Los Angeles' veteran Jerry Barber, 70.

The companions of Monti at 208 were Bob Goalby, 70; Don January, 68; Dave Ragen, 69, and Frank Stranahan, 71.

The two Canadians and Monti, 41-year-old club pro from Los Angeles, were tied at 135 beginning the round.

Iowa Retains Unbeaten Status

IOWA CITY, Iowa. (AP) — Iowa blazed away to its third victory without a loss in Big Ten basketball Saturday night, closing fast in the second half for an 86-72 decision over Michigan State. The triumph was the Hawkeyes' 11th in 12 games this season.

The Spartans put two and sometimes three men on Iowa's top scorer, Don Nelson, but he broke through for 18 points. Dick Hall, a big factor in Michigan State's drive to control the boards, led all scoring with 19 points.

Iowa dropped in 34 out of 72 field goals for 47 per cent, while the rivals nailed 31 of 72 for 43 per cent.

The Hawkeyes pulled to a 42-37 halftime margin but Michigan State came back to tie it up 44-44. The Hawks' Matt Syzkownky and Tom Harris pushed it to 50-46 and then Hall and Jack Lamers creeped up to 56-55 with 12 minutes left. After that, Iowa soared into command and was never headed.

Bunetta Garners Bowling Lead

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) —Bill Bunetta of Chicago took the lead in the 20th All-Star Bowling Tournament qualifying round Saturday when he rolled a six-game series of 1,297. This boosted his two-day, 12-game preliminary total to 2,599.

He rolled games of 196, 196, 220, 239, 231 and 215 on the second of five men's squads.

There were 144 men bowlers set to perform on the remaining three squads.

Bunetta replaced Teata Semiz at the top of the Orange Show Exhibit Hall standing board. The Paramus, N. K., bowler had taken the lead in the first squad with 2,534.

Detroit's Ed Lubanski, 1959 "bowler of the year," came to life with a rousing 1,331 series, including a 279 last game, to boost his pin total to 2,529, worth third place.

EIGHTY TONS OF SNOW SPREAD ON SKI-JUMPING HILL

CHICAGO (AP)—Eighty tons of snow, made by special ice-crushing equipment, have been spread on the Norge ski-jumping hill in suburban Fox River Grove for Sunday's 56th annual tournament of the Norge Ski Club.

A field of more than 100 jumpers is entered, including hese 1960 U.S. Olympic team members: Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn.; Bob Wedin and Dick Rahoi, Iron Mountain, Mich., and Ansten Sumuelstuen, Bolder, Colo, winner the last two years of the Norge meet.

PLAYING THE BOARDS CAN BE PUGGED ASSIGNMENT

When a shot is missed and is coming off the banks the ball belongs to the one getting there first and in this case it happens to be Allison Johnson's rebound as his Robinson teammates bowed to Jacksonville, 61-41, Saturday. Number 30 is Ron Tomhave of the Crimsons and his 16 points were high for the game. In a mixed-up position on the floor are Rich Sweeney and Ferrell Wiman while Denny Palmer (35), Ken Norton of JHS and Ray Weger (25) watch the action.

DePaul Upsets Louisville, 78-70

CHICAGO (AP)—M. C. Thompson scored 24 points and controlled the boards Saturday in leading DePaul to a 78-70 victory over Louisville in a basketball game pitting two undefeated teams. It was DePaul's 11th victory and fourth-ranked Louisville's first loss after 13 triumphs.

The Blue Demons took a 6-5 lead on a Thompson layup in the opening minutes and were never headed. DePaul piled up a 35-31 halftime advantage and scored 20 points in the first seven minutes of the second half, going in front, 55-39.

John Turner, who matched Thompson's 24 points, began hitting midway in the second half and pulled the Cardinals within 10 points at 55-45. Louisville came within six points at 58-52 and 70-64 when Sawyer scored a three-pointer. However, the Cardinals were forced to press and fouled continuously in the closing minutes while DePaul kept adding to its advantage at the free throw line.

Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves batted only .292 last season after a .355 campaign in 1959, but in 1960 he led the National League with 126 runs batted in.

ISD Tigers Lose In Consolation Contest, 68-56

LOUISIANA, Mo.—The Illinois School for the Deaf Tigers had one of their biggest point producing outputs of the year, but couldn't match the pace of the final quarter, and lost to Winfield, 68-56. The Tigers had their biggest quarter of the year as they matched Winfield's 20 points in the initial frame and trailed by only four at the end of three periods but were outscored 20-12 in the final eight straight defeat in the consolation minutes and suffered their ninth game of the Louisiana Invitational tournament. Bobby Poncar collected a personal high for the season with 23 points while Hammack and Joyner chipped in with 13 and 12. Hobbs led the winner's balanced scoring with 19 points.

ERASE KONRAD MARK

SYDNEY (AP)—One of the fabulous John Konrad's swimming records was erased Saturday when Peter Phelps won the junior 110-yard freestyle in 57.6 seconds. The time bettered Konrad's Australian record by two-tenths on a second.

Neville Hayes, silver medal winner in Rome, was timed at 2:17.3 for the 220-yard butterfly. He set the world mark at 2:17.5 last June but it since has been bettered.

The Cleveland Browns led National Football League teams in scoring last season. They made 362 points in 12 league games.

Blueboys Win Over Blackburn, 57-50

CARLINVILLE—The Illinois College Blueboys broke a seven game losing streak and picked up an important Prairie College Conference victory as they downed the Blackburn Indians, 57-50. Coach Bill Merris' Blueboys led all the way and built up an 18 point lead in the first half and then hung on to garner the win. Bill Schildman topped all scorers with 21 points and received a big boost on the boards from Wendell Duncan who also added 9 markers. Kaisner and Hughes led the Blackburn scoring with 10 points each. IC outscored the Indians by only one field goal, but collected 11 charity tosses to the losers 6. The Blueboys now sport a 3-7 mark, and Blackburn is 3-8.

Mac Murray Too Strong For Kansas City, 84-68

The MacMurray College Highlanders took an 84-68 victory from an overmatched Kansas City University five Saturday night at MacMurray's Hardin Avenue fieldhouse.

With balanced scoring again the MacMurray by-word, the clansmen moved to an eleven point lead early in the first half, 22-11. Coach Bill Wall made liberal use of his reserves throughout most of the half, and led 43-31 at the break.

The regulars returned to action again at the start of the second frame, and after six minutes had stretched the Highlander lead to 21 points, 58-37. With seventeen men seeing action, and eleven of them scoring, MacMurray coasted through the rest of the game to an easy 84-68 decision.

Gary Little and Larry Krulac shared scoring honors for the Highlanders with 13 counters apiece, but relinquished game honors to Jim Osborn of Kansas City University, who dropped in 20 points.

The Highlanders hit 36 of 87 field attempts for 42.5%, and the Kansas City cagers sank 25 of 62 attempts for a 40% average. MacMurray counted 12 of 17 charity attempts for 70.6%, and Kansas City sank 18 of 30 for 60%.

MacMurray now holds a 10-4 record, while the Kangaroos of Kansas have won only two of 15 starts.

Coach Neil Williams' Junior Clansmen edged John's D-X of the Springfield Municipal League 67-60 in a preliminary contest to Saturday's game. Tom Jones was high man for MacMurray with 26 points, while Mortia led the Springfieldian cause with 23 counters. Friday night the MacMurray freshmen defeated the frosh of Monmouth College, 80-67, as Jones and Dick Nelson led the MacMurray cause, hitting 15 and 14 points, respectively.

The Highlanders' next game will be at home, Saturday, Jan. 21, against a tough Lewis College five.

Hagge Maintains Sea Island Lead

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP) —Tiny Marlene Hagge continued her drive to regain the women's golf throne Saturday, shooting a 79 that kept her two strokes ahead in the Sea Island Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Under sunny skies replacing first-day rain, Kathy Cornelius, Springfield, Ohio, and Louise Suggs, Atlanta, pulled into a second place tie after 36 holes of the 54-hole medal play contest.

Both fired the day's best golf, five-over-par 77s. This gave them a two-day total of 153 while Mrs. Hagge had 151.

Defending champion Mickey Wright of Dallas, Texas, stumbled on the 16th hole and slumped to an 82 and 157 total, probably too far to be considered a threat.

The $6,000 tournament will be wrapped up Sunday over the 6,250-yard Sea Island course.

Prove It Wins $50,000 Stakes

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) —Prove It, the latest sensation out of the stable that produced Swaps, held up under a driving finish by Tompion and won the $50,000-added San Fernando Stakes at Santa Anita Saturday.

Prove It, making only the eighth start of his career, came into the stretch in the 1⅛-mile event with a lead of about three-quarters of a length over Prince Blessed. Tompion, several lengths behind, went to the outside and began moving up.

Tompion was almost head-and-head with the leader approaching the wire but Willie Shoemaker—who used to ride Swaps for owner Rex Ellsworth kept the newcomer on top.

The time was 1:47 3-5.

Prince Blessed held on in the driving finish for third money.

Prove It, the popular betting choice, paid $5.00, 3.00 and 2.20. Tompion returned $2.80 and 2.40 and Prince Blessed paid $4.20.

WHEN NOT TO SPAR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)— Escarreza Martin, 32, of Tucson learned the hard way that there is a big difference between amateur and professional boxing.

Martin suggested to Ismal Marigo, 27-year-old ex-fighter, that they put on the gloves and spar a little. Marigo landed one blow.

Martin was treated at a Tucson hospital for a broken jaw.

Kansas State Whips Oklahoma

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)— Kansas State's Wildcats, with Larry Comley scoring 21 points, spurted in the late stages to defeat the Oklahoma Sooners 69-57 in a Big Eight basketball game Saturday night.

It was the second Big Eight victory for the No. 9 nationally ranked K-State Wildcats who brought their season record to 11-2. It was Oklahoma's second conference loss and their fifth against eight victories for the campaign.

Oklahoma led 22-21 after a slow first half in which neither team could find the range. K-State had stretches of five and six minutes without scoring in that period.

Brian Etheridge was Oklahoma's leading scorer with 15 points.

Lucas Leads Buckeyes To Easy Victory, 79-45

EVANTON, Ill. (AP) — Undefeated Ohio State, led by All-America Jerry Lucas, swamped Northwestern 79-45 Saturday in a Big Ten basketball scramble and ran its victory string to 17 games over a two-season span.

Lucas scored his team's first eight points and finished up with 30 points as Coach Fred Taylor took out his 6-8 star with four minutes to play. The victory was the 12th straight for the Buckeyes this season.

The top-ranked Buckeyes were somewhat hampered in the first half by Northwestern's slow-down tactics but managed to take a 31-17 halftime lead.

Larry Siegfried scored 14 points for the Buckeyes and Mel Nowell finished with 13. Ralph Wells was Northwestern's leading scorer with 13 points.

Illinois Leads All The Way In Win Over Michigan

Van Brocklin Makes His Final Appearance

Eagle Quarterback Ends Player Career In Pro-Bowl Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, one of the passing sensations of a passing generation, makes his final appearance as an active player Sunday in the 11th annual pro bowl football game.

And, as the Coliseum clock turns, time also will be running out for Buck Shaw, the man who coached Van Brocklin and the Philadelphia Eagles to the 1960 National Football League championship. Shaw and Van Brocklin both are retiring.

The odds say Van Brocklin and Shaw will retire as losers—but only by a whisker. The Western Conference All-Stars, coached by Vince Lombardi of Green Bay, have been favored by one to three points over Shaw's East squad.

Kickoff is at 1 p.m. (Pacific Standard Time) and the game will be televised nationally by NBC. There will be the usual local blackout.

A turnout of 60,000 or more is anticipated.

Van Brocklin brought along several of his favorite passing targets from Philadelphia — flanker Tommy McDonald and ends Pete Retzlaff and Bobb Walston.

For its running game, the East will call on Cleveland's Jim Brown — four-time NFL rushing leader—plus John David Crow of St. Louis and Bobby Mitchell of Cleveland.

Quarterback Johnny Unitas of Baltimore, the player of the game last year (when the West won 38-21), will run Lombardi's club. In the backfield with Unitas will be Jon Arnett of Los Angeles, Lenny Moore of Baltimore and Jim Taylor of Green Bay.

If the issue is not settled in four quarters, there will be a sudden-death overtime.

Rules Committee Still Stymied

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association Football Rules Committee, after two days of wrestling with the problem without the semblance of a fall, still was stymied Saturday night by the substitution rule.

The meeting was adjourned at noon to allow various sub-committees to huddle over their assigned questions, and will reconvene Sunday morning. General Robert R. Neyland of Tennessee, committee chairman, said he hoped Sunday's session would see everything cleared up.

"We haven't taken a final vote on any proposed rule change," Neyland said. "The sub-committee on the substitution rule has been instructed to come in with some definite recommendation tomorrow.

"We spent most of the morning debating the advisability of putting coaches on the honor system in recording substitutions to avoid delays. However, I might mention that in the Southeastern Conference the games this past fall were five minutes shorter under the present rule than they were in previous years."

The one concrete action taken to date was the decision to pass a resolution requesting the NCAA to appoint a committee to work with manufacturers in the development of safer equipment, and to report back to the rules committee next year so specific legislation could be passed.

Dick Brown, new catcher for the Detroit Tigers, hit 24 home runs for Mobile in the Southern Assn. in 1956. He hit three in 1960 with the White Sox and 13 with Miami, Fla.

AFL Invites NFL To Play True Playoff Contest

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The year old American Football League Saturday invited the National Football League to participate in a "true world championship game" matching their 1961 champions.

"This annual game would, from the beginning, be the showpiece of all football games in America," said Joe Foss, AFL commissioner.

The AFL's invitation was extended in a telegram Foss sent to Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner. AFL club owners had concluded a three-day winter meeting by unanimously approving the proposal.

In the telegram to Rozelle, Foss said: "We feel that the country's millions of fans deserve a true world series game."

Foss said executives of his young league believe such a playoff would be the climax for the professional football season and is a necessary reward for loyal fans of both leagues.

AFL Owners Ready To Okay San Diego Move

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — American Football League owners believe the indicated transfer of the Los Angeles Chargers would give San Diego the biggest bargain in pro football.

League officials ended their three-day winter meeting Saturday without acting on the proposed transfer but left no doubt that a formal request from Barron Hilton, the Charger owner, would receive quick and enthusiastic approval.

The general opinion was that San Diego has a good chance of obtaining the 1961 championship team.

The Chargers were Western division champions the league's first year and are rapidly becoming the top favorite for next fall.

The Chargers are strengthening themselves tremendously. Some of the names have not been announced but Charger officials say they have signed 8 of their first 11 draft choices, easily the best showing of any AFL team.

The proposed transfer to San Diego developed after the Chargers were defeated 24-16 by the Houston Oilers Jan. 1 in the first AFL championship game.

Hilton, with a 1960 deficit estimate at $900,000, did not attend the Houston meeting but has indicated a willingness to move his team to San Diego.

CARDS SIGN 6TH DRAFT CHOICE

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League said Saturday they have signed their sixth draft choice, defensive halfback Dale Evans of Kansas State.

The 6-foot-3, 210 - pound native of St. Frances, Kan., caught 40 passes good for 429 yards and 4 touchdowns in the last two seasons and intercepted 4 passes on defense. He is 21.

Evans, like tackle Roland McDole of Nebraska, the Cards fourth draft pick who was signed Friday, played in the Blue-Gray and Senior Bowl games.

EQUALS DASH RECORD

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) —Al Washington, a speedy Northern Michigan freshman, equalled the fastest 60-yard dash ever run Saturday with a six-seconds flat clocking in a dual meet with Central Michigan.

Washington was clocked by three of five timers with hitting the tape in :06.0 and credited with equalling the indoor record time in winning the event.

The first :06.0 clocking in the 60 was recorded by Northwestern's Jim Golliday at Madison, Wis., Feb. 25, 1956.

ATTEMPTED FIX BACKFIRES

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An attempt was made to fix a race at Tropical Park by stuffing a sponge in the nostril of a horse, Chief Steward William Almy Jr., reported Saturday.

The horse, Ballylo, snorted and blew out the sponge during the parade to the post for Friday's third race, Almy said.

An outrider picked up the sponge and turned it over to the track veterinarian, Dr. E. D. Clawson, who examined Ballylo and other horses before permitting the race. Almy said the case was under investigation by track police.

154 Prep Teams Entered In State Wrestling Meet

CHICAGO (AP) — An all-time high of 154 downstate and Chicago area schools Saturday were entered in the state high school wrestling tournament which opens with 14 district meets Feb. 9-11.

Winners of the first four places in each weight class will advance to sectional competition Feb. 17-18 at Blue Island, Normal, Oak Park, Palatine, Peoria (Woodruff), Waukegan and Wood River.

The winner and runner-up of each weight in the sectional will qualify for the finals at the University of Illinois Feb. 24-25.

The field of 154 schools is an increase of 20 over last year.

"Ten years ago, only 53 schools were entered," said Al Willis, executive secretary of the Illinois High School Assn. "The increase proves that wrestling is the most rapidly growing sport in the high school athletic program."

Purdue Survives Behind Dischinger

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Purdue's Boilermakers, buoyed by Terry Dischinger's second half scoring, survived a pell-mell finish by Minnesota in the final minute for a 65-64 Big Ten basketball victory Saturday.

A 20-foot jump shot by Bob Griggas a split-second before the final buzzer hit the rim and caromed away, carrying with it Minnesota's final hope for an upset victory.

Dischinger, the Big Ten scoring king a year ago, broke loose down the stretch after an uncomfortable first half and finished with 29 points. Griggas led the losers with 18 points.

Seven straight points by Dischinger early in the second half thrust Purdue into a 45-39 advantage. The sniping of Griggas, Norm Grow and Dick Erickson kept Minnesota within striking distance until, with 65 seconds remaining, Paul Lehman popped in two free throws and Purdue led 65-64.

Lehman came within inches of shooting the Gophers in front with a half minute left on a tap-in, and the Gophers got a last-gasp shot a few moments later on Griggas' one-hander that just missed.

Rockford East Toppled From Ranks Of Unbeaten

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Rockford East—the No. 2 rated team in the state—was toppled from the ranks of the undefeated by Aurora East in Illinois prep basketball action Friday night.

Other top-ranked teams, including Collinsville, Prospect and Clinton, scored impressive victories and remained unbeaten.

Aurora East ended Rockford East's 11-game winning streak with a 47-42 upset on the Rockford school's home court. The triumph was only Aurora East's fifth in 11 starts.

Collinsville, the No. 1 ranked team in the Associated Press poll, chalked up its 13th victory, steamrolling over Wood River 90-50.

Fourth-rated Prospect hammered Elmwood Park 74-39 for its 15th victory and fifth-place Clinton downed Decatur Eisenhower 74-57 for its 12th triumph.

Centralia, the No. 3 team, turned back Mount Vernon 44-36. It was the Orphans' 13th victory against a single defeat.

Mattoon threw a scare into the Springfield Senators before dropping a 48-46 decision. The Senators, rated seventh, return to their home court Saturday night to entertain Bloomington.

Eighth-ranked Peoria Manual turned in its 12th victory against one setback, defeating crosstown rival East Peoria 80-61.

Chicago Marshall's Commandos, rated ninth, now boast a 14-2 record.

Moline, the No. 10 team, added another Iowa school to its list of victims, edging Clinton 56-52.

Pinckneyville's Panthers downed Anna-Jonesboro 65-47 for their ninth victory in 11 starts. The 11th-ranked Panthers play Carbondale tonight.

Chicago Carver turned in its 15th triumph, walloping Hirsch 96-50. Carver, rated 13th, has lost only one game, to Marshall.

Litchfield, ranked 15th rolled over Hillsboro 73-52 and 16th-ranked Sterling defeated Ottawa 54-51.

In other games, Carrier Mills stunned Sesser 100-35, Edwardsville defeated East St. Louis 59-56, Stephen Decatur clipped Danville 65-64, Fairfield edged Mount Carmel 71-69, Murphysboro defeated Du Quoin 80-70 and Waukegan turned back Niles 58-40.

LOOKING FOR FRIDAY'S SCORES?

Coach Bob Winstead wasn't looking for Friday night's basketball scores which may be found on page nine in Section II of Sunday's Journal but was looking for a way to beat Triopia Friday night as he outlined his strategy to his Routt Rockets. The chalk talk worked as the Rockets came up with an exciting victory over the Trojans, 52-49, in PMSC Conference action.

Insko, Bye Bye Byrd To Be Honored Saturday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Delmar Insko, the nation's leading dash winning driver of 1960, and Bye Bye Byrd, harness racing's all-time money - earning champion, will be honored on Saturday, Jan. 21, when the annual U. S. Trotting Association District Five meeting is held in Springfield's St. Nicholas hotel.

Insko, from South Beloit, Ill., led the driving derby with 156 victories, dethroning William (Bud) Gilmour of Hamburg, N. Y., who had the title in 1959.

Illinois horsemen have given a landslide of support to Bye Bye Byrd, owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Larkin of Chicago, in balloting for Illinois' Harness Horse of the Year. This is the second straight crown for the great pacer, who won three heats, each in less than 2:00 clocking for the mile, in one afternoon at the Illinois State Fair last summer.

K. R. Ward of Bloomington is unopposed for re-election to the national Board of Directors of the USTA and will be installed for his fourth consecutive 3-year term.

More than 500 horsemen and guests from Illinois and Iowa, the two states composing the USTA's District Five, are expected for the afternoon business session and the evening banquet meeting, including Illinois Governor Otto Kerner who will make the presentation to Insko.

Paul Powell, speaker of the House of Representatives, will present the award to Bye Bye Byrd's owners and a host of other national and state dignitaries are expected to attend the gala evening banquet.

In the classy lineup of entertainment will be Joe Schriner, fast talking comedian now appearing at the Hotel Jefferson in St. Louis, and the Salty Dogs, a Dixieland swing band from Purdue University. The annual USTA movie production of the Hambletonian and Little Brown Jug harness racing classics will close out the program, and those who witnessed the thrill-packed Hambletonian at Du Quoin last August can relive those memorable moments and again see Blaze Hanover winning harness racing's top honor. Bullet Hanover's world record exploits at Delaware, O., also will share attention.

The five Illinois county fair colt racing associations also will make their annual awards for the 1960 campaign during the USTA business session.

VEECK DENIES REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—President Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox flatly denied a published report Saturday that he and several Chicago associates have bought the Oakland, Calif., American Football League franchise.

The Chicago Tribune and Chicago's American said Veeck and the group paid a reported $175,000 for the professional club and would move it to Comiskey Park, home of the Sox.

"We would like to have a tenant for Comiskey Park in the off season but I wouldn't go as far as buying Oakland to get one," said Veeck.

Noble I Win, a two-year-old pacer owned by George Winters, Jr., of Carrollton and Dr. C. A. Henley of Jacksonville, will be honored by the Mid Western Illinois Racing Association.

FRACTURED FOULS

Schoendienst Will Turn Down Angels' Offer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Second baseman Red Schoendienst, cut loose by the Milwaukee Braves last year, Saturday said he would turn down a 1961 contract offer from the American League's infant Los Angeles Angels.

Schoendienst said he would rather stay with the St. Louis Cardinals, even if it has to be in a utility role. Redbird General Manager Bing Devine said Schoendienst has not been signed, but was emphatic about wanting Red, if he is still physically sound. Schoendienst was stricken with tuberculosis in 1958, sat out the 1959 season, then got off to a slow start and was used sparingly by Manager Charlie Dressen at Milwaukee last year.

East Favored In NBA All-Star Game Tuesday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Skyscrapers Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell and ball-hawking Bob Cousy make the East the favorite over a formidable West team in Tuesday's National Basketball Association All-Star game.

An expected capacity crowd of 7,500 in the War Memorial Auditorium will watch this 11th annual game that puts the best basketball players in the world on one court. The East has won seven of the 10 games, including a 125-115 victory a year ago at Philadelphia.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Jerry West of Los Angeles, the top draft choices, add a touch of flavor to the West this time.

Robertson joins Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, Bob Pettit and Clyde Lovellette of the St. Louis Hawks and Gene Shue of the Detroit Pistons on the West's starting unit.

The 7-1 Chamberlain and Boston's Cousy lead an East array that includes Dolph Schayes of Syracuse, Tom Heinsohn of Boston and Richie Guerin of New York.

Writers and broadcasters on the NBA circuit, who picked the first teams, chose Chamberlain over Boston's Russell at center.

North Carolina Whips Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) —North Carolina's seventh-ranked basketball team cracked Virginia's zone defense early in the second half here Saturday and walloped the Cavaliers 92-70 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

The poised Tar Heels got 28 points from York Larese and 24 from Doug Moe in the regionally televised game while boosting their season's record to 10-2 and remaining unbeaten in three conference starts.

Virginia pulled away to a nine-point lead, at 30-21, after eight minutes of the first half but didn't have the scoring balance or the height to stay in front. The Tar Heels spurted in front 40-37 at intermission with Larese and Jim Hudock carrying the scoring load.

Tony Laquintano and little Jack Hasbrouck each pitched in 24 points for Virginia.

Michigan State's 1960 soccer team scored 58 goals while holding rivals to nine goals in nine games.

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Laverne Blue led LaSalle-Peru Oglesby junior college to an 80-79 win over Canton junior college Tuesday night. He played on Gil Love's state tourney team last season from Ottawa. Jack Dowell, former Canton high center, led the Crusaders with 20 points and Bill Ellsworth, former Virginia high cager, scored 17 points for Canton. Bill married a Canton girl last month and the Dowells have twin daughters one year of age.

It isn't very often that a high school gets a gymnasium as a gift but Canton high received the following letter dated April 1, 1929—To the Honorable Board of Education Canton Union School District, Canton, Illinois, Gentlemen: As an expression of the very kind feeling which I have for Canton, the city of my birth and continuous residence, I desire, with the view to perpetuating my memory in the minds of the people of Canton, to construct and donate to the Canton Union School District, a building to be known as the "Alice Ingersoll Gymnasium."

I have caused to be prepared a profile and preliminary set of plans of the gymnasium which I have in mind which are submitted herewith for your consideration with the understanding that I reserve the right to make such modifications and changes in the same as may, in my opinion, or in the opinion of my architect, be beneficial in the construction of the gymnasium herein referred to.

It is my desire to commence the construction of the gymnasium in the immediate future on a suitable site to be furnished by the Board of Education of the Canton Union School District in order that the same may be fully completed by the time school convenes this fall.

After giving due consideration to the foregoing proposition, I will be pleased to have the Board of Education officially accept the same.

Believe me to be
Yours very truly,
(Signed) ALICE C. INGERSOLL

This announcement was received with great rejoicing, especially on the part of the student body. The immediate impulse was to pay homage to our benefactor but with extreme modesty she had taken care to be absent on this occasion. Mrs. Ingersoll was a former pupil in the public schools of Canton and this fact brings her closer to the hearts of the student body. It is with deep gratitude which will not be dimmed but will increase in brilliancy as this gift is put into service that the student body pays an undying tribute to you, Mrs. Ingersoll.

The plans for the gymnasium contemplated the erection of a steel, brick and concrete building having a seating capacity of approximately three thousand people. While the gymnasium is intended primarily by the donor for the use of the public schools for entertainments, commencement exercises, basketball exhibitions, athletic contests and other similar school activities, it is expected that, subject to such rules as may be adopted by the Board of Education regulating its use, the field house will be available for other public gatherings of the community.

Wardell Faulkner played his last game Friday night for Peoria Manual against East Peoria. Saturday was his 19th birthday and under Illinois High School Association regulations he loses his eligibility. Coach John Wilkinson has been developing Ron Newton as a replacement for the speedy Faulkner. The Rams of Manual high lose 6-5 forward Eddie Jackson for the same reason after the sectional tourney and he will not get to play in the super-sectional at Bradley's field house.

The feature attraction Saturday night was Peoria Richwoods playing at Canton in a battle that went a long way toward deciding the Illini conference championship. Richwoods, Canton and Galesburg were tied before the game with 2-0 marks.

12 HALL OF FAME

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Six coaches and six players were named Saturday as the 1961 selections for the Helms Foundation College Basketball Hall of Fame.

Voted in by a board of Los Angeles sports writers were players Louis Berger, Maryland; Lewis Castle, Syracuse; Ernest Houghton, Union College, New York; Ed Krause, Notre Dame; Arnold Oss, Minnesota, and Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati.

The coaches chosen are Harold Anderson, Bowling Green; John W. Bunn, Colorado State College; Louis Cooke, Minnesota; Bruce Drake, Wichita; Pete Newell, California, and Alex Severance, Villanova.

Four Illini Players Hit In Double Figures To Gain 88-64 Victory

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — With four players hitting in double figures, Illinois led all the way Saturday in defeating Michigan 88-64 in a Big Ten basketball game.

Dave Downey topped the Illini with 24 points, getting 15 of them before intermission as his team wheeled into a 44-23 lead. Other main scorers were Jerry Colangelo with 18, Bill Small with 17 and Bill Burwell 11.

Michigan never came within 19 points of closing the gap in the second half despite the sharp-shooting of John Tidwell. He made 24 points in all, 18 in the last half and 12 of these in the opening 10 minutes after intermission.

Illinois, running its conference mark to 1-1, made good on 36 of 67 floor shots for a .537 per centage and out-rebounded the Wolverines 48-34. Michigan, losing its third straight Big Ten game, made 28 baskets in 83 attempts for .337 and hit only .278 in the first half.

Close Victory For Phillips In Atlantic Finals

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Doris Phillips of Belleville, Ill., rallied from a 6-gole deficit after the morning round to win a one-up victory Saturday in the 36-hole final of the Women's South Atlantic Golf Tournament.

Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., who dominated the first 18 holes, faltered in the afternoon and saw her 24-year-old competitor pull even for the first time on the 26th hole.

One down going on to the 36th, Miss Burns lost her chance to keep the match alive when she three-putted on the last green and like her companion took a bogey 5.

Miss Phillips was bothered with her putting on the morning round. "I thought I would never sink a putt," she said. In the afternoon she said, "I just played boldly; I was always shooting for the pin."

Miss Phillips went into the lead for the first time on the 27th hole when Miss Burns missed the green, was long on her chip shot, had trouble with her putting and ended with a bogey 5.

Miss Burns rallied on the next three holes and went out front with a two-up margin on the 30th over the oceanfront 6,120-yard Ellinor Village Country Club course.

Miss Phillips' chipping game suddenly started clicking, and she pulled even again on the 34th where she sank a 3½-foot birdie 4 putt.

On the 35th, Miss Burns needed three putts to get down, missing an 18-inch shot after Miss Phillips had dropped a three-footer to go one up.

Harness Association Approves Large Purses

CHICAGO (AP)—The Harness Trotting Association approved more than $200,000 in purses Saturday for two series of harness races this year.

The list of purses includes a $10,000 purse for a race at Maywood Park near Chicago May 26 during the spring series of races for pacers.

Finalists in the spring pacing series will meet for a $50,000 purse at the Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N.Y.

Finalists in the fall series for trotters will compete at Yonkers Raceway, Yonkers, N.Y., for a $50,000 purse.

Last year's winner among pacers was Adios Butler, while Air Record took top honors among trotters at Roosevelt Raceway.

The 1961 races again will be limited to 4-year-olds.

Besides the Maywood purse, the spring series will include the following purses:

Buffalo Raceway, Buffalo, N.Y., May 6, $10,000; Rosecraft Raceway, Oxon Hill, Md., May 13, $7,500; Lebanon Raceway, Lebanon, Ohio, May 20, $5,000; Hazel Park, Detroit, Mich., June 3, $10,000; Scioto Downs, Columbus, Ohio, June 10, $6,000; Hamilton Raceway, Hamilton, Ohio, June 17, $5,000 and Roosevelt Raceway, June 24, $50,000.

Trotters are booked for the following races:

Brandywine Raceway, Wilmington, Del., July 15, $10,000; Northville Downs, Northville, Mich., July 22, $10,000; Mid-America Racing Association at Scioto Downs, Columbus, Ohio, July 29, $6,000; Blue Bonnets Raceway, Montreal, Canada, Aug. 5, $10,000; Monticello Raceway, Monticello, N.Y., Aug. 12, $10,000; Batavia Downs, Batavia, N.Y., Aug. 19, $10,000; and Yonkers Raceway, Sept. 14, $30,000

3 Enter Mayor Race On Republican Side; Tight Race In Fourth

Three Republicans and one Democrat filed petitions for the office of Mayor of the City of Jacksonville as of 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the extended deadline for filing for city office. Retiring City Clerk John R. Phillips extended the noon deadline until 5 p.m. yesterday. Phillips said he determined to interpret the deadline of normal closing time to mean 5 p.m. since Saturday was an exception rather than the "normal" closing time.

All Republican slots on the ballot were filled by noon; Democrats still lack two candidates to fill the primary ballot.

Three For Mayor

Crit Haneline, businessman; James E. Cruse, law school graduate and businessman; and Raymond S. Watson, production superintendent at Anderson, Clayton Foods Product Co., are the three candidates whose names will appear on the Republican primary ballot for mayor.

Watson was the last of the three to file for office; Haneline was the first and Cruse announced for the office in a newspaper advertisement.

Watson told newsmen upon filing his petition Saturday that "I am taking this step at the urging of numerous citizens and businessmen. I am deeply interested in Jacksonville and believe that harmony at city hall can and should be of first importance. As the campaign progresses I expect to make my position known on all matters of importance to the people of Jacksonville."

Incumbent Democrat Mayor Robert A. DuBois filed his petition for re-election Saturday morning after "repeated urging by a large segment of the community."

Race for Alderman

Jacksonville's fourth ward will be the scene of a sharply contested battle for a seat on the city council. Two Republicans and two Democrats will battle for their respective party's nomination. Incumbent Wilbur G. DeFrates and Rev. Ernest E. Thompson will seek the Republican nomination and Rex H. Wynn and Arthur E. Beemer will seek the Democrat nomination.

State Nearly Full

Primary voters will have a full slate of candidates with the exception of Democrat choices for city clerk and alderman in the 5th ward. Democrat Party Whip Bill G. Colburn said Saturday noon that he expects a "full slate" for the general election in April following a "write-in" campaign in the primary.

Both Colburn and Republican Whip State Representative Harris Rowe indicated they were "well satisfied" with the slate of candidates to be decided by voters on February 28.

Complete Listing

Complete listing of all candidates for city offices follows. Last day for withdrawal is Thursday, January 19.

FIND VESPA CAR WAS NOT STOLEN

The police department announced yesterday that investigation has revealed that a Vespa car reported to have been stolen Thursday night from a parking lot at the Arthalony Garage, 1010 North Main street, was not really stolen, at all.

Officers learned that a Quincy company repossessed the car, belonging to a Beardstown resident, and sent a tow car for it.

GREASE CATCHES FIRE

Jacksonville firemen were called to the home of John A. Smith, rural route one, about 6:15 p.m. Saturday to extinguish a fire in a stove. Grease in an oven had ignited. Firemen extinguished the flames with water. Smoke damage was reported as a result of the fire.

Americans smoke 439 billion cigarettes a year. The total is expected to be 545 billion by 1965.

Elliott State Bank Promotes Officials; Three New Directors

Announcement of a record high in total resources, the election of three new directors and promotion of four staff members highlighted the 94th annual meeting of directors and stockholders of Elliott State Bank held Saturday evening, January 14, in the board room of the bank.

James C. Coultas, formerly a vice president, was named executive vice president of the bank. Gilbert H. Todd and Wayne C. Wood were promoted from assistant cashier to assistant vice president, and Russell Davisson was named assistant manager of the Installment Loan Department.

Elected to the board of directors were James R. Duewer, vice president and trust officer; Rollyn B. Trotter, vice president and cashier; and Mr. Coultas.

Retires From Board

Frank R. Elliott, a director of Elliott State Bank since January 8, 1907, and former president of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, announced his retirement from the board of directors and was elected to the senior advisory board.

A native of Jacksonville and a graduate of Illinois College, Mr. Coultas joined the bank staff in 1946. He has worked in virtually every department of the bank and has been manager of the Installment Loan department since 1949. He will be succeeded as head of the department by Wayne C. Wood. Mr. Wood was made an officer of the bank in 1954 and has been engaged in installment financing over twenty years. Russell Davisson, newly appointed assistant manager of the Installment Loan Department, has been assigned to that department since joining the bank staff in June 1957.

Gilbert H. Todd joined the staff of Elliott State Bank in 1949, and was elected assistant cashier in 1956.

Resources At New High

F. Osborne Elliott, president, announced that resources on December 31, 1960, totaled $20,483,896, setting a new year-end record for the bank. Loans outstanding and total deposits also established new year-end records.

The following directors were re-elected to the board: Walter Bellatti, F. Osborne Elliott, William B. Elliott, William A. Fay, Hugh Gibson, Chester A. Hemphill, Herbert W. Keadey, Dr. F. Garm Norbury, Theodore C. Rammelkamp and Maurice F. Walsh. Charles A. Johnson and Dr. Frank A. Norris were re-elected to the senior advisory board.

Officers re-elected are as follows: F. Osborne Elliott, President; James R. Duewer, Vice President and Trust Officer; Rollyn B. Trotter, Vice President and Cashier; Edwin H. Garlich, Assistant Vice President; Dorothy M. Crabtree, Assistant Cashier; G. Wayne Foote, Auditor.

Editorial Comment

Can He Give The 'Personal Touch'?

World War II led many men, experts and amateurs alike, to conclude that great wars are essentially unmanageable affairs. More than a few observers think the time may not be far off when the national government falls in the same category.

Big wars, once under way, tend to take on a shape and direction all their own, neither intended or foreseen by those who began them. There are too many elements, too many unpredictables, too many loose ends, for precise human control of events.

At its worst, the huge federal establishment of a nation like the United States is hardly comparable to the planned chaos of war. Yet, more and more as time passes, it becomes a thing of such size and weight and built-in momentum that it seems to defy any man or group of men who would put an individual stamp upon it.

Certainly no realist imagines that government in this country will ever be made small again. A big country and a big government go together.

But its sheer bulk means that it extends and proliferates in ways that even the most diligent leaders cannot necessarily grasp. It operates through countless built-in mechanisms, long since approved by Congress, which compel continuing and often rising expenditures in many fields.

President-elect Kennedy has made it clear he is intent on being a strong president. That means he plans, insofar as he is able, to place his own personal stamp upon the American government in at least the next four years.

If he succeeds, then he will have staved off the day when government is as unmanageable as war. He will have given shape to a glacier that, in this age, few can chip away at.

Will he achieve this purpose? Obviously no one can make even an educated guess at this stage, before he has taken office.

For those who hope that government is still governable, the most promising sign is that Kennedy is bent on using the full political leverage of his office. All strong presidents have done so.

None, however, has had to test his weapons against so immense an establishment as Kennedy inherits Jan. 20.

The dedicated partisans of democracy everywhere will have their eyes fastened keenly on his effort. They will be vastly heartened if he can demonstrate that government on so huge a scale still can be brought within reasonable human control.

Area Of Agreement

The United States and Russia seldom agree on anything, so it is news when Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, denounces flying saucers as "fantastic fairytales." The U.S. Air Force has long held the same view. Now the only task remaining is to convince those little green men. . . .

It Costs Money

State legislatures worked full blast last year passing laws that brought in an additional two billion dollars in tax revenues over 1959. According to Commerce Clearing House, collections of the 50 states reached an all-time high of 18 billion dollars—$101.72 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Income taxes in the states that have them yielded 3.4 billion dollars. Sales taxes brought in 4.3 billion. Gasoline taxes rose to 3.3 billion.

Something Needs Doing

Drunk drivers often are alcoholics rather than casual drinkers, in the opinion of University of Michigan psychiatrist Dr. Melvin L. Selzer. These unfortunates, unable to stop drinking unaided, are a challenge to law enforcement agencies, he says.

But too often, public hostility, failure to recognize alcoholics and lack of adequate treatment facilities only aggravate the problem. Dr. Selzer favors compulsory medical treatment for offenders.

Dollars And Sense

Twenty-seven states and the District of Columbia currently have in effect "safe driver insurance plans" whereby drivers with accident-free records are given discounts and bad drivers are penalized with higher premiums.

First introduced by insurance companies in California in 1959, the plans have been enthusiastically received by motorists. More important than any money savings for individuals is that the idea is one of the best incentives yet devised for safe driving.

Two Editors Share Honor as Champion Seers in 1960 Poll

By PETER EDSON
Written For NEA

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Now that it's official John F. Kennedy won the U. S. presidency with 303 electoral votes, it can finally be reported that there are two U. S. newspaper editors who came within one vote of predicting the outcome correctly.

They are Joe Caraher, publisher of the Kalispell, Mont., Inter Lake with a 302 prediction and Louis A. Eckl of the Florence, Ala., Times and the Sheffield - Tuscambia-Muscle Shoals, Ala., Tri-Cities Daily with a 304 prediction. So they split the honor of being grand champion political seer.

Eight Other Editors who also made written replies to a poll of daily papers receiving this column through Newspaper Enterprise Assn. made predictions of 300 electoral votes for Kennedy.

They would have won if Hawaii's three votes had not switched in the recount. All ten editors are receiving appropriate certificates as master prophets of 1960.

Eckl is a two-time winner in this poll. In 1948 he came closest to predicting that Harry S. Truman would win the presidency with a 304 electoral vote. Eckl's prediction 12 years ago was 300. He was one of only four editors who predicted Truman would win. All the others thought it would be Dewey.

This makes the Alabama editor one of the most astute political oracles in the country. But he confesses he made no precise political analysis, state-by-state, for his forecast.

"There is nothing involved in this but luck," he says. "Any editor can write down a number—if he is not illiterate."

One Of The Interesting Sidelights is that the papers of neither editor supported the Democrats in the campaign.

The Alabama papers, published by the Tri-Cities Publishing Co., in the progressive Tennessee Valley, maintain a politically independent policy in national affairs.

The Kalispell, Mont., Inter Lake supported Nixon for president. "We believe that the Republican platform more closely fits the needs of the country," wrote Caraher. "It needs less government control, confiscatory taxation and inflation. So we will support Nixon and Lodge."

The two editors felt that the election would go Democratic, however, and made their predictions on that basis. This same view was expressed confidently by a number of other editors in this national survey on political trends in 1960.

Fifty-nine per cent of the editors supported Nixon. Only 14 per cent supported Kennedy. The other 27 per cent were neutral.

This is a slight decline from the 1952 and 1956 polls. Eight years ago 68 per cent of the papers supported Eisenhower, 17 per cent Stevenson and 15 per cent were independent. Four years later it was 62 per cent Eisenhower, 19 Stevenson, 19 independent.

This is a 9 per cent drop in Republican editorial support in eight years, a 3 per cent drop in Democratic support and a 12 per cent increase in independent papers. But it still leaves U.S. daily papers better than 4-1 Republican.

Nixon Carried 26 states to Kennedy's 23, with Mississippi going for Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia. Of the 50 states, Kennedy won 14 and Nixon six with less than 52 per cent of the total vote. This is too close to be decisive and it is small wonder that there weren't more prophets accurately predicting the election outcome.

Anyway, with Kennedy's electoral college victory being greater than his state-by-state and popular vote counts, there is more merit for the case of reforming the electoral college before the 1964 election.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Martha Hyer says 1961 so far has been the greatest year of her career.

The reason: "I finally landed a comedy role — and a sympathetic one."

The beautiful blonde is co-starred with Robert Mitchum, Jack Webb and Richard Arlen in "The Last Time I Saw Archie."

Martha has made a fortune playing unsympathetic, cold women.

"You know," she explains, "the society wife who always loses her husband to the floozy with a heart of gold."

Martha says she took several of these roles just to get her career going.

"But it was the old Hollywood story: Once you're cast as the cold woman, producers can't see you any other way."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Wayne has proved himself a real cowboy—even in Africa.

Big Duke is in Arusha, Tanganyika, East Africa, making "Hatari" for Howard Hawks.

He recently roped and caught a fleet wildebeest weighing 450 points. The wildebeest resembles the American Bison but is vicious and as fleet as a deer.

Wayne made the capture from the front of a catching car speeding at up to 65 miles per hour over rough terrain. Strapped to a seat on the front fender, he had the animal subdued in 30 seconds from the time it started to run.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dick Arlen is starting his 41st year in the movies playing a colonel in "The Last Time I Saw Archie."

"I know I'm getting old by the rank they offer me now," he says. "I always was the lieutenant. It took me 20 years to make major. Now I'm colonel, and Bill Wellman really made me remember my age. He called me up the other day and offered me the part of an admiral."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower paints a cheery picture of America. But study groups President-elect John F. Kennedy created to advise him see a lot more needed than Eisenhower accomplished.

The outgoing president, in his last State of the Union message to Congress Thursday, could have offered programs. But incoming Kennedy will do that.

So Eisenhower reviewed America as he sees it and the work of his administration. No doubt he hopes it will also be the verdict of history. He seemed satisfied. At times he spoke glowingly.

The following is the contrast between the views of Eisenhower and the Kennedy groups:

DEFENSE—As usual, Eisenhower defended his handling of this, predicted "the near future will hold such wonders as the orbital flight of an astronaut."

But the Kennedy groups think Russia will beat us with a man into outer space and said this country is lagging behind the Soviets in ballistic missiles and outer space exploration.

THE ECONOMY—in this field Eisenhower was both sunny and glum. He praised America's economic progress, admitted "there is little room for complacency," said the economy is operating at "high levels" but was concerned about unemployment.

But he didn't mention recession. Many economists say the country is in one. The Kennedy group suggested the new president act quickly with a batch of emergency measures to get recovery fast.

Kennedy has put top-priority on still another study group's ideas for helping both unemployment and depressed areas.

HOUSING — Eisenhower seemed to feel pretty good about this field. He said "more houses have been built during the past eight years—over nine million—than during any previous eight years in history."

But Kennedy's study group suggested broad programs to meet housing needs of low-income families, of the elderly, of farmers, of college students, plus broad spending for city planning.

Last December The Associated Press reported: "Housing disappointed in 1960. Demand fell, costs rose, money grew scarce, and fewer homes went up."

EDUCATION — Eisenhower recounted, with apparent pride, what his administration has done in this field. But the Kennedy study group on education thought far more is needed. It proposed a vast program of federal aid to schools, amounting to nearly $2.5 billion yearly.

"Millions of children, particularly in certain rural areas and in the great cities are deprived of an opportunity to develop talents that are needed both for society and for their own lives," it said.

This group called its proposals the minimum for accomplishing the needed "significant uplift" in American education.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND THE AGED—Eisenhower pointed to progress made in Social Security —the broadening of its coverage and new benefits added—and said this about the aged: "New legislation provides for better medical care for the needy aged. The administration recommended a major expansion of this effort."

But the administration's recommendations, while they would provide some help for some, were opposed to linking Social Security to medical care for the aged. This is what Kennedy wants to do.

His study group, not at all satisfied with the Social Security program as it exists, proposed a broad expansion of Social Security, public assistance, unemployment pay, medical education.

FINDING THE WAY

Faith Warms Our Winters

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Written For NEA

If you've ever wanted to go south for the winter, you'll understand this little story. Nils was a young man in Norway about the year 1890, when the salesman from America came to his town and regaled residents with stories of the fabulous world across the seas. Nils had his dreams, so he invested his hard-earned kroner and made plans to come to America—especially to the South.

Nils bade goodby to his native land, to the long, cold winters and the months of night and, since he wanted to come "South," selected South Dakota.

He had no money to go farther, there were people here who could speak his native tongue and so he swallowed his disappointment and stayed. There he married reared his family, achieved some success in life and, in the long winter nights, remembered his old dream.

Now, hale and hearty in his 80s, his married daughters are making it possible for him to spend some remaining winters in a warmer clime.

The story of Nils is one of those frequent sagas of postponed hopes. Interestingly enough, Nils' life has been one of achievement. South Dakota has been good to him. I remember Nils not for his disappointments but because he is a symbol of many of mankind's postponed hopes.

Always just ahead for mankind is the mirage. Then the heartache. The search for world peace, the struggle for racial justice, the dealing with disease and physical suffering, the wrestling with personal temptations—all of these are typical of our dreams. Yet when our hopes are frostbitten and our faith frozen, do we give up?

It is a time to remember John Bunyan locked in Bedford jail for conscience' sake, knowing that his family was suffering. "But yet," he wrote, "I must venture all with God though it goeth to the quick to leave you. Oh, I saw in this condition. I was a man pulling down his house upon the head of his wife and children; yet, thought I, 'I must do it, I must do it.'"

Such was the faith that sustained him through the winter.

Or here is Lajos Ordass, brave Lutheran bishop in Hungary, enduring the icy frustrations of house arrest. Yet he weathers the years, certain that "God who was holy yesterday is holy today."

We had better not lose this quality from our dreams.

We are a nation made great by men who refused to lose hope. Sometimes there were cold disappointments. Yet what they did has brought summer to us. I am glad that Nils has his warm winters now. But it would have been worthwhile even if he had never realized his dream.

For Nils had kept faith in the wintertime.

Your Middle Age Need Not Be One of Worry, Tension

BY MARIE DAERR

What are the big causes of tension in middle age?

The same as in any other time of life—emotional insecurity and threat.

So says Harry Milt, public relations director for the National Association for Mental Health, in a Public Affairs pamphlet entitled "Middle Age—Threat or Promise?"

But, says Milt, you can do something about this, if you start early enough.

"Middle age can be a dead end and it can be filled with tension, bitterness, resentment, frustration and remorse," Milt warns. "But it doesn't have to be.

"It can be a gateway to new meaning in life, to inspiration and creativity, to many years of enjoyable living. It can be, if you are willing to take the trouble to make it that."

Milt recommends community service as a good way to shake what he terms "middle-age blues."

"You have the time," he says. "You have wisdom, experience and maturity. There are dozens of organizations that need you.

"They include the health and safety organizations working to combat killing and crippling diseases and accidents; the civic groups working for the elimination of religious and racial discrimination; the charitable organizations working for the support of hospitals and shelters for the sick and needy; religious organizations and the political party of your choice."

And you still can work for the Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and other youth groups.

Milt also recommends training yourself for a job that may bring you more success and satisfaction than you now have.

In his opinion, the best way to avoid emotional troubles in middle age is to diversify your life.

"Don't let absorption with your main life's work force out all other interests," he advises. "Become involved in activities which will keep you interested and moving after your main life goals are accomplished."

His pamphlet, may be ordered from Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 E. 38th St., New York City 16. Price: 25 cents.

Soupy. Eight new Jewish soups with concentrated richness, yet of moderately low fat content, are now in national distribution. The new products are chicken and vegetables, lima bean, tomato, vegeterian vegetable, bean, tomato rice, lentil and green split pea. In 10½-ounce cans for about 19 cents.

Except for the chicken vegetable, (flavored with dill), all the soups are meatless, therefore "Pareve," meaning they can be used at all meals by those of the Jewish faith. Although strictly kosher and prepared under rabbinical supervision, they are lighter than traditional Jewish soups, more in harmony with modern American tastes, which makes them welcome on non-Jewish tables, as well.

Also two other new soup mixes are on the market. One produces a creamy mushroom soup, the other a delicate chicken rice soup. Prepared by a freeze-dry process, they retain a welcome home-cooked taste. Sold in cartons of two envelopes, each enough to serve from 3 to 4. The two-envelope carton of mushroom sells for about 35 cents; that of chicken rice for about 39 cents.

Cookbook. "If you meet a girl who cooks good soup, marry her." That advice comes from about the most handsome and inspiring super deluxe cookbook of the year, "Holiday Magazine Book of The World's Fine Food." The color photographs alone will inspire any homemaker to new and greater kitchen achievement. The articles, all by noted gourmets, on the great eating spots in all countries of the gourmet world, will turn menu making into a new adventure. Contains 260 pages, 10½ by 13½ inches, of food lore, magic and nostalgia, many recipes any reasonably experienced home cook will enjoy preparing. This is the kind of beautiful book one reads in the living room but uses in the kitchen. Look at it in your local library, or form a group of friends and buy it to use as community property. However, if you have a rich uncle, ask him to give it to you. Published by Simon & Shuster. Price $15.00.

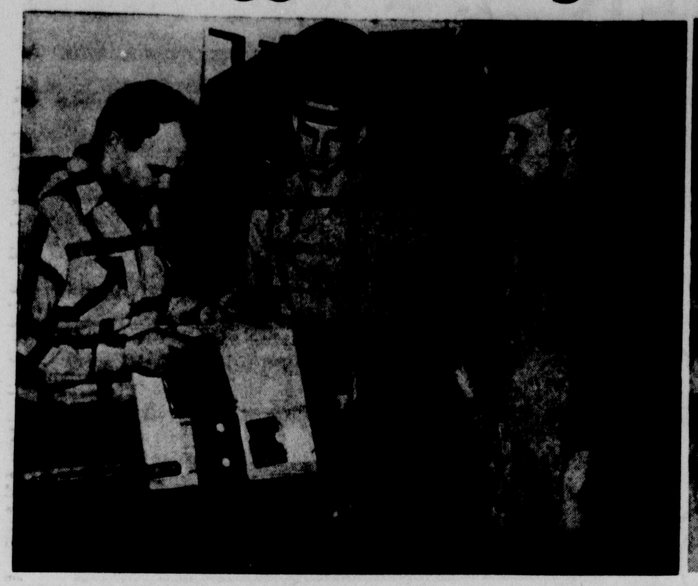
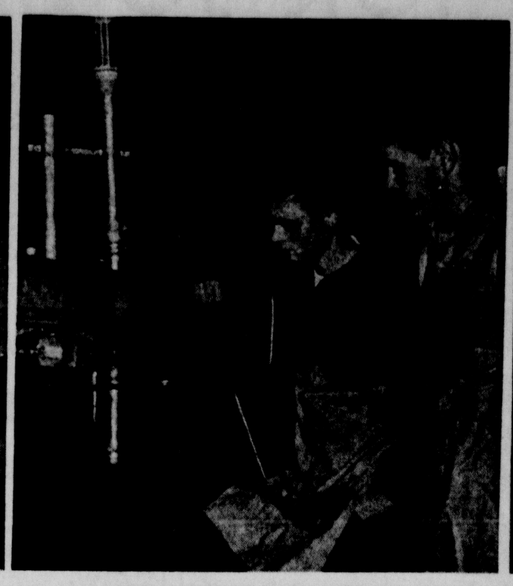
Griggsville High Youths Prepare For Ultra-Machine Age In Agriculture





There are many fewer farmers in America each year—but we eat better.

This holds true particularly in Pike county, where the farm population has been dropping every year for eight decades. But the county is producing more food than ever.

This has come about through greater capitalization, more machines, and better use of those machines. Although you can get an argument about it any place, this is undoubtedly all for the good.

(Newspapers don't like it; they can't sell subscriptions to machines.)

The machines have been developed at a fantastic pace, particularly in the last 10 years. And the outlook suggests even faster changes in the immediate future.

There's a vast difference in the skills required to run a gang plow, and in the efficient operation of a costly, highly complicated piece of equipment like a corn picker sheller or a self-propelled combine.

There's just as much difference in the handling of the harvest. Anyone with a strong back can scoop ear corn into a rail crib, installing and handling crop dryers calls for many skills.

The vocational agriculture departments of our high schools have done much in the development of the skills required by today's agriculture. They have gone far along the road outlined 110 years ago by Jonathan Baldwin Turner of Jacksonville, who was truly an apostle in the field of agricultural education. He pioneered the idea that farmers should receive all possible education, because agriculture is so complex.

His detractors summed up farming as "a way of life."

The photos above show some of the mechanical skills the agriculture students of Griggsville high school are acquiring. Glenn Willard has been the instructor there for the past 11 years.

The first picture shows Willard as he points out "the how to and how not to" in electric welding. The students are David Lightle and Wendell Kurfman.

The second picture shows Cam Brown, Bill Thrasher and Joe Ray Lister working on a magneto.

In the third photo Darold Dehart and Ronnie Goacher stand alongside a gasoline tractor engine that the boys tear down and put back together as a part of their training for farmers of the future, and the fourth photo shows Willard as he explains the complexities of a generator, and how it should be cared for, to Everett Moore, Keith Elledge and Sammy Anthony.

Thirty-six youths of the Griggsville district are now enrolled in vocational agriculture.

Joe Ray Lister is president of the Griggsville chapter, Future Farmers of America. Keith Elledge is vice president; David Lightle, secretary; Bob Barton, treasurer; Wendell Kurfman, reporter; Ronnie Goacher, sentinel.

There are 14 freshman students and the officers of the "Greenhands" are Richard Newman, president; Richard Six, vice president; Melvin Burlend, secretary; Steve Johnson, treasurer; Ernest Turnage, reporter, and Alphie Clostermery, sentinel.

Instructor Willard also leads evening classes for adults each winter.

Last Monday he began a class that is a part of the National Young Farmer Study, which is directed in Illinois by Dr. L. J. Phipps of the U. I. agricultural education department. This study will attempt to accurately determine the progress and efficiency of agricultural education and how it can be improved.

The 14 enrollees in the course will meet for 20 consecutive evening classes. Willard will teach most of the course, with help from specialists in farm management, animal health, farm chemicals and soil conservation.

Ag Industries Forum Draws Wide Interest

URBANA—An idea for a meeting of College of Agriculture staff members and businessmen dealing with farmers and farm products has mushroomed into an annual conference drawing nation-wide interest.

The 1961 University of Illinois Agricultural Industries Forum to be held Jan. 31 to Feb. 1 is the third meeting of this type. Continuance of the event from year to year shows that agricultural college professors and businessmen serving farmers find it worth while to get together to discuss current problems in marketing farm products, and in serving farmers with needed supplies and equipment.

The first forum in 1959 drew about 500 agricultural industry representatives. Last year about 700 participants came from 22 states and Canada to hear and discuss current business problems. Forum chairman E. E. Broadbent believes the 1961 forum will draw interest equal to or greater than that of the past two years.

The program this year will follow much the same pattern as previously. Only the speakers and the topics have been changed.

Leading off the Tuesday morning general session, O. V. Wells administrator of the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service, will speak on "The Economic Environment Confronting Agricultural Industries." William R. Tincher, assistant director of the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Litigation, will discuss the question, "How Much Control of Business by Monopolies and Government Can We Afford and Endure?"

The Tuesday evening general session will feature University President David Dodds Henry, whose subject will be "The University's Role in Agricultural Industries." Irwin A. Cochrun, director of the U. of I. Bureau of Business Management, will talk on "This Business of Wheel Spinning."

On the Wednesday morning general session, Nicholas Nyaradi, director of the Institute of International Studies, Bradley University, will speak on "Competing on a World Market."

The special-interest sessions on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning may be the key to the wide interest in the forum. Those interested in marketing dairy products, grain, livestock, poultry and farm supplies and equipment get together to discuss topics of current interest.

The other leaders of the club are Ward Petefish and Herschel Beiser.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

SHOULD WE ABOLISH CROP ESTIMATES, MARKET FORECASTS?

This is the big season for farm outlook statements— forecasts of production, marketings and prices. Many farmers find this information to be interesting and useful for planning their farming operations. Other farmers believe that the publishing of such information is injurious to farmers. They feel that buyers of farm products use the information to "beat down" the prices they pay to farmers. Some of these farmers say that publication of production estimates and price forecasts should be prohibited.

I once knew a dealer in farm products who admitted that he sometimes used official production estimates to "beat down the farmer." Some other dealers may follow similar practices. We should note, however, that this dealer was not buying either livestock or grain. The product that he bought was a minor one for which market information is not commonly available to farmers.

The best markets exist, we believe, where both buyers and sellers are well informed about current and prospective supplies and prices. If one side is poorly informed, the other side may take advantage of it. Most of our farmers are well informed. The buyer must also be well informed. Otherwise he will not be in business very long.

Who Would Lose More?

Let us suppose, for purposes of discussion, that the government would stop publishing production estimates and market reports. Both sides—producers and buyers—would lose valuable information. But the farmers would probably lose more than the buyers. Each farmer would then know only what he, and possibly a few neighbors, had on hand and were producing. Each farmer could not know what farmers in other communities, states and regions were producing, nor what was being produced in other countries.

But how about the buyers? We all know that the big meat packers have offices and men all over the country. They would gather information about livestock from every state and most communities. They might even exchange information. The big grain companies, too, have offices—eyes and ears—in all major producing areas. Several of them also have offices and representatives in many foreign lands. The dealers would have information not only about crop and livestock production, but also about rates of consumption and price movements both in the United States and in other countries.

Can't Plan Ahead

When processors lack accurate information about prospective supplies, the farmer often suffers financially. For example, in the fall of 1955 marketings of livestock were much larger than had been expected. Meat packers and retailers were not prepared to handle the big volume that farmers sent to market. They had to hire extra, inefficient help. They had to pay time-and-a-half and double-time wages to get the meat out. Prices for hogs dropped to under $11 a hundred pounds, and choice steers at Chicago to below $19. If the packers and retailers had had more accurate information about what they would have to handle, they could have trained more workers and carried on more effective meat promotion programs. This would have helped to support livestock prices.

In summary, official market information may sometimes be used to the disadvantage of farmers, but the lack of such information would, we believe, be more injurious to farmers than to the buyers of farm products.

To Hear Reports On Corn Culture

URBANA — Latest research results on the performance of 1960 hybrid and experimental corn varieties will be given at the University of Illinois Crop Performance Day, Tuesday, Jan. 24.

The meeting starts at 9:30 a.m. in the ballroom of the University's Illini Union, according to W. O. Scott, U. of I. agronomist.

A panel of experts will be on hand to answer questions on high-density corn. Members of the panel will discuss the best fertilization levels for high-population corn, the problem of shading, the most successful breeding programs to follow and the types of equipment needed to cultivate and harvest high-population corn.

Last year more than 300 Illinois farmers and seedmen attended Crop Performance Day.

Feed bred ewes good-quality legume hay throughout pregnancy. During the last four or six weeks before lambing, they need ½ to 1 pound of grain per head daily. This source of energy is needed to reduce or eliminate pregnancy disease or lambing disease, according to University of Illinois animal scientists.

A Reader Protests

Jan. 12, 1961

Dear Editor:

Must you continue to hammer down the farmer with your articles on over production and record crops. The editorial on forced sales must of depressed every farmer in the community. (We wives have to live with the brutes you know) Why do you bite the hand that feeds you?

Are you being paid for this publicity? I know it would give the people who set prices, an excuse for not paying us a fair price for our products.

Last spring when we couldn't plant our grain for several weeks on account of rain, you came out with an article predicting a record crop for the year.

Many farmers commented on this You have been doing this for several years and it hasn't helped us any. I have now decided it is doing us harm, it is degrading us to our friends.

Many producers have over produced too many cars, our manufactories can't compete with foreign trade.

But it isn't in the paper every day. Many Americans would be surprised to know how much foreign produced food they eat.

I know we have an over production of food. This is a blessing and should be treated as such, with so many people in the world starving.

It is just stupidity on the management of the thing, made by people who are paid big salaries to do this job and have failed to do so.

Through Kennedy I have faith and hope in the future. (This I don't expect you to agree.)

True we don't have much money but I have a home, a way of life in which I am proud.

I just don't like being degraded by the press. Your not alone, other papers do it too.

I am sure many other farmers feel as I do.

Soil Clinic Leaders

One hundred commercial fertilizer dealers, bankers and farm advisers from Illinois and Missouri attended a soil fertility clinic at Hamilton's restaurant Thursday afternoon and evening. It was one of seven such conferences arranged by the U. I. College of Agriculture.

George Trull, Morgan County farm adviser, presided at the afternoon meeting. He is shown above with Sam R. Aldrich, (left) extension specialist in soil fertility, and J. C. Laverty, extension specialist in soil chemistry and head of soil testing laboratory work and reports in Illinois.

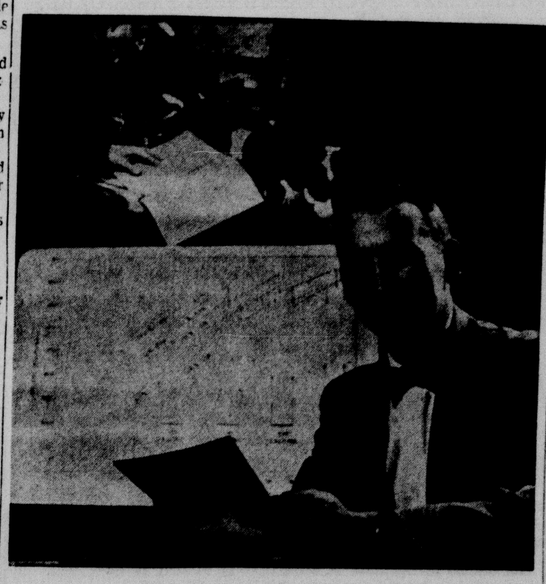
Aldrich reported on limestone and what's new in phosphorus and potash recommendations. Laverty reviewed the improved techniques now used by Illinois laboratories to more accurately determine the chemical content of farmland.

The after dinner speaker was Charles Austin of the National Plant Food Institute, Chicago. He discussed sales and management problems common to fertilize. dealers and suppliers.

On Pittsfield Dairy Day Program Jan. 24

Herb Wendler, Pike County farm adviser, invites all dairymen in the area to attend Dairy Day in Pittsfield on Tuesday, Jan. 24.

One of the features of the day's program will be a discussion of high corn diets for dairy cattle by dairy researcher, John Byers, who is shown with a fine Holstein that cooperates with him in his work.



N. L. VanDemark, U.I. dairy scientist, shows some of the slides and charts he will use when he addresses the Pittsfield meeting. He will cite latest research results in his discussion of safe breeding weights for dairy heifers.

The program starts in the Farm Bureau auditorium in Pittsfield at 10:30 a.m. and will be over by chore time.

MODERN COWS REFUSE TO BE HAND MILKED

National Guardsmen, Army reservists, and Air Force personnel had to use heavy trucks to distribute emergency generators to area dairy farmers near Portales, N. M., recently.

According to Western Milk & Ice Cream News, heavy snow and ice had knocked down about 50 percent of the power lines in rural areas and many farms were without electricity for their mechanical milking machines.

One farmer braved the storm to drive into town to round up a group of businessmen to go back to the farm with him and milk his cows the old-fashioned way. He gave up, however, along with several other farmers who tried it, saying the cows "simply wouldn't respond."

ANTI-KIBITZER LAW

CHIPLEY, Fla. (AP)— Kibitzers can get themselves doused offering advice at a fire in this northwest Florida town.

Mayor E. A. Tharp reports finding a 40-year-old ordinance which says:

"Any unauthorized person making any suggestion as to the operation of the Fire Department at any fire, thereby causing confusion to the department, if he shall refuse to discontinue same after being requested to do so, it shall be the duty of the officer in charge to order the water hose turned on him."

Learn A Science Word Every Day

By Rip Barnsdall

Annual. A plant which grows from seeds, grows to full size, produces seeds, and dies in one growing season. An annual is a one-year plant.

Biennial. A two-year plant. It grows during the first season and stores food over the winter. The plant then produces seeds and dies at the end of the second season.

Perennial. A plant which lives more than two years. It produces seeds each year and also sprouts again year after year from the old roots or stems.

Aerodynamics. The study of gases in motion and of the forces that act on things moving in air; it is also the study of the effect of air on various parts of airplanes, such as the propeller, rudder, and wings.

Aerology. This is a special kind of study about weather. Only high altitude weather is studied. This weather is not affected by ground conditions.

Bole. A fine-grained, sticky clay. It is bright-red in color.

Botulism. A food poisoning that is caused by the eating of spoiled meats or vegetables that have become infected with Bacillus botulinus.

Let's Go Birding—

The Blue Jay Moves Right In

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Like the whispering of the White Pine and the Hemlocks, the Blue Jay moves in.

He enters the scene, not at all insisting upon attention nor flaunting his glamor. In the top of the Sieboldi Crab he perches, surveying the surrounding territory and perhaps wondering where all the tiny fruit which he has eaten have gone.

He may not ask for attention, but he usually receives it from both man and bird. Caught in good light, his rich cobalt blue wings and tail, barred in black and tipped with white, display expuisite shadings contrasted with the grayish violet-blue of his back and crest, and the off white of parts below. He is too handsome to be overlooked.

Neither does he remain quiet long. Almost without warning he calls out a melodious, bell-like note. His eyes look larger and thrush-like; but they shine with an odd and knowing expression. Then he shouts out hoarsely, "Thief! Thief! Thief!" and sails soundlessly from his tree-top watch tower to the feeding station.

Most of the small birds fly to distant shrubs; a few freeze motionless. The Cardinals move back a short distance into the Douglas Firs, bristle their crests, and watch the thief gulp down two sunflower seeds. Then he picks up a seed and flies away with it, probably to hide it in a crevice of a nearby tree.

Two Cardinals drop down into the feeder and began cracking seeds. The English Sparrows—unwelcome guests but equally hungry birds—move in stealthily and salvage a few bits of cracked corn from the ground below.

Back flies the Blue Jay, this time without his bell ringing or his defiant challenging. Without a predatory look in his soft brown eyes, he joins the Cardinal and ignores the Sparrows. Again he gulps down a sunflower seed, kernel and all. Then he picks up a seed and flies to the nearby Fir Tree.

Hammering the hull open, he daintily swallows the kernel, his eyes practically closed in delight. Perhaps he has had enough roughage and stealing. Who knows?

Noted Scientists

By R. Lothar Badger

Frasch, Herman. Frasch was an American chemist. He invented a process for extracting sulfur from the ground.

Gilbert, William. He was an English doctor and physicist. He discovered that the earth acts like a huge magnet.

Hahn, Otto. Hahn was a Nobel-prize winner. A German physicist, chemist, he was a codiscoverer of nuclear fission.

Ampere, Andre M. A French physicist who discovered some important relationships between electric currents and magnetic fields.

Cavendish, Henry. An English chemist who carried out important experiments in chemistry, electricity, and gravitation.

If you wish to know more about these scientists, ask for a book at the Public Library, or your school library.

The Western Hemisphere supplies 80 per cent of the world's coffee; Africa provides 17 per cent, and the rest comes from Asia and Oceania.

Rockets And Space—

Testing Of Transonic Designs

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

When Robert R. Gilruth, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Space Task Group, was working for that organization's predecessor, the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics (NACA), he developed the method of testing transonic (around the speed of sound) designs by using unmanned rockets. At the time Gilruth developed this concept there were no wind tunnels which could produce wind fast enough to test transonic designs.

To fire these rockets, Gilruth designed, organized, and developed the Wallops Island Pilotless Aircraft Research Station on Virginia's eastern shore. More than 3,000 research rockets have been launched from this base since it was built in 1945. Among the latest of these have been test models of the Project Mercury space capsule.

Gilruth Gets Awards

Gilruth worked in the Flight Research Division of the Laboratory Research Center until 1946. He was then appointed head of the newly-organized Pilotless Aircraft Research Division. This division runs the Wallops Island rocket base.

For his part in establishing Wallops Island, Gilruth got the Sylvanus Albert Reed Award for 1950. This award is given, for notable contributions to nautical research, by the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences. It is one of the highest honors awarded in the field of aviation.

Gilruth also got the United States Government's Superior Accomplishment Award in 1951, and the University of Minnesota's Outstanding Achievement Award, in 1954, for his work in establishing Wallops Island. The University of Minnesota award is "reserved for students who have attained high eminuce (importance and distinction."

Gilruth received his Bachelor and Master of Science degrees in Aeronautical Engineering from the University of Minnesota.

In 1951, Gilruth received the job of assistant director of the Langley Aeronautical Laboratory, which became the Langley Research Center on Oct. 1, 1958. Gilruth held this post until Nov. 5, 1958, when he was appointed director of the NASA's Space Task Group. This organization is responsible for project Mercury.

For the past nine years, Robert R. Gilruth has been on committees which advise the Department of Defense on high temperature problems in missile and plane flight. Also, before the NACA became the NASA, Gilruth was a member of the NACA's first Space Technology Committee.

True Story—

Long-Ago School Girl

By Mary Pence Claywell

Part 14: Winter "Dining Hall"

In cold weather, the children used their desks as little tables and the delicious foods made them look like well-laden lunch counters that could well vie with any modern cafeteria of today!

But not all the children ate inside during cold weather! The big boys made different arrangements in late fall when the leaves came tumbling down.

They took discarded rails from the old-time fences, or they cut poles to make a frame for a winter dining hall. Then they raked the dry leaves and wedged them in the cracks between the rails, and they covered the top of their little den with more poles or old boards and a generous layer of leaves weighted down with still more poles, to keep them from blowing off in the cold winds.

They left the south side open-faced, and they put a generous carpet of dry leaves on the dirt floor. The leaves were such a warm covering for their feet when the snow was flying, and the north wind whistled 'round the corners!

The boys of yesterday felt as rich as Midas (the storybook king whose touch turned everything to gold), and as happy as kings in these pretty houses, fashioned by their own young hands. Indeed, they had every right to be proud of their skill, with so little to build with. Their busy hands and minds contrived many things besides leaf houses to make for fun, such as snow forts, and home-made play ground equipment, which we shall hear more about in a later story.

Let's Visit

But just now, I want you boys of today, to crawl inside the leaf house with the old-time fellows of yesterday, cover your feet with a warm blanket of dry leaves . . . and dig into that well-filled tin pail!

Maybe you will want to do a little trading also, say for instance. John, or maybe Jerry would like to swap a big hunk of apple pie for your piece of rich looking gingerbread, or Jack may want to exchange hard-boiled eggs for your meat sandwich. But anyway you do it, I feel sure you will have enjoyed every minute of the happy dinner hour with the hardy, industrious boys of more than a half century ago. They helped pave the way for our fine children of today . . . for in any age, our boys and girls either find a way . . . or make one!

How To Keep That Gear Going

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 6: Steps In Overhauling

In overhauling an older rig from the bottom up, you might proceed something like this:

FIRST: Replace the electrolytic filter capacitor. It may be a multi-section can type unit; if so, be careful to install the new one correctly. Replace the A.C. line bypass capacitors found in the primary of the power transformer, and any other capacitors in the power supply section of the rig.

Finally, carefully check any and all resistors found in the supply section, and replace any measuring more than 20% off of given original value.

When these changes are made, carefully re-check all work done on this section before proceeding further.

SECOND: Now check the oscillator circuit, replacing any and all paper capacitors one at a time. Usually, mica capacitors will last indefinitely, and probably will be ok. It will do no harm to test them for shorts, loose connections, etc.

If a Silver Mica needs to be replaced, obviously an identical new Silver Mica must be used. All resistors should be carefully checked, and any questionable ones replaced. Carefully replace new parts in the exact manner as the one found in the old part, and maintain the same length of leads.

THIRD: After checking the Oscillator replacements, next proceed to the buffer-multipliers and the final amplifier. Again, all paper capacitors or electrolytics should be replaced.

All resistors should be checked and questionable ones replaced one at a time. Watch for possible near shorts, bad solder connections, broken insulation, loose screws holding soldering terminals or lugs, etc.

Of course, when work is finished with each section, all work should be carefully checked. (This human to err" you know.)

LAST: Check over all modulator stages, in the same thorough manner. Replace all paper couplings or bypass capacitors, and all B-plus line electrolytic filter capacitors.

Check all resistors again carefully replacing any questionable ones. Of course, you would test both the modulator and transmitter tubes before re-installing them in the rig. If that gain control potentiometer in the modulator is scratchy, noisy, and old, why not replace it now?.

When all changes and replacements have been made, it would be most wise to carefully look over all work done just to be sure all is well before trying it out. Try filaments first, the transmitter, and finally modulator; get one section working properly at a time.

Part 2: How To Start

In anything you do, the first question that comes before the prospective traveler (even via the armchair) is "How Much Does It Cost?"

Well, just as you can buy either an inexpensive bike or a luxury type, so you can buy or build either a little ham radio or two-tuber or first class commercial short-wave communications receiver; it all depends on that "Budget" and the extent of your interest in the hobby.

You beginners are wise to start out with a small home-built receiver; with it you "cut your teeth" (so to speak), learn something about the hobby. And, if you build the set yourself learn something about assemblying such equipment.

Of course you can not expect the results from such a smaller set to be the same as you could get from a better receiver. But a well built and properly designed small receiver will hop over surprising distances—across seas, lands, continents, etc. when properly operated.

In our next article we shall go into the "Budget" type of possible Short-wave listening receivers together with one or two suggestions for the Fatter budget too.

If you would like to read more on this most interesting hobby such magazines as "CQ", The Radio Amateur's Journal and Electronics Illustrated monthly publishes articles on this subject. For example, "CQ" each month publishes a "Propagation" article which forecasts the expected band conditions for that month from all over the world. While it is primarily intended for amateur band use, you could also gain some ideas of conditions to be expected from the short-wave broadcast bands etc. as well.

Therefore, you will know where to expect your best listening results at any one time and from what part of the world! Electronics Illustrated started a most interesting series of articles recently which will also be good reading. You can probably find some of these magazines at the public library.

Remount Your Old Diamonds

...Good Reasons Why...

1. Diamonds are meant to be seen and not hidden away in your vault or jewel box because they are mounted in an unfashionable manner.
2. Diamonds in old settings can become loose and easily lost.
3. Diamonds look wonderful on every woman but not in old, out-dated settings.

May we have the pleasure of showing you how your heirloom diamonds can be remounted into modern, safe settings that will allow your diamonds to display all their natural beauty. Sketches and estimates submitted without obligation.

Royal Neighbors Install Officers At White Hall

WHITE HALL—Evergreen Camp No. 987 Royal Neighbors of America held installation services for new officers Tuesday night. Lela Hubbard served as installing officer, Oliver Cotter, installing chancellor, both of the Hillview Camp, and Pansy McCarthy, ceremonial marshall, being a member of the local camp.

The following were installed: Mae DeShasier, oracle by proxy, Alma Dugger serving in her place, Mrs. DeShasier being a patient at Passavant Hospital; Crystal White, vice oracle, Nina DeShasier, junior past oracle, Nora Goodrich; chancellor, Lena Hudson; recorder, Nova Lyons; receiver, Edith Frye; outside sentinel, Letha Ford; inside sentinel, marshal, Lena Bertram; assistant marshal, Lucy Linker; flag bearer, Dorothy M. Young.

Graces, modesty, Lucy Book; faith, Hazel Deavers; courage, Pansy McCarthy; unselfishness; Ivamae Dickerson; endurance, Dorothy Walker and manager for three years, Ethel Liming; Bess Stuart, musician.

Following lodge, refreshments of cookies, sandwiches, coffee and tea were served. Nina DeShasier was presented a past oracle's pin and thanked the members for their cooperation, and the installing officers were presented gifts.

Rebekahs Installation

Edith Frye, Noble Grand of Adams Rebekah Lodge No. 375 has announced installation of officers will not be held Tuesday Jan. 17th, due to conflicting dates with district officers. A regular potluck supper will be served at 6:30 followed by lodge.

Pittsfield High Band To Give Pops Concert

PITTSFIELD—It's band-time! The annual "Pops" concert of the high school concert band of Pittsfield will be presented Thursday evening, Jan. 26, in the high school auditorium beginning promptly at 7:30 p.m. "Bandtime" promises an evening of fine musical entertainment in the traditional style of the contest-winning high school band.

Featured will be a Tympani Solo, "Tympat," performed by Charles Seybold, accompanied by the band. The saxaphone section will be presented in "Sax Serenade;" Roxy Fudge, Gary Gaffney, Judy Voelker, and Terry Predmore taking the solo parts. Traditionally "Sleigh Ride" is presented, and this year the fine Anderson composition will find itself on the program.

Band president Bill Grote, along with Susan Scott, will be featured as cornet soloists in selections from "Gypsy." The newest instruments of the band, the flugelhorn, played by Gary Dunham and Dorothy Cockrum, will be demonstrated in a surprise number.

Tickets are now on sale at the high school office, or from any high school band member. Seats will be available in the spacious high school auditorium for the general public.

Freeman, Farm Groups To Meet For Policy Discussions Jan. 26

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jan. 26 will be an important date for farmers and ranchers.

That is when several score farm organization officials, leaders in Congress and economists will meet at the Agriculture Department, starting at 8 a.m., to talk about farm programs for the Kennedy administration.

The meeting was arranged by President-elect John F. Kennedy and Orville L. Freeman, his secretary of agriculture-designate, at a conference with small groups of farm leaders in New York last week.

In announcing the Jan. 26 session, Freeman—until recently governor of Minnesota—said there was a broader area of agreement among farm organizations than is commonly assumed. His remarks were interpreted in some circles as indicating there is good chance the farm organizations will agree on a farm program at the meeting.

This optimism is not shared by a number of the farm leaders.

It is true that such organizations as the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Farmers Union, the National Grange and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives have similar views and policies on a wide range of matters.

Where They Agree

These include the belief there is need for greater effort on the part of the government to help farmers expand markets for their products at home and abroad. All support research on new industrial uses for farm surpluses. All agree on the need for government farm credit programs. All support programs for disposal of farm surpluses abroad.

But the agreement ends when it comes to the question of how far the government should go in fixing prices of farm products and controlling production. It is in this area of disagreement that major farm problems exist.

The Farm Bureau, for example, wishes to reduce government's role in price-fixing and production regulating. It wants programs that will allow free play of market forces to determine prices and production patterns. In this, it agrees with policies of the Eisenhower administration.

At the opposite pole is the National Farmers Union. It wants the government to assure farmers greater returns by setting price supports at much higher levels than exist now. Also, it wants government regulations to curb surplus production and help assure better prices.

Other farm organizations hold views either somewhat similar to these extremes or somewhere in between.

Closer To F U

The Kennedy administration thus faces the task of listening to the various groups on these issues and then formulating its own programs. During the presidential campaign, Kennedy outlined a program more nearly matching that of the Farmers Union than the Farm Bureau.

Some farm leaders predict the new administration will come up with a program raising price supports above levels favored by the Farm Bureau but not as high as those urged by the Farmers Union.

As for crop controls, these leaders forecast a crop land retirement program will be advanced as a measure for cutting down on overproduction. Such a program would not go as far in regulating farmers as the rigid production and marketing controls Democrats advanced during the campaign.

Batty Seeks Re-Election At Carrollton

CARROLLTON — Eugene Batty of Carrollton who has served as Carrollton township supervisor for one term is a candidate for reelection to the office and has already filed his petition for same.

Mrs. Henry Borlin, who has completed her second term as town clerk, has her application out for reelection to that office.

Mrs. Florence Ostermann has her application out for election to the office of township supervisor Mrs. Ostermann has served as assistant assessor under the late Daniel Lunneen, township assessor who recently died.

Three auditors will be elected in Carrollton township this year which is something new in the township government and to date no one has filed an application for these offices. The first date for filing for office in the township was January 9 and the last date will be February 13 and the township elections in the county will be held April 4.

The term of office of six supervisors in the county are expiring this year and five of them plan to seek reelection. The five are Eugene Batty, Carrollton; Carl McAdams, Roodhouse township; Lester Springman, Kane township; Guy Kinser, Rubicon township and K. S. Wright, Wrights township. George Clark of Bluffdale has not announced as yet as to whether or not he will be a candidate for reelection.

JERSEY FARM BUREAU TO MEET FEB. 4

JERSEYVILLE — The annual meeting of the Jersey County Farm Bureau and its affiliates will be held at the Jersey Community high school in Jerseyville on Feb. 4, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Chuck Mayfield, organization director of the Illinois Agricultural association, will be guest speaker for the program.

Eight attendance prizes will be presented throughout the day and a sack lunch will be served at noon.

Management Key To Profit Side Of Farm Flock

A University of Illinois livestock specialist announced today that the average Illinois farmer with a sheep flock received a gross income of $24 per ewe during 1960.

Yet some farmers received more than $35 from their ewes. G. R. Carlisle says that records of 345 Illinois sheep flocks show why some flocks produced more income than others for their owners.

The average ewe produced 91 pounds of lamb that was marketed by September 1. This same average ewe also produced 8 2/3 pounds of wool.

On the other hand, ewes in high-income flocks produced 125 pounds of lamb that was marketed by September 1. These ewes produced 11 pounds of wool. Farmers with high-income flocks also received about $2.00 more per hundredweight when they sold their lambs.

This combination of one-third more lamb, 2 pounds more wool and a higher price for marketed lambs adds up to a 50 percent larger gross income.

Farmers reading between the lines will realize that good management is the answer to higher incomes from sheep flocks. Many farmers will find helpful ideas in the leaflet, "Ewe Flock Management in the '60s." Copies are free and available from farm advisers.

Farmers can also write to Carlisle for a copy. His address is Mumford Hall, Urbana, Illinois.

Royal Neighbors Potluck Jan. 14 At Hillview

HILLVIEW—The Royal Neighbors of America in Hillview held their regular meeting Monday night, Jan. 9th. The Flag was presented by Pearl Leonard with Ruth Koontz at the piano.

Oracle Lela Hubbard, appointed the following Graces for the ensuing year: modesty, Anna Jones; courage, Mabel Killebrew; unselfishness, Georgia Ford; faith, Inez Cox; endurance, Becky Ford.

Because of illness, Mrs. Bernice Dawdy presented her resignation as chancellor, which was reluctantly accepted. To fill the chancellor's chair, Clara Hazelwood was unanimously elected by the members.

It was announced that there would be a potluck supper the next regular meeting on Jan. 23rd at 7 o'clock after which the installing of the new officers for the coming year would be in order.

The draping of the charter in honor of Edith Clark was enacted by the marshals, Maude Norris and Ruby Young with Opal Nell acting as chancellor. The passing away of Neighbor Clark who was a long and outstanding member was eulogized by Oracle Hubbard with a sincere response among the Neighbors.

4-H Electricity School Enrolls 32 Boys, Girls

Bob Hayward Jr., assistant farm adviser, announces a record enrollment in this year's 4-H electricity school, which opened last Wednesday and will continue each Wednesday evening through Feb. 8.

Twenty boys and two girls entered the beginning class. There are ten in the intermediate class and two are taking advanced work.

"This large enrollment is very gratifying," Hayward says. "But any 4-H member who wishes to take the course may do so by coming to Farm Bureau hall at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday."

INDIAN PROBLEM

SEATTLE (AP) — Mrs. Carol Parry, a Sioux working in the Seattle Indian Center, registers a mild complaint about TV westerns.

"It isn't right that the Redskins are always the baddies," she told a reporter.

"I have a 3-year-old son. He just lives these programs. And when they're over he runs through the house pointing his cap gun and shouting, 'Bang-bang! I'm killing Indians!'

"It can be very embarrassing when he have visitors."

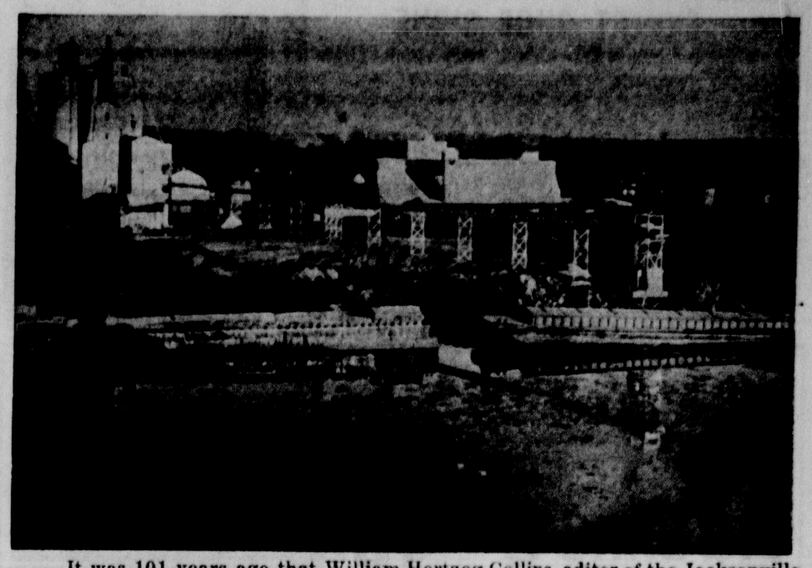
To New Orleans, Via Meredosia



It was 101 years ago that William Hertzog Collins, editor of the Jacksonville Journal, "took the cars" for a trip to Meredosia. One of the interesting things he saw there was the loading of a keelboat with corn headed for Peru, and the canal to Chicago.

The boat was being loaded by strong men carrying sacked corn, three bushels in a sack. At that time grain buyers said it took 60 pounds of good corn to make a bushel.

When the picture was made last week, corn from Loami was being loaded into a barge at the rate of 7,500 bushels per hour. The barge holds 45,000 bushels of corn, equivalent to 22 railroad box cars, and a towboat will push it down the Illinois and Mississippi where the grain will be moved into ships headed for foreign ports.

Eleven steel towers, the tallest one 25 feet high, support a high-speed rubber belt, 30 inches wide. The contractor for the installation was Keith Wilham of Mt. Pulaski.

The dredging work was done by the Illinois Valley Dredging Co. of LaSalle. Their pumps handled 17,000 cubic yards of earth to make a basin that holds 11 feet of water at minimum pool level.

For more than 20 years the Chrisman elevator worked on plans for loading barges with grain from west central Illinois, but the plans were stymied by the old Wabash railroad bridge. Any idea the company offered was looked upon as a hazard to navigation. Pilots, who often used very bad words as they fretted their barges through the draw of Meredosia bridge, declared it "the worst thing we have to contend with in the whole Mississippi waterway."

They didn't want anything else to worry about.

When the bridge was taken out, neither the pilots nor the U. S. Engineers, who are in charge of channel maintenance, had any objection to a barge loading station on the east bank of the river.

The Chrisman elevator is the largest in this area, with a storage capacity of 565,000 bushels. Thus far it has filled 25 barges with corn for export markets.

NEW CENSUS DEFINITION

According to the 1959 census a farm is a place of 10 acres or more having sales of agricultural products of $50. or more or a place of 10 acres or less having sales of $250. or more.

LARGER UNITS!

There are more farms in Illinois from 180 to 499 acres in size than those of 70 to 179 acres.

MORE OWNERS!

The 1959 Agricultural census shows an increase in owners from 68% in 1954 to 70% of the total farms.

FROM THE CORN CRIB!

Poor but honest, he's spent most of his life supervising a small town water filtration plant. Before he died, he willed his brain to a university for medical research. "Why," someone asked, "would a plain simple man do that?"

"Oh," came the explanation, "he figured they wanted to study a filtering man's thinker."

Says Broiler Breeding Like Car Industry

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says the broiler industry is becoming more and more like the automobile industry and less and less like farming as it has been known.

A department marketing report lists what it calls these similarities between the chicken meat industry and the auto industry:

Both produce for a mass market. Both require large capital investments. Both are constantly striving to produce a better product to satisfy consumer demands, and both (at certain stages) have relatively few firms that produce the newly designed models.

The report said strong competition has forced relatively small breeders, hatcheries and processors into mergers or consolidations with large firms that can meet the capital and other requirements of the competitive struggle.

The way the industry is developing, the report said, small-volume firms, under-capitalized concerns, and those not related to an integrated organization will find it increasingly difficult to compete.

More Farmer Ownership

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farm Credit Administration reported today that agriculture's local production credit associations have moved close to a long-sought goal—complete farmer ownership.

The associations have supply farmer members with short and long-term credit. They operate under the federal land banks and the farm credit administration. In the beginning, these lending agencies operated largely on government money.

This week 20 of these associations retired all their government capital. As a consequence 469 of the 488 associations now operating are completely farmer-owned. The associations provide well over $2 billion in loans annually to members.

Fewer Sheep, Lambs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Marketing Service reported today the number of sheep and lamb on feed Jan. 1 for the slaughter market was 2 per cent less than a year earlier. The number was 4,255,000 head, down 66,000.

The bulk of the reduction was in western states. In the corn belt, numbers were about unchanged from last year. The department said weather conditions in most parts of the country were favorable.

ROTARY SPEAKER

Leonard Wilson, (left) assistant to the President at Illinois College, was guest speaker Friday, Jan. 13, at the meeting of the local Rotary Club. Wilson spoke to the group on the subject "The Battle of Fort Sumter." He was introducid by program chairman, Robert A. DuBois, shown here on the right.

Visiting Rotarians at the noon meeting held at the Dunlap Hotel were John Beiderweiden of Havana and J. W. McDermott of Springfield. Guests at the meeting included Walter Alhorn of Meredosia a guest of John Chambers; Robert Provart, son-in-law of Rev. Walter Pruett; and Leo Waldron, of St. Louis, guest of Martin Newman.

Orleans Women Enjoy Program About Illinois

The Orleans Woman's Country Club met on Tuesday, Jan. 10, at the home of Mrs. Adeline Rawlings. Eighteen members were present.

The program for the meeting was a very interesting story of "Illinois, the Prairie State" and was presented by Mrs. Albert Standish.

Mrs. Albert Standish, president, conducted the business meeting, which was opened with the club prayer and the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Minutes of the Dec. 13th meeting and communications were read by the secretary.

Mrs. Hubert Norfleet reported on Christmas gifts presented to club members who were ill.

The treasurer's report was presented by Mrs. Clifton Davis.

Roll call was answered by naming Illinois landmarks.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Club will meet next on Jan. 24 at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Clegg for the Frolic Day Potluck and during the afternoon a silent auction will be held for the purpose of raising money toward the purchase of a chair for the Oak Lawn Sanitorium.

In Hollywood
By BOB THOMAS

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Money? I hate money. It doesn't have the slightest importance to me. The important thing for me is to feel wanted as an entertainer. That was the greatest sorrow of Al Jolson's life, when he felt he was not wanted; he told me that before he died. I don't want it to happen to me."

The man speaking was Danny Thomas, comedian, tragedian, philosopher, millionaire. Dan is what modern rarity: the spellbinder. Whether on a night club floor or over a hamburger sandwich in the Desilu commissary, he grabs a thought and starts running. And you listen.

The occasion was my annual checkup on rumors that Danny was quitting television. He is now in his eighth year in a comedy show, a record exceeded only by the tireless Nelson family.

Fuel for the rumors was in the plans of the Thomas empire to spawn more TV series from his own show. He did it with immense success last season for Andy Griffith. Coming up are segments which are virtually pilot films for shows starring Dick Van Dyke and Joey Bishop. Both are virtually sold, both are situation comedies.

I asked Danny if he was planning to quit the series.

He gazed into space.

"Sheldon Leonard (his director) and I sometimes discuss it. We think we are tired and have no place to go. But then we say, what would we do if we quit? Start another series? We could never find another cast and crew as congenial as this one. We love each other. We see more of each other than we do of our own families. Should we give this up?

"Sometimes we worry about running out of ideas. We had a show on the air two weeks ago that was so bad that I'd like to buy it and destroy the negative—if it were tax deductible. But shows like that only make us work harder. The last five shows we've filmed will stack up with the best we've done in the whole eight years.

"Sure, I get tired some mornings when I show up for work. But so does the coal miner when he rides down the shaft. All it takes is the first argument and I'm feeling great again.

"Me quit? I couldn't possibly. I'd die."

Perfected in Lorain, Ohio, the scarlet carnation is the state flower of Ohio.

Mrs. Taylor Of Roodhouse Dies; Funeral Sunday

Mrs. Mamie Taylor, 78, of Roodhouse, mother of Mrs. Ernest Duncan of this city, died at 4:50 a.m. Friday at Passavant hospital where she had been a patient 17 days.

Mrs. Taylor was born at Roodhouse Sept. 29, 1882, the daughter of the late Jeremiah and Mary Ann Sullivan McCarthy. She was married at Carrollton March 10, 1911 to Clarence E. Taylor and he preceded her in death. Five daughters were born to this union, one, Joyce Taylor, preceding her mother in death.

The surviving daughters are, Mrs. David Wilkenson of Roodhouse; Mrs. Leslie Forrester, Springfield; Dorothy, wife of Ernest Duncan, Jacksonville and Mrs. W. L. Carpunky, Carrollton. There are 11 grandchildren and 26 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Taylor was a member of the Royal Neighbors Camp at Roodhouse.

The body is at the Wolfe Memorial Home in Roodhouse.

Funeral services will be held at the funeral home at 3 p.m. Sunday with Rev. H. L. Janvrin officiating. Interment will be made in Fernwood cemetery.

Plan Hearings On Appointment Of J. Edward Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Postoffice Committee will conduct a hearing Monday on J. Edward Day, President-elect John F. Kennedy's choice for postmaster general, Chairman Olin D. Johnston, D-SC., announced Friday.

Day is a Los Angeles insurance executive. A former resident of Jacksonville, Ill., Day was director of the Illinois Department of Insurance when Adlai E. Stevenson was governor.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Some thoughts after scanning a week's news:

The United States has always taken great pride in her relations with Canada, the unarmed border and the like. The two nations have been often cited as an example of what others could do with good will. The theme was widely played when Canada submitted her own aerial defense to U.S. command from a U.S. base.

But there is danger that pride has produced complacency.

Some conflicting economic interests have developed, involving both foreign and domestic trade practices. Canada has clung more tenaciously to a sound dollar. Many Canadians think the United States acts first and then considers Canada's interests. There is no cooperation on Cuban policy. Withdrawal from the North American Air Defense Command has been suggested.

It would be too bad to let this tarnishing process continue just for lack of attention.

Look at President Eisenhower from any angle you wish, there is one thing that stands out. When he went in the nation was at war. Now it isn't. Entry into the Indochina war was avoided despite great pressure, which even included a leaning in that direction by John Foster Dulles. A showdown with the Soviet Union over Berlin has been at least postpoined. India, thanks primarily to Red China but with some credit due the President personally, has shifted from pro-Communist neutralism to just plain neutralism. Firm decisions have been made with regard to Cuba and Laos even in the waning days of the administration. Eisenhower wasn't responsible for everything that happened or didn't happen, but the worst things didn't happen.

Dean Rusk promises no strikingly new approaches to problems around the world. How are you going to criticize him for that unless you can come up with one yourself? If private enterprise would form an entente to defend itself, instead of depending so heavily on governments, that would be one.

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA

I apologize in advance to many of my readers who are going to feel that today's hand is too elementary for a bridge column.

It is simple hand. North can open with his three-card club suit or his four-card heart suit. In either case South will respond one spade and right here is the whole point of the hand.

North should immediately raise to two spades instead of bidding one no-trump.

He does have a completely balanced hand, but he has no diamond stopper and his three spades include two honors. Also, with 14 high card points he wants to encourage his partner a trifle more than he would with a no-trump rebid.

Of course, South needs no encouragement. He will jump right to four after the spade raise and would probably jump to three no-trump after the no-trump rebid.

At least the no-trump rebid and jump to three were bid at several tables in the Nationals in New York.

Needless to say, three no-trump turned out to be a poor contract. East always opened a diamond and the defense would take the first four tricks.

Played at four spades, West always opened the king of diamonds. South would lose the first two tricks and the last trick and while the difference between four spades and three no-trump is nothing in rubber bridge it is substantial at match points.

♥ 4-CARD Sense ♠

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A J 8 7 6 ♥ A 6 5 4 ♦ K Q J 10 ♣ 9

What do you do?

A—Bid six diamonds. This is a gamble, but should be worth taking. Your second choice is four hearts and your third choice five diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do decide to bid four hearts and your partner rebids to five clubs. What do you do now?

Answer Monday

Tea For New Juniors

President Entertains At Home

An informal Tea held the afternoon of Sunday, Jan. 8th, at the home of Mrs. Keith Schumann on Lincoln avenue, honored newer members of the Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Schumann were members of the executive board.

Guests were received from two to four in the afternoon. Mrs. Jimm Bates, member of the board, modeled a cotton frock from The Emporium that typifies the value of a dress to be presented as a door prize by the club at its Fashion Review and Card Party on Thursday, Jan. 19th, at the Youth Center. Proceeds of the project will be used for a scholarship for a prospective teacher of exceptional children. All Junior clubwomen are selling tickets, single or by the table or party, .75 each.

Annual United Church Meeting At White Hall

WHITE HALL — The United Church Women of this community will hold their annual meeting Jan. 13th, at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. E. S. Ambrose, first vice president, will preside in the absence of Mrs. Peter Kittel, president.

A business session will be conducted and Mrs. Harry Chasteen secretary will read the annual report, and Mrs. Ernest Roodhouse will make the report for the year, being treasurer.

A special feature of the program will be four hymns, which are most frequently used throughout Christendom. Three which are very familiar will be sung in unison, the fourth to be presented as a special feature.

Preparations will be made at the meeting for the annual World Day of Prayer which will be held at the First Christian Church on the first day of Lent, Feb. 17th. This marks the 75th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer and the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of Churches has made many plans with a goal of doubling the attendance at the meetings, and twice as large an offering. This means White Hall must have more than one hundred in attendance to meet the goal.

An informal social hour with a tea served by the ladies of the Methodist Church will follow the meeting on Friday.

Local Chapter Of Delta Theta Tau Triennial Inspection

Delta Nu Chapter of Delta Theta Tau Sorority, Inc., held its triennial inspection Saturday, January 7, at Hotel Dunlap with all active members present.

The evening's program opened with a dinner served in the Dunlap dining room at 7:45 to all active members, associate members and Members-at-Large and the guest of honor, Mrs. Marcia Browning of Theta Zeta chapter of Seymour, Indiana, National Eastern Counselor and inspecting officer. The tables, arranged in a triangle formation, were beautifully decorated with sorority colors, olive green and white, with candles and white roses, the sorority's flower. Dinner was opened by chaplain, Mrs. Florence Murray, saying grace followed by chapter president, Fran Chumley's welcome and introduction of the official guest, Marcia Browning, and the following Members-at-Large: Millie Heath, Pearl Gordon, Betty Fitzsimmons, Mary Quintal, Dorothy Dowling and Barbara Eades; and active associate members: Violet Auwarter, Shirley Daniels, Marg Turley and Mary Lee Brennan; and pledges: Mrs. Marjorie Bargery, Mrs. Evelyn Senn, Mrs. Emily McNeely, Mrs. Ethel Herman, Mrs. Jo Davis, and Mrs. Georgia Secrist, transfer member from Columbia City, Indiana.

Honor New "25"

Following the dessert course, president Fran Chumley introduced charter member, Millie Heath, now a MAL, who presented a 25-year pin to Vice President, Helen Little. As a further surprise, three 25-year members—Almyra Jackson, Grace Queen and Millie Heath—presented Helen with a lovely orchid corsage.

The pledges were presented with lovely perfume atomizers at the end of the dinner meeting.

Dinner and inspection procedures were arranged by Almyra Jackson, Florence Murray, Rob Garry, Lee Heim and Norma Cox. Immediately following dinner, photographs were made by John Murray of Murray Studio.

Ritual

Formal ritualistic services were held at 8:30 in a Dunlap dining room in a very impressive and lovely candlit-ceremony using the sorority's colors of olive green and white, conducted by Epsilon Province chairman, Almyra Jackson, with the following members serving on the ritualistic team: Chaplain, Florence Murray; Pledge Supervisor, Lelarose Tilton; and Sgt.-at-arms, Helen Little. Other ritualistic team members were: Fran Chumley, Bernice Rutherford, Mary Beth Buckley, Grace Queen, Eula Hudson, and Lee Heim. Lucille Chandler played all musical accompaniments and sang the sorority's song at close of the ceremony.

The following pledges were formally initiated during ritualistic ceremony: Marj Bargery, Evelyn Senn, Ethel Herman, Jo Davis, and Emily McNeely. The sorority's pin and a white rose were presented to each new member.

Inspection

Following the ritualistic ceremony, the group adjourned to the Pioneer Room where regular business meeting was held for inspecting officer, Marcia Browning. During the meeting, Mrs. Georgia Secrist, a Member-at-Large, of Beta Upsilon Chapter of Columbia City, Indiana, was voted in as an active transfer member by the group. Johnie Linebaugh was granted an active associate membership, and an extension was voted to Shirley Ludwig Daniel for her active associate membership. Committee reports were heard and correspondence read. Immediately following routine matters of business the National inspecting officer, Marcia Browning, took the chair and presided for the remainder of the meeting. She reviewed the findings of president, secretary, and treasurer's books, giving several suggestions for shortening procedures in recording as well as commenting on the ritualistic ceremony conducted earlier in the evening.

Mrs. Browning was a guest of the sorority from Friday evening until Sunday morning making her headquarters at Hotel Dunlap.

Officers of the local chapter are: Fran Chumley, president; Helen Little, vice-president; Rob Garry, treasurer; Marcia Schewe, recording secretary; and Lee Heim, corresponding secretary.

The next regular business meeting was held on Monday, January 9, in the Pioneer Room at the Hotel Dunlap.

Jacks Drop 10th Encounter To MacArthur

Pair Of Ace Guards Throttle Crimsons, 75-57

DECATUR — Doug Keller and Gary Ledbetter, who have been carrying the scoring load all season for the Generals, combined for 45 points in pacing MacArthur to a 75-57 triumph over Jacksonville High Friday night.

Keller and Ledbetter, who hit with authority from the outside, racked up 23 and 22 points respectively. The victory was number seven for the Generals in nine games while the loss was Jacksonville's 10th in 12 contests and their eighth straight.

Coach John Chapman's Crimsons trailed by three after eight minutes of play and were down by six at halftime, 32-26.

MacArthur began pulling away in the third frame and led by 12 after 24 minutes of play, 52-40.

Ken Norton pumped in the most points for a Crimson this season with 26.

MacArthur also won the preliminary game, 55-43.

Pender Picked To Beat Downes

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Pender, the American who boxes like an Englishman, Friday was the favorite to repel the challenge of Terry Downes, the Briton who fights like a Yank, in their title fight Saturday night.

The two clash in a television (ABC-10 p.m., EST) 15-rounder at Boston Arena for Pender's share of the world middleweight championship. The 30-year-old ex-fireman from Brookline, is recognized as king of the 160-pounders by New York, Massachusetts and Europe.

Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, is hailed as champion by the National Boxing Association.

This is Pender's first start since he beat Sugar Ray Robinson for the second time on a split decision in Boston, last June 10. The rangy stylist, who boxes skillfully and features a snapping left jab, personally handpicked the 24-year-old Downes as an opponent after watching him fight in London last year.

Downes, an aggressive, go get 'em type like the American club fighter, earned the title shot by beating high-ranking Joey Giardello of Philadelphia in a 10-rounder in London last Oct. 11.

This was the eighth straight victory for the British champion who developed his boxing talent while serving with the U.S. Marines in 1954-5-6. A pro less than four years, the confident Cockney has racked up a 26-6 record, including 20 knockouts, in England.

"I'm confident I can beat him," said Downes. "If I didn't think so I wouldn't be here. I'm in great shape and I think I'll be too strong and busy for him."

The contrasting styles seem to favor Pender, who also served a stint in the Marine Corps. The clever New Englander likes an opponent to come to him so he can work him over with stiff jabs and straight rights.

Unbeaten in his last 12 fights, Pender has a 37-5-2 record including 19 knockouts. He has been a pro 11 years and for the first time is making real money out of the game.

The Los Angeles Dodgers put down 102 sacrifice bunts in 1960 and stole 95 bases.

BALANCING ACT—John Havilicek seemed to have the basketball balanced on his shoulder as the Ohio State forward and Willie Hall of Brooklyn St. John's scrambled for the elusive sphere in a savagely fought game before a turn-away crowd of 18,499 at Madison Square Garden.

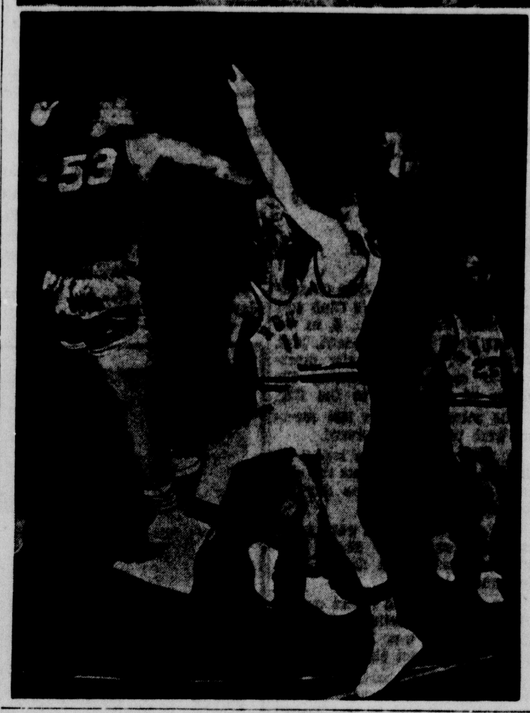
ACTION FAST, FURIOUS IN ROUTT CONTEST



There were plenty of spills and thrills in Routt's 52-49 conquest over Triopia Friday night and the Journal Courier camera was there to record some of the action before the largest home turnout in over ten years. Top photo shows Kent Hansmeier (left) of Triopia and Bucky Sullivan of Routt hit the floor after a pass went astray.

Picture to the left shows Alan Anderson (53) of the Trojans batting down a Sullivan attempt from close range. Number 11 for the Rockets is Ed Carroll and 22 is Joe Cors.

Tigers May Open With 4 Rookies At Infield Posts

NEW YORK (AP)—Never in modern major league history has a team ever opened a season with rookies manning all four infield positions. Detroit may this year.

The four fledgling Tigers are first baseman Larry Osborne, second baseman Jake Wood, third baseman Steve Boros and shortstop Dick McAuliffe.

Boros seems to have the best chance. The 24-year-old slugger from Flint, Mich., led the American Association last year at Denver in runs batted in with 119, runs scored with 329 and was voted the loop's most valuable player. He batted .317.

Wood, 23, already has been told the second base job is his if he can hold it. He has batted over .300 in each of his four years in organized ball. Last year, at Denver, he batted .305, led the league in triples with 18 and stole 34 bases, second high in the league.

McAuliffe, 21, comes from Knoxville where he batted .303 and led the Southern Association in runs scored with 109, and in triples with 21.

Osborne, 24, was up last spring but failed to make it. He was the American Association's batting king last year with a .342 average, and the home run champ with 34.

The new Tiger crop includes eight pitchers, including a couple of first-year players. The most likely looking are southpaw Wyman Carey, who was 14-14 at Birmingham; right-hander Al Pehanick, 12-6 at Denver; and Gordon Seyfreid, another Denver right-hander, who won 12 and lost 9.

Heavyweight Bout Expected To Set $$ Record

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Promoters said Friday they expect the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson fight here March 13 to produce "the biggest financial return ever" and put the gross at over $4 million.

Bill Fugazy, president of Feature Sports Inc., and Roy Cohn, legal counsel for the firm, met reporters and hotel owners at a press luncheon and outlined plans for the third heavyweight title fight between the New Yorker and the Swede.

Fugazy said Miami Beach Convention Hall, where the fight will be held, had been scaled to 7,000 seats at $100 each, 5,000 at $50 and 4,000 at $20, for a total of about $1,100,000.

Ancillary rights (theater, television, motion pictures and radio will go to TelePrompTer and Fugazy said he expects these to exceed $3 million. He reported ABC had bought radio rights for approximately $300,000.

FT's Play Important Role In 52-49 Victory

By JACK FAIRFIELD

Coach Bob Winstead's Routt Rockets unleashed a deadly shooting attack and an extremely tight zone defense to send the Triopia Trojans to their second defeat in twelve contests, 52-49. The Rockets literally burned the nets as they poured in 58% of their field goal attempts in the first half and finished the ball game with an amazing 50%.

First Half

Triopia's Al Anderson opened the ball game with a six foot jump shot and Buck Sullivan came right back to score for Routt and this was an opening indicator of the type of contest which was to come. The score was tied 13 times in the first half, and the lead changed hands five times. The Rockets had a tremendous first period as they connected on five of six field goal attempts and three of four charity tosses to grab a 13-13 tie, but it took a 30 footer by Earl Dufelmeier with only eight seconds left to knot the score. Fred Curtis and Ed Carroll did an outstanding job of handling the defensive rebounds as they limited the Trojans to one shot time after time.

Routt began to try to pull away in the second quarter as Triopia just couldn't seem to find a scoring combination. With 4 minutes left till the half, Flip Carroll got a bucket to send the Rockets into a four point lead, but the Trojans came storming back to within one point 22-23. Curtis and Carroll combined to push the Rockets forward by five, 24-29, at half time as Routt made 11 of 19 shots from the field for an unbelievable 58% while Triopia could get only 9 of 28 for 32%. Fred Curtis got 13 of his 15 point total in the first half and Ed Carroll added 8.

Second Half

Both teams had a little trouble finding the range in the early minutes of the third quarter and the Rockets clung to their five point margin until Kent Hansmeier scored on a three point play with 4:45 left in the period. From here until the end of the quarter it was nip and tuck, and substitute Fred Kleinschmidt scored with only 10 seconds left in the stanza to give Triopia their only lead of the second half, 39-38, but Bucky Sullivan was fouled with one second showing on the clock and made the charity toss good for a 39-39 deadlock.

Triopia quit scoring altogether at the start of the fourth quarter as they went four and one half minutes without a field goal and the Rockets took good advantage of it and moved to a 47-40 lead Anderson got a two-pointer with 3:30 to go in the game to move the Trojans to within five, and the Rockets began a stall. They had advantage of the one-and-one free throw situation and the strategy seemed to be to run out the clock and wait for Triopia to foul. Routt lost the ball and Kent Hansmeier again got three points via a field goal and a technical foul and Routt led by only two, 47-45. In the next two minutes the game progressed into a rough and tumble affair and Routt missed three straight charity tosses, but Triopia could not take advantage. With a minute and fifteen seconds to go Carroll popped in a 10 footer which was almost the clinching bucket. Jack Lawless added a free throw and a basket and Routt had a five point advantage and the win with only seconds left in the contest, which threatened to get out of hand under both baskets. Anderson and Davis each scored a field goal but they were to no avail as time was in favor of Coach Bob Winstead's Rockets.

Winstead didn't substitute a man in the 32 minute contest and the fivesome of Curtis, Carroll, Lawless, Sullivan and Cors did a yeoman's job in the closely contested game. Curtis led all scorers with 17 points and Carroll added 15. Kent Hansmeier collected 15 for Coach Leighton Peterson's Trojans and Earl Dufelmeier got 11. Routt is now 11-4 for the year and Triopia is 10-2.

Routt was outscored from the field 20-17, but added 18 free throws to the losers 9 for the victory. In the percentages department, Routt hit 17 of 34 field goal attempts for a red hot 50% while Triopia was forced to settle for 20 of 59 and 33%.

The Rockets also captured the preliminary contest 27-11 in a low scoring dual.

Elect Finley Prexy, Chairman Of Directors

CHICAGO (AP) — New majority stockholder Charles O. Finley Friday was elected president and chairman of the board of directors of the Kansas City Athletics at an organizational meeting.

The meeting was called subsequent to Finley's purchase last Friday of 52 per cent of A's stock owned by the late Arnold Johnson of Chicago.

Three holdover directors, representing the minority 48 per cent stockholders, were re - elected. They are Patrick Lannon, Nathaniel Leverone and Earl Johnson, all of Chicago.

Finley, as majority stockholder, gained four seats on the board of directors. Others named to the board were P. Patrick Friday, Fred Finley, brother of the president; and Thomas E. Keane, all of the Chicago area.

Friday and Fred Finley were named vice presidents and Keane general counsel and club secretary.

Another election was that of Frank C. Lane as executive vice president and general manager. Two weeks ago, Finley hired Lane from the Cleveland Indians for whom the much-traveled baseball executive had been general manager.

American Grid Loop Paves Way For Expansion

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The American Football League Friday paved the way for a 1962 expansion program.

After rejecting any idea of adding new teams this year, the eight club presidents approved a by-laws change to make expansion easier. Votes by only six clubs now are needed for expansion. Until Friday the by-laws had required unanimous consent.

Any 1962 additions to the year-old league would be made before next December.

"It was agreed that if we do expand we would do so before the next draft," said Commissioner Joe Foss. "We have one formal and three informal applications on hand. The club owners instructed their expansion committee to investigate the applications with an eye toward 1962."

Foss declined to identify the applicants and the cities involved. He had said Thursday night, however, the one formal application involved a request for a franchise in any one of three cities.

Dates for the 1961 draft have not been set but Foss indicated the AFL hopes again to get a jump on the National Football League. Last year the AFL began a telephone draft in late November and began its formal draft Dec. 6. The NFL did not start its draft until Dec. 27.

Foss confirmed reports he conferred in Pittsburgh earlier this week with NCAA representatives on NCAA's request the AFL hold its annual draft as late as possible.

"I understand similar discussions also have been held with the NFL," he said. "I had very sincere discussions with the NCAA group. We did not come to any agreement. We did not set a date for further discussions but it was agreed a committee from the coaches association also would participate in the next meeting."

Machines May Displace the Migrants As Automation Comes to Harvest Time

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Automation may be on the verge of plowing under another big chunk of man-power—the American migrant farm worker.

According to scientists at the Davis experiment station, one of the three biggest in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, most major crops can and will be harvested automatically in the immediate future.

Bugs have already been worked out of machines capable of remarkably complicated farm tasks.

Even nature is being redesigned by the agriculturists. Pods, vines, roots and berries are being rebuilt in keeping with modern mechanics.

It's not only wonderful, the scientists say. It's so economical that 100,000 grape pickers in California may no longer be needed.

• • •

Picking tomatoes, a harvest requiring constant vigilance over a number of days while the crop ripens, has been simplified in the laboratory. A new tomato recently developed ripens everywhere on the vine at exactly the same time.

At the proper time, a shake of the vine and the crop has been harvested. This year five on-the-farm automatic tomato pickers were at work. Next year the number will be 50.

New experiments with automated peaches are working wonderfully well, Davis scientists report. The system: uniformly ripening peaches and several banks of canvas blankets plus a machine to pilt the tree at the moment of moturity. The peaches fall from one canvas blanket to another, slowing down to drop gently into waiting baskets.

Sugar beet harvesting used to require several stages. The first, early in the season, was to prune alternate beets out of the ground, leaving more room for bigger growth of those that remained.

Today, an electric eye finds the beets to be weeded. Automatic knives follow electronic instructions. And later in the season, the machine purrs along and finishes the job.

Best of all is the new grape harvester. According to Dr. Maynard Amerine, chief of the Davis department:

"I've been trying to find out for 25 years how a grape gets ripe. Meanwhile, harvesting costs have gone up from $10 to nearly $50 a ton. At the same time, vineyard land has increased in value as cities and industries have spread. With labor cost and taxes rising steadily, many farmers have gone out of business."

Now grapes have been educated to hang down from a predetermined height. At harvest time, one man in a small vehicle drives through the vineyard, forcing a knife through the grape stems. On varieties where stems were too short, the grape has been grafted onto longer-stemmed vines.

If Amerine's calculations are correct, a quarter of an automated crop can be lost in the harvest and the profits still will be higher than they were with laborers doing the job.

The step to other crops—cucumbers, oranges, cabbage, potatoes, you name it—is just ahead.

Now, what about those farm hands put out of work? Well, it's not a problem for the Department of Agriculture anyway.

"But who wants to go out and pick cotton and carry it around," one man said. "It's miserable back-breaking work. There are a lot of better jobs."

He did not say what they were or where.

EXPERIMENTAL GRAPE HARVESTER IN ACTION: The vines are rebuilt, too.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

Nowadays, "say it with flowers" means that giving a gal posies of any kind is a sign of undying affection. But back in Queen Victoria's time bandying blossoms wasn't so simple. In those days, particular flowers meant particular things. According to one expert, for instance, sending a gal a bunch of peonies meant the guy was blooming mad at her, and for good reason. An unlucky lover who was color-blind might intend sending a gal a red rose meaning "I love you," and send instead a yellow rose which was the same as accusing her of being untrue. A red tulip meant love also, but a chrysanthemum meant "Let's just be friends." These days, a flower is a flower, and none is any more dangerous to give than any other. But in Victorian times a fella had to watch his step . . . or maybe get the pot he sent the wrong flowers in busted right over his head!

Junior Club At Chandlerville To Fete Patients

CHANDLERVILLE—The Chandlerville Junior Woman's Club met on Friday evening, Jan. 6, in the Legion Hall. The president, Mrs. Richard Pratt, called the meeting to order by repeating the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The president gave a report on the five Christmas baskets the club gave needy families the day before Christmas.

The club will hold a ward party at the Jacksonville State Hospital in April. The date will be announced later.

Mrs. Pratt gave a report on the District Board meeting. A school of instruction was held for the community project chairman.

Mrs. Glen Gabehart, ways and means chairman, reported on the Christmas doll won by Mrs. Denzil Elmore of Chandlerville.

Mrs. Pratt introduced the program for the evening, a jewelry display and sale.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Delbert Brooks, Mrs. Samuel Dyson and Mrs. Laverne Lane.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gazelle of Eureka are the parents of a son, Gregory Lee, born Jan. 10. She is the former Jean Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hampton, Chandlerville.

Show your merchandise in its best light
Mr. Merchant! When people come to your store, the better they can see, the better they will buy. Scientific modern lighting—bright, dramatic, but glare-free and comfortable—is the merchant's most important single sales tool. Helps store employes do a day's work for a day's pay, too. Want to boost business? This is a good time to talk about better lighting with your electrical contractor.

GIRL LEARNS EARLY

DENVER (AP)—A Denver father was disturbed to learn, in a meeting of parents with the kindergarten teacher, that his 5-year-old daughter was the only one in class who didn't know how to tie her shoelaces.

When he asked her about this, she said: "I don't tie my own shoes at school because the little boys tie them for me."

When the birthday of Benjamin Franklin rolls around each year, we are reminded that this famed apostle of thrift had many wise adages that applied to savings. These adages strangely enough still point up the advantages of saving. Take for example "a penny saved is a penny earned" —

Today when you save at Jacksonville Savings & Loan, your money earns — it actually works for you — earning 3½% or 4% interest paid each June 30th and December 31st. Your savings are fully insured.

3½% is earned on all savings in optional accounts

4% is earned on all prepaid shares

XXX

He saw Stella late in the afternoon when she came out in the yard. She was dressed to kill, and smelled of fancy perfume like a skunk upwind in a narrow creek bottom on a warm day—except she smelled good.

He wandered over slowly, so as not to be noticed. "You look nice," he said.

Her red lips curved. "I'm thinking about tomorrow."

He had been trying to reconcile himself to the idea without success.

Her eyes narrowed. "You and I will be better for each other than you and Catherine Lewis."

He said, "One thing that bothers me is that you will cut my throat the minute somebody else comes along—and I'm a man who doesn't look good in a cut throat."

She said with scorn, "You're afraid of me."

"Maybe I am." And maybe he was—but not in the way she was thinking.

"You're having me watched," she said.

"I thought it might save you some trouble—and us a lot of trouble."

"Who do you mean by 'us'?"

"Your dad and me."

"Dad!" she said scornfully. "A hopeless old—" For a moment she had trouble finding a word to express her contempt without exhibiting shocking irreverence.

"—thumb-twiddler." She added, "That's the kindest thing I could ever say about him."

He looked at her steadily. "Your dad built himself a pretty good ranch out here."

"Sitting at a desk, signing checks, giving orders. He doesn't get out there and do the hard work."

"Maybe he doesn't have to. Maybe he can't."

"Of course he can't. He had a bad case of heart disease."

"I didn't know that."

He watched her go toward the barn. He didn't think she would ride in her ordinary clothes, but he would not have bet on it. Apparently his doubt was shared by the young fellow assigned to watch her, for he got up from his whittling and went into the barn.

Stella was a strange one. She had contempt for a great many things, even for her father and the money he had made, which would all be hers. She was a restless woman. Whatever the status quo happened to be at any given moment, that was what she did not like and could not endure. It was the wrong attitude for the Panhandle, where you played whatever hand was dealt you, and tried to make it stick.

If you couldn't play it, you moved on.

• • •

They began to arrive at three o'clock in the morning, when 16 men from the Slash K rode up, all armed with six-shooters, rifles, and knives, and announced grimly that they were ready for action.

Harding roused the cook, and he built a fire in the range and put on a big pot of coffee.

The cook was an old, grizzled man with hands that must have given him pain, for the joints were swollen and caused difficulty in his movements. "You're takin' me, Colonel?" he asked with a drawl.

"I'm certainly not taking you," said Harding. "You were too old to fight the War of 1812."

The cook turned from the coffee grinder and dumped a trayful of coffee into the pot. "Fever's gittin' into my blood, Colonel. I was raised on tobacco juice and powder smoke."

"So were we all."

The Slash K men, commanded by a tall, clean-shaved young fellow who talked with a West Texas twang, settled down to smoking and low-voiced talk, filling the big Harding kitchen comfortably without getting in Smitty's way.

Harding came back from the barn. "I want every man to be sure about one thing," said Harding. "Absolutely no shells under the triggers. We want no accidental shot going off to start a slaughter."

• • •

Hector Johnson appeared in the doorway and looked wildly for Harding, saw him, and beckoned. Harding got up, nodded to Bart, and went outside past the man in the doorway. Bart followed him, and they met Johnson around the corner.

Johnson glared at Bart and said, "This is private business, Colonel."

Harding, unperturbed, said, "This is no time for private business. Anyway, Wagner knows all about this. Spill it out."

Bart could see Johnson's face in the yellow light from the kitchen window. He looked at Bart and frowned, then addressed Harding. "Stella just left the ranch, Colonel."

Harding was instantly alert. "I told Beans to keep an eye on her."

"He went to sleep, Colonel."

"How do you know she's gone for sure?"

"The chestnut isn't in its stall."

DOG WRECKS MAN

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP)—Leonard Griewank's dog got him into trouble but saved him from a drunk driving charge.

Griewank was charged with driving while intoxicated after his car crashed into a utility pole.

HELPFUL ARREST

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)— A helping hand turned into the long arm of the law for one Toledo motorist.

Police Sgt. Robert Loutz saw the motorist pushing a stalled car to the curb and offered assistance. Then he noticed the license plate was that of a car stolen a few minutes earlier. The young man who had been pushing the vehicle was charged with auto theft.

More than one-third of the male doctors in America earn more than $20,000 a year, according to a recent survey.
